1. The first step is to identify the main components of the system. This includes the input, the processing unit, and the output.

2. The second step is to determine the flow of data between these components. This is typically represented by arrows indicating the direction of data flow.

3. The third step is to define the data structures used in the system. This includes the format of the input data, the internal data structures, and the format of the output data.

4. The fourth step is to describe the algorithms or processes that the system uses to transform the input data into the output data.

5. The fifth step is to evaluate the system's performance. This involves measuring the system's response time, accuracy, and other relevant metrics.

6. The sixth step is to document the system. This includes creating a detailed description of the system's components, data flow, and algorithms.

7. The seventh step is to implement the system. This involves writing the code that implements the algorithms and integrating the system with the hardware and other software components.

8. The eighth step is to test the system. This involves running the system with various inputs and verifying that it produces the expected outputs.

9. The ninth step is to deploy the system. This involves installing the system on the target hardware and making it available to the users.

10. The tenth step is to maintain the system. This involves monitoring the system's performance and making any necessary updates or repairs.

AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held over the golf course of the Ekwanok Golf Club, Manchester, Vt.,
September 5.

All the golfing stars of the country were gathered at Ekwanok for the Twentieth Amateur Golf Championship of the United States last year, and it was the belief among those who knew that the winner would have to be a topnotcher to go through such a classy field. W. C. Fownes started the ball a-rolling on the first day with a record-breaking 70, gathered by sterling golf—just paving the way for what the dopesters had said. His second round on the day following was four shots worse, but sufficient for him to lead the field in company with R. R. Gorton of Brae Burn, who had compiled a couple of 72's (on the play-off Fownes won rather handily, 77 against 83). Just a stroke behind came Francis Ouimet, who had shown considerable steadiness with 145, while the redoubtable "Chick" was off behind some six strokes worse with 151. He never got into his stride, for in his first match, which unfortunately was at 18 holes, he succumbed to that sterling golfer, Eben Byers, on the last hole. Ouimet's steadiness never forsook him and he ultimately proved the winner over Jerry Travers by 6 and 5. His stiffest match was with the medalist W. C. Fownes, Jr., whom he defeated by only 1 up. It looked as if Fownes was to be the victor at one time, notably at the sixteenth hole on the last round, but, nothing daunted, Ouimet, who though 1 and 2 went after his man full tilt and, getting the last two holes in fours to his opponent's fives finished 1 up. Summary:

Qualifiers—W. C. Fownes, Jr., Oakmont, 70, 74—144; R. R. Gorton, Brae Burn, 72, 72—144; Francis Ouimet, Woodland, 73, 72—145; F. Herreshoff, Ekwanok, 73, 71—147; D. C. ## WOMEN'S NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held on the course of the Nassau Country Club, Glen Cove, L. I.,
September 19 to 24.

A field of 91 starters teed off for the major event of the year, and the class of golf played was evidenced from the fact that the highest qualifying score to gain the coveted 32 was 96, while in previous years over 100 was always sure of a place. The medallist was Miss Georgianna Bishop of Brooklawn, who handed in a score of 85, a splendid performance. The titleholder was a couple of strokes behind with 87. The other semi-finalist, Miss Elaine V. Rosenthal of Ravisloe, just managed to squeeze in, as there were no less than four tied for the last three places. The result of the tie was that Mrs. F. B. Ryan of Cranford had to drop out. The fortunate qualifiers were:

Miss Georgianna M. Bishop, Brooklawn, 46, 39—85; Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson, Oakley, 44, 43—87; Miss M. A. Irving, Richmond County, 46, 42—88; Miss Lillian B. Hyde, South Shore, 44, 44—88; Mrs. Ronald H. Hyde and her brother, James R. Hyde, with a 78, Mrs. H. F. Whitney and Archie M. Reid being next with a 79.

NATIONAL OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Midlothian Country Club, Midlothian, Ill., August 18 to 25.

As Ebert B. Dunsworth wrote, "America first" was the slogan at the finish of the National Open Championship at Midlothian when Walter Hagen, a 22-year-old Rochester product, finished first in a remarkably classy field of English, Scotch and Irish pros, supplemented by a number of the crack amateurs of the country.

Hagen won the title in a memorable race with Charles Evans, Jr., the Chicago amateur record-smasher. "Chick" was eight strokes behind his eastern rival at the start of the final round. He shot a 71 in the morning and cut Hagen's lead to four strokes, the Rochester star taking 75. In the afternoon Evans went out in 35, while Hagen needed 38, and only one stroke stood between the title contenders.

Coming home a gallery of 1,500 people, including many of the noted players who had finished their rounds, swept along with first one player and then the other, as they were but two holes apart. They cheered and gasped by turns as first Hagen and then Evans caught up a stroke.

"Chick" never succeeded in heading the boy from Rochester. Hagen held a two-stroke advantage at the twelfth. It was "Chick's" play on this green that cost him the chance to tie or even win the championship. His pitch was forty-five feet below the flag on the tricky ribbed green. He ran the long approach putt up four feet short and then lipped the cup, taking four.

Hagen clinched the national crown at the home green by getting an amazing three. He pulled his drive badly into the long grass below the ninth green. This shot alone would have broken the nerve of a veteran in so close a race. But Walter made a wonderful pitch onto the sloping green. He was then confronted by an eight-foot putt. He walked over, got the line in one glance, and sent it down.

Evans on coming to the eighteenth hole of the last round had a two to tie, but as it is something like 280 yards, it seemed like calling for the impossible. However, "Chick" was game and he gave the ball the chance. His drive dropped short, but had plenty of spin and ran onto the lower edge of the inclined green. He was thirty-five feet below the cup and knew that the next shot was to be decisive. "It looks a long way off," Evans said partly to himself and partly to the great crowd massed tightly around the green. He got the line carefully, chose a half mashie and ran the ball up exactly even with the hole, but eight inches to the left, thus ending his chances for another year.

Besides receiving the great silver United States Golf Association open championship cup, Hagen won a gold medal emblematic of the title and was presented with a check for $300 by President Robert C. Watson. As runner-up Evans obtained a silver cup valued at $150. Third and fourth money was divided by the two former national champions, George Sargent, the Chevy Chase "pro," and Freddie McLeod of the Columbia Golf Club, Washington, D. C. Strange to say, they finished in a tie at 151 on the first day, and ran a dead heat the next day as well, getting 146 for totals of 297. They divided $180.

Francis Ouimet, the only amateur who ever won the open title, was clustered with Jim Donaldson, the husky driver of Glen View, and "Mike" Brady of Wollaston, at 298, for fifth, sixth and seventh places. Checks for $60 went to Donaldson and Brady, while Ouimet got the equivalent in plate. Louis Tellier, the diminutive Frenchman, was eighth with 299, getting $40, while Jack McDermott, western open champion, and Arthur Smith of Columbus split the ninth and tenth purses with scores of 300. They each received $25.

Final scores of the players who completed the 72-hole championship round follow:

U. S. G. A. Handicap List

For the second year in succession Francis Ouimet and Jerome D. Travers share the honor of being rated at scratch on the national handicap list. The present amateur champion and the four-times holder of the title are bracketed together on the scratch mark at the top of the 1915 list. Third on the list, rated at 1, is Charles Evans, Jr., and he, too, retains the position that he held last year. In fact there are few changes on the list until the fourth division is reached. The two Pittsburgh golfers, E. M. Byers and W. C. Fownes, Jr., have been promoted from 3 to 2, and share the latter mark with Walter J. Travis and Warren K. Wood, who were 2 men a year ago, with John G. Anderson as their sole companion. Anderson has been set back to the 3 mark.

There are twelve golfers rated at 3, nine of whom were there last year, the newcomers being Anderson from the 2 mark and E. P. Allis, 3d, and J. B. Schlotman from the 4 division. The 3 men are E. P. Allis, 3d, J. G. Anderson, B. Warren Corkran, H. Chandler Egan, Robert A. Gardner, R. R. Gorton, Oswald Kirkby, Fred Herreshoff, Mason Phelps, J. B. Schlotman, Albert Seckel and Parker W. Whittemore.

An even fifty golfers receive ratings of 4 and the 5 division on the new list contains 202 names. The entire list includes the names of 271 golfers, and under the by-laws of the United States Golf Association they alone are eligible to play in the national championship at Detroit in September. The usual provision is made, however, for adding to the list up to August 1 the names of golfers who prove their right to be rated in the manner prescribed by the U. S. G. A.

The 1914 list when first issued contained 227 names and about thirty were added during the summer, so if the increase is about the same this year there will be about 300 eligibles for the national title by the time the golfers gather at Detroit.

AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Oswald Kirkby, a former New Jersey title holder, at last succeeded in winning the highest honors of the Metropolitan Association by defeating Walter J. Travis in the finals by 3 and 1. The entry was a record one, 131 players teeing off at the Englewood Country Club's course. W. J. Travis had the low qualifying score, 148, while Kirkby was second with 150. The course, which is 6,205 yards in length, was in good shape, and the win was the result of long driving and excellent putting. Although Travers and Herreshoff were absentees, the interest was well maintained, and the consensus of opinion was that the victory was no fluke. Summary of the play:

WALTER J. TRAVIS.

Qualifying scores—W. J. Travis, Garden City, 148; Oswald Kirkby, Englewood, 150; Dwight Partridge, Bedford, 150; C. E. Van Vleck, Jr., Baltusrol, 153; M. R. Marston, Baltusrol, 155; W. F. The handicap event was won by Arden M. Robbins, Garden City, with 80—7, 73; gross score prize going to Gilman P. Tiffany, Powelton, with 78.

METROPOLITAN GOLF ASSOCIATION HANDICAP LIST.

Jerome D. Travers keeps his place at scratch despite the fact that he is no longer the Metropolitan champion, and, as was the case last year, no one is placed on the 1 mark. Oswald Kirkby, holder of the Metropolitan title, and Walter J. Travis, who was runner-up to Kirkby at Englewood last May, are together at 2. Fred Herreshoff, who was with them last year, being among the 3 men on the new list. With Herreshoff at 3 are E. M. Byers and W. K. Whigham, who occupied the same position a year ago. Fifteen golfers have been rated at 4, a decrease of one, although there have been a number of changes in the little group. The new list contains only golfers considered worthy of handicaps of 9 or less, and contains 559 names, an increase of eighteen over last year.

WOMEN'S METROPOLITAN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

For the third time in the history of this association Miss Lillian B. Hyde demonstrated her superiority by winning the championship from Miss Georgianna Bishop of Brooklawn by the large margin of 9 and 7.

Miss Bishop's defeat was an overwhelming one, and, as she has been champion herself on two previous occasions, to say the least it was an unexpectedly bad one. She was completely off her game, while the champion put up one of the best games ever played by a woman in a similar event in this country. Miss Hyde's victories were all easy ones and it would appear as if her path to the blue ribbon event of the year—the National Championship—is hers for the taking. Summary:

METROPOLITAN OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Macdonald Smith of Oakmont, a younger brother of the 1913 title-holder, Alec Smith of Wykagyl, won the Metropolitan Open Championship title by finishing four rounds with a record total of 278.

As a curtain raiser for the championship, which was played over the links of the Scarsdale Golf and Country Club, a four-ball competition was run off, the professionals having amateurs as partners. The outstanding feature of the play was the fact that the youthful amateur, Frank W. Dyer of Montclair, produced the best score, going around in 67. Dyer and his professional partner, Tom Anderson, also of Montclair, had a best ball of 63, and led the field of forty-seven pairs. This was three strokes better than the combined efforts of E. A. Clapp, the club champion at Upper Montclair, and Joe Mitchell, the club's professional. Summary:

Frank W. Dyer and Tom Anderson, 63; E. A. Clapp and Joe Mitchell, 66; T. V. Birmingham and Alec Smith, 67; Reginald M. Lewis and Macdonald Smith, 68; Eben M. Byers and Jack Hutchinson, 68; Oswald Kirkby and Jack Hobens, 68; Lee W. Maxwell and Jack Dowling, 68; D. P. Healey and W. Macfarlane, 69; Charles E. Van Vleck, Jr., and Fred McLeod, 69; C. Walker and T. F. Wettstein, 69; L. M. Watts and James R. Thompson, 70; L. F. Denning and James M. Barnes, 70; Robert Andrew and C. L. Barlow, 71; Fred Kerr and C. H. Anderson, 71; Herbert Wolff and Herbert Strong, 71; C. G. Comstock, Jr., and Daniel S. Mackie, 71; Gardiner W. White and Elmer W. Loving, 72; Dwight Partridge and W. E. Stoddart, 72; F. D. Brengel and Harry Cowie, 72; W. Roy Barnhill and Isaac Mackie, 72; James D. Foot and Charles H. Hoffman, 72; C. W. Singleton and H. L. Phillips, 73; F. A. Soldwedel and Louis Tellier, 73; H. D. Hawkes and George Sargent, 73; A. B. Grafius and George Low, 73; L. Kebler and Bayard Beebe, 74; Dr. A. W. Haight and Thomas L. McNamara, 74; M. B. Starring, Jr., and Leonard Biles, 74; Frederick K. Flaugh and Dave Honeyman, 74; G. Schepmoes and Nick Demane, 74; J. H. Buckbee, Jr., and Joe Sylvester, 75; M. R. Moore and James Fraser, 75; T. R. Brown and Robert M. Thompson, 75; J. A. Moore and J. F. Donato, 75; J. D. Chapman and Joe Doeberl, 75; Walter F. Purcell and Hugh Clasby, 75; C. L. Maxwell and James Ferguson, 76; G. B. Carhart and Frank Doeberl, 76; Howard F. Whitney and James Maiden, 76; F. R. Hill and Jack Jolly, 77; John Bredemus and Fred Cook, 77; E. V. Fowler and L. M. Macdonald, 78; S. Clifton Mabon and Frank Bellwood, 78; G. Van Vleck and G. Saling, 81.

The weather was ideal and the course in wonderful condition. Golf that was little short of wonderful gave Macdonald Smith the lead at the end of the first day's play with a total of 137.

In 1911 Gil Nicholls of Wilmington had a total of 281 for seventy-two holes in the same championship at Englewood, a score made largely through the fact that he had a 66 on the last round. His total for the last thirty-six holes was 137. Harry Yardon during the German Open Championship in 1911 is credited with 279 over a German course well under 6,000 yards. The Scarsdale course measures 6,050 yards. J. H. Taylor and Ed Ray equaled his record the year following.

Jack Hutchinson of Allegheny came within a stroke of Macdonald Smith, getting two 69's, while four were tied for third place with 145: Jack Dowling of Scarsdale; William Macfarlane, Baltimore; Robert Andrew, New Haven, and Jack Hobens, Englewood.

Oswald Kirkby, the Metropolitan and New Jersey amateur title-holder, led the amateurs with 73, 75—148.

When the third round began Smith and Jack Hutchinson of Allegheny, with scores of 137 and 138 for the first day, were practically the only ones with a chance for the title, for 145 was the nearest score to theirs. Smith removed the last vestige of doubt as to the identity of the new champion when he came in with his 68, just at the time that word came in from the links that Hutchinson was going at no such fast clip as his rival. A few minutes later the Allegheny man turned up with a 73, and was six strokes behind. A little hard luck in putting and a topped shot into a brook on the sixth kept Smith's score from being even lower. The scores at the end of the third round were: Smith, 205; Hutchinson, 211.

1, Fred Low, Worcester (Mass.) Golf Club; 2, Dave Honeyman, Forest Hill Field Club, Belleville, N. J.; 3, Tom Anderson, Montclair Golf Club, Verona, N. J.

1, William Skelly, Camden, S. C.; 2, James McKenzie, Capital City Club, Atlanta, Ga.; 3, William Mann, Druid Hills Golf Club, Atlanta, Ga.

Only the worst sort of play in the afternoon could have kept Smith from winning, and although he did seem to let up a bit he finished with a good 73. At both the eleventh and twelfth holes he was out of bounds. Hutchinson dropped still further back, as he could do no better than 77, and Macfarlane, who had made a 72 in the morning and a 70 in the afternoon, slipped into second place by one stroke. Smith's morning score follows:

Ont.....	5	3	3	3	3	4	4	4	4	—33
In.....	3	4	4	4	4	3	5	4	—35	—68

Of the eight golfers who led at the end of the first day's play seven finished in the money, although there were several shifts in the order. The newcomer to the group of leaders was James Maiden of Nassau. A 69 made in the afternoon put him in select company. It not only gave him a tie with Jack Dowling for fourth place, but won for him the prize for the lowest afternoon score and enabled him to share with Macdonald Smith the prize for the lowest thirty-six hole total for the day.

Smith had only one 6 on his card, that being at the first hole of the first round, when he pulled his tee shot and had difficulty with some trees. The sixteenth hole, par for which is 5, was negotiated by this brilliant young golfer in 3 on three of the four rounds. With a little luck on his fourth attempt for a 3 there he would have had another. As it was he rimmed the cup for it. The scores follow:

JUNIOR METROPOLITAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

In the qualifying round of the third annual Junior Metropolitan championship at the Plainfield, N. J., Country Club Philip V. G. Carter, last year's champion, won the honors with a very fine score of 38, 39—77. Howard W. Maxwell, Nassau, came next with 41, 39—80.

Young Carter retained his title, defeating in the final Vincent Hilton, Hackensack, by the large margin of 8 and 6, 18 holes.

The second eight was won by A. L. Pierson, Jr., Montclair, who defeated Richard Stevens, St. Andrews, in the final by 2 and 1.

The handicap event was won by A. B. Willoughby, Westfield, with 90—23, 67. John Potter, New Brunswick, was second with 97—27, 70.

The putting and approaching competition was won by Leonard S. Church, Plainfield.

WOOLEN GOLF ASSOCIATION OF NEW YORK.

President, Richard A. Strong; vice-president, George O. Leavitt; treasurer, Roger N. Arms; secretary, Frederic J. Minor.

The annual tournament was held October 16, 1914, at the Wykagyl Country Club, New Rochelle, N. Y., and the first prize was won by W. J. Conover with a low gross score of 93. In Class A he had a handicap of 6. This was the low gross score for the field.

Class A—up to 13 strokes—was won by H. R. Stockton; gross 95, handicap 9, net 86. Runner-up was E. Valentine, gross 98, handicap 8, net 90.

Class B—13 to 25 strokes—was won by E. M. Stout, gross 106, handicap 20, net 86. Runner-up was M. Underhill, gross 111, handicap 25, net 86. This being a tie, E. M. Stout won the prize by a toss of a coin.

Class C—over 25 strokes—was won by H. Howard, gross 112, handicap 26, net 86. Runner-up was D. E. Battey, gross 130, handicap 40, net 90.

This tournament was played in a driving rain, which seriously affected the scores; nevertheless, we had fifty players who completed the 18 holes.

LESLEY CUP COMPETITION.

This competition, which excites a good deal of interest always, was played at the Baltusrol Golf Club course on September 25 and 26. On Friday the Metropolitan team played against Pennsylvania. The morning round of four-somes resulted in the former winning three of the five matches. In the afternoon in the singles New York won again by 6 to 4. Summary:

WOMEN'S GOLF ASSOCIATION OF BOSTON.

Championship tournament held at the Woodland Golf Club.

As on several occasions before, Miss Margaret Curtis won the championship title of the Women's Golf Association of Boston, defeating in the final at the Woodland Golf Club Miss Fanny C. Osgood by 2 up. Miss Curtis played a fine game and her card of 89 made a new record for women. She finished in a spectacular manner, sinking a mashie shot from about 40 yards on the home hole for a two, after an 8 at the previous hole.

THE GRISCOM CUP.

The team representing the Women's Golf Association of Philadelphia won the Griscom Cup, which was played for at the Greenwich Country Club just after the Women's Eastern Golf Association championship event. The Philadelphians defeated the Boston team in the singles by 9 points to 6. In the foursomes there was a tie, each team registering 3 points, the grand total being, Philadelphia 12, Boston 9.

New York defeated Boston in the singles by 8 points to 7, the four ball matches resulting in a tie at 3 points each.

In the final match Philadelphia defeated New York in the singles by 9 points to 6, there being a third tie in the four ball matches at 3 points each.

Charles E. Van Vleck, Jr., of Baltusrol won the low qualifying medal in the fight for premier golfing honors in the state with a fine card of 75. Five strokes behind came Max Behr of the home club, with W. E. Shackelford of Atlantic City and Oswald Kirkby, the Metropolitan champion. Van Vleck did not long survive, however, for Maurice E. Risley of Atlantic City took his measure in the second round by 4 and 2. In the finals Risley and Kirkby met. The match was at 36 holes and Kirkby, keeping up his game, defeated Risley by 4 and 2. This is the second time that Kirkby has won the state championship.

The beaten eight of the championship division was won by E. M. Wild, Cranford, who defeated Max H. Behr, Morris County, by 3 and 2.

In the second sixteen division Percy R. Pyne, 2d, defeated A. W. Maine, Jr., Hackensack, in the final by 4 and 3.

The beaten eight of the second sixteen was won by F. B. Richardson, Morris County, who defeated E. M. Barnes, Englewood, by 2 and 1.

The finals in these events were at 36 holes. The finals in the other divisions were at 18 holes. Third Sixteen—Dr. D. W. Granberry, Baltusrol, defeated W. E. Moore, Canoe Brook, 1 up (19 holes).

Beaten Eight—Third Sixteen—A. E. Taylor, Essex County, defeated H. R. Townsend, Baltusrol, 1 up (19 holes).

Fourth Sixteen—E. Shippen, Morris County, defeated E. Adams, Essex County, 4 and 3.

Beaten Eight—Fourth Sixteen—R. B. Graham, Morris County, defeated E. F. Keer, Baltusrol, 1 up.

In the handicap event W. D. Vanderpool, Morris County, was the winner of both the gross and net score prizes with 77—6, 71. He, however, took the prize for the best gross score, there being a tie for the handicap between L. Whitney, Morris County, with 90—18, 72, and F. W. Baldwin, Glen Ridge, with 81—9, 72.

In the team match, played in connection with the qualifying round, the home club won, scores being: Max Behr, 80; A. D. Swords, 82; W. P. Letchfield, 82, and W. D. Vanderpool, 83, a total of 327. Baltusrol came next, with a total of 335. Atlantic City was third, with 346, and Essex County fourth, with 383.

Semi-final round—Mrs. Barlow d. Mrs. Price, 3 and 2; Miss Harvey d. Mrs. West, 3 and 2.

Final round—Miss Harvey d. Mrs. Barlow, 1 up.

Second Eight, final—Miss Agnes Blanche, Montclair, d. Mrs. J. G. Ridout, Lambton, 2 and 1.

Third Eight, final—Mrs. A. A. Uebelacker, Hackensack, d. Miss Dorothy Ballantyne, Detroit, 1 up.

Fourth Eight, final—Miss P. Beall, Uniontown, d. Mrs. C. S. Watahouse, Hackensack, 2 up.

In the amateur-professional event, which preceded the North and South open championship, the winners were Mr. P. W. Whittemore, Brookline, and Walter Hagen, Rochester Country Club, with 72, 68—140. There was a tie for second place between Mr. W. H. Faust, Buffalo, and Tom McNamara, Boston, with 73, 68—141, and Mr. Chisholm Beach, Fox Hills, and Gilbert Nicholls, Wilmington, with 73, 68—141. The event was played on the No. 2 course. Following are details of the leading scores:

In the open championship Gilbert Nicholls, Wilmington, was the winner, with 73, 72—145, one stroke less than the winning score returned by Tom McNamara last year. J. J. McDermott, Atlantic City, was second with 75, 72—147. McDermott's score of 72 on the second day was the more remarkable by reason of the fact that he took 8 on the first hole, due to a topped tee-shot and subsequent bunker troubles. He offset this, however, in a large measure, by a magnificent 31 on the inward journey, making his total just two strokes outside of Nicholls'. Following is Nicholls' card:

Morning:

Out.....	5	4	4	4	4	3	7	2	4—37

Afternoon:

Out.....	4	5	5	3	4	3	5	3	4—36

The North and South championship, which was played on the No. 2 course on March 30-April 4, inclusive, witnessed a very fine field both in point of quality and numbers, there being no less than 166 starters. The medalist was young F. K. Robeson, Pawling School, who, however, withdrew from the match play rounds with 77, 80—157. Next came Mr. Walter J. Travis, Garden City, with 77, 81—158, followed by Mr. Reginald S. Worthington, Shawnee, with 78, 82—160. Cards:

In.....	5	4	5	5	5	3	6	4	5—42—82—160

The first round at match play was marked by a couple of surprises in the defeat of Mr. Harold Weber, Toledo, by Mr. C. L. Becker, Woodland, by two holes, and also the elimination of Mr. Walter J. Travis, Garden City, by one hole at the hands of Mr. C. T. Dunham, Mecklenburg. Mr. Travis also, by the way, was defeated in the consolation by Mr. J. M. Thompson, Springhaven, by 2 and 1. The chief event narrowed down quite as anticipated to Mr. Reginald Worthington and Mr. Paul E. Gardner, Onwentsia, the former winning the thirty-six holes final by 6 and 5. Mr. Gardner had a lead of four holes at the tenth in the morning round, but Mr. Worthington wiped off this deficit and they retired to luncheon all square. In the afternoon Mr. Worthington got going and had no difficulty at all in winning, Mr. Gardner being quite off on his approach work.

MASSACHUSETTS AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Brae Burn Country Club.

It was Francis Ouimet all the way last year in the try for premier honors. Leading the field as medalist, he really had only one stiff match, which was with the former intercollegiate champion, W. C. Chick, of the home club, in the second round, when he only defeated him 1 up. Summary:

Qualifying scores—Francis Ouimet, Woodland, 77; R. R. Gorton, Brae Burn, 80; V. S. Lawrence, Woodland, 82; W. C. Chick, Brae Burn, 82; R. C. Lehane, Commonwealth, 82; P. W. The Massachusetts State golf team, without the services of one or two of its strongest units, managed to "sneak" through its annual match with the Rhode Island team, played at the Brae Burn Country Club, West Newton, Mass., September 19. Of the fifteen points possible, ten at singles and five at foursomes, Massachusetts won fourteen. Summary:

PHILADELPHIA GOLF ASSOCIATION.

Pater et Filius Tourney.

On September 5 the annual Pater et Filius Tournament of the Golf Association of Philadelphia was played over the course of the Philmont Country Club, and an unusually large entry resulted. C. B. Webster, paired with his son, G. S. Webster of Frankford, won the trophy. It is worthy of note that last year Webster, playing with his eldest son, C. B. Webster, Jr., captain of the University of Pennsylvania golf team, carried off the honors. The scores follow:

WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP OF PHILADELPHIA.

For the third time Mrs. R. H. Barlow won the Philadelphia Women's Championship. It is evident she is in a class by herself, for in the qualifying round her nearest competitor was 12 strokes away. Mrs. Barlow's card was 44, 42—86. She met in the finals Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, whom she defeated by 3 and 2.

Mrs. A. K. Billstein won the beaten eight cup, eliminating Miss H. Ethel Maule by 2 and 1.

PHILADELPHIA OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club, September 16 and 17.

Tom McNamara of Boston won rather easily with a total of 302 for the seventy-two holes, and, by the way, this is the first time that the championship has been decided over so long a route.

The association this year increased the prize moneys, and as a consequence a very fine field competed. Isaac Mackie, the eastern open champion, was second, closely followed by Walter Hagen, who had won the national open title less than a month before. The scores follow:

EASTERN WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Greenwich Country Club, Greenwich, Conn.

This championship was pulled off in rather poor golfing weather—rain and wind playing havoc for a couple of days with the scoring. At the conclusion of the first round a former United States champion, Mrs. H. A. Jackson (née Kate Harley), led with a brilliant 83. No one came anywhere near her. On the second day, owing to the weather conditions, it was thought 90 would not be equaled, but again the dopesters were beaten, for she came in again with a well-earned 89, giving her a total of 172 for the 36 holes. The second place went to Miss Fanny Osgood with 181, nine shots behind.

RHODE ISLAND CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Rhode Island Country Club, Nayatt, R. I., September 4-12.

Seventy-seven players faced the starter and no player of any note in the state was absent. No low scoring was done, 80 not being broken. Dr. Gardner, who finally won, was sixth in the list of qualifiers with rounds of 89 and 87. D. Fairchild, a former Rhode Island champion, won the medal trophy with a total of 164. The winner of the championship proved to be Dr. C. H. Gardner, Agawam, who defeated J. Linton, Pawtucket, by 8 and 6.

Second sixteen, final, 18 holes—A. W. Hancock, Metacomet, d. V. Eldred, Silver Spring, 3 and 2.

Third sixteen, final, 18 holes—W. C. Clark, Misquamicut, d. H. A. Boss, Metacomet, 8 and 7.

Fourth sixteen, final, 18 holes—M. A. DeWolf, Silver Spring, d. H. A. Waldron, Metacomet, 5 and 4.

Beaten eight, first sixteen, final—H. E. Kenworthy, Metacomet, d. C. Shartenberg, Pawtucket, 2 up.

The sixteenth annual championship of the Connecticut Golf Association was held at the Hartford Golf Club, Hartford, Conn., June 24-27, 1914. The following is the summary:

Low Medal score—Percy Rothwell, Hartford Golf Club, 72, 76—148.

Championship—W. P. Seeley, Brooklawn, C.C., d. W. F. Whitmore, Hartford G.C., 9 and 8.

Four-ball Foursomes—R. H. Deming, Hartford; Richard Wayne, Hartford. Gross, 68. Handicap, 8½. Net, 59½.

Team championship and custody of Converse cup for one year won by Brooklawn team, which consisted of: Robert Abbott, N. W. Wheeler, W. P. Seeley, S. D. Bowers, and R. E. Sprott.

One-day Fall Tournament, held September 12, 1914, New Haven Country Club course:

A. G. McIlwaine, Hartford G.C., first. Best, 36 holes. Gross, 163.

F. K. English, New Haven C.C., first. Best, 36 holes. Net, 143.

NEW HAMPSHIRE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held on the Abenaki Golf Club course.

Only eight qualified for the New Hampshire title and the Slayton cup which goes with it. Sixty started, and it was the consensus of opinion that those in charge should change conditions so that 16 should be allowed to qualify. The medalist was J. A. Guilford of Intervale, who finished the round five shots ahead of his nearest competitor, yet was unable to go through, the winner turning up in the person of C. W. Bass of Portsmouth, who defeated C. J. Chase of Concord by 3 and 2 in the finals.

Handicap; leading gross scores—C. W. Bass, Portsmouth, C.C., 72; Jack Parker, Manchester, 75; L. Frost, Concord, 81; E. C. Tarbell, Portsmouth, 81. Leading net scores—F. E. Dranke, Abenaki, 89—26, 63; C. W. Bass, Portsmouth, 72—6, 66; E. K. Woodworth, Concord, 82—16, 66; Jack Parker, Manchester, 75—8, 67; L. Frost, Concord, 81—14, 67; F. McColl, Portsmouth, 82—15, 67.

WHITE MOUNTAIN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Waumbek Golf Club, Jefferson, N. H., August 26-28.

J. D. Standish, Jr., of Detroit, was returned the winner for the White Mountain championship after the tightest kind of a match with H. C. Richard of St. Andrews. At no stage of the game was there more than a hole between them, and at the eighteenth they finished all square. On the extra hole, however, Standish had the break and won.

EASTERN OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Played on the Shawnee Golf Club course, July 14-15.

Exactly half a hundred players started for the honor, among whom were two amateurs. The field was a very good one, indeed. Isaac Mackie of Fox Hills led the field the first day, accumulating a sterling 149 for the two rounds. Continuing his good work the second day, he finished leader by two shots. Summary:

SCOTTISH-AMERICAN GOLF CLUB.

The Scottish-American Golf Club had another successful season during 1914, enrolling more American born golfers than in any previous year of the club's history.

The principal club competitions were won as follows: Spring meeting—Class A, William Erskine, runner-up J. D. Ahearn; Class B, John Inglis, runner-up T. C. Hughes; Challenge Cup, Paul T. Haber, runner-up T. C. Peters. Aggregate gold medal for best three scores out of the six monthly medal competitions was won by Paul T. Haber after a tie with A. S. Morrison. Cup presented by the president, Andrew Bell, was won by H. B. Dunn, who defeated P. T. Haber in the final by 3 and 1. Captain Haber's cup was won by Walter Peebles, who defeated James Lang in the final by two holes, the winner returning a fine card of 71.

Fall meeting—Class A, W. Peebles, runner up D. McCallum; Class B, W. R. Francis, runner-up W. S. Chapman, Sen.

In the first inter-club tournament of the clubs which use Van Cortlandt links the Scots were unfortunate through business reasons to have only five entries, but one of these, T. T. Loomis, captured the medal for the best net score. W. D. Patterson put up a great fight before relinquishing the Herald Cup, as he carried the ultimate winner to the nineteenth hole, and the latter had to play the best golf of the tournament to win, as "Billy" turned in a card of 72. Considering that Patterson had not been playing golf all season and just arrived from Europe two days before the competition started, he gave quite a good account of himself. Walter Peebles won the club championship, defeating J. D. Ahearn in the final by 1 up. In the Van Cortlandt championship W. Peebles won the medal for the low score in the qualifying round with a card of 73, but was defeated later in the competition by Theodore F. Warner of the New York Golf Club.

The New York Golf Club defeated the Scots twice during the year in the annual club matches, getting revenge for previous trimmings received at the hands of the Scots.

Four members of the club played a private match in full Highland costume, being accompanied around the links by John Frazer, who played Scottish and American airs on the bagpipes. The players who took part in this match were W. D. Patterson, R. B. Peters, Gordon Frazer and William Erskine. This innovation proved so popular that it is the intention of the club to run off a competition in the coming year for members dressed in the garb of old Gaul, when it is expected that at least thirty will participate.

At the annual meeting, held in Caledonian Hall, the following officers were elected. President, H. B. Dunn; vice-president, J. D. Ahearn; secretary-treasurer, William Erskine, 21 West 125th Street; captain, Andrew Bell; board of governors, T. T. Loomis, M. McLean, William Martin, G. F. Walker, R. Peters, and G. Frazer.

EASTERN INTERCOLLEGIATE GOLF ASSOCIATION.

For the first time since the intercollegiate championship was instituted in 1896, Princeton won the team title when it defeated the Harvard forces by the narrow margin of 5 points to 4 in the final match on the links of the Garden City Golf Club, after a victory over Yale by a similar margin.

Heretofore Yale and Harvard have shared the title between them, with Yale the continual holder for the last nine years. Princeton has been runner-up on six occasions, but that was all more than a decade ago. This is the first time Princeton and Harvard have met in the final since 1903, when Harvard won.

In the preliminary matches Yale defeated Williams, 7 points to 2, and Princeton defeated Cornell, 6 points to 1; Harvard defeated Pennsylvania, 8 points to 1, and Princeton defeated Yale, 5 points to 4. Summary:

John Marshall, Jr., of Williams, was re-elected secretary, and C. W. B. Townsend of Pennsylvania treasurer. The 1915 championship will be held over the links of the Apawamis Club, at Rye.

PENNSYLVANIA AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Oakmont Country Club course.

One of the upsets of the season was witnessed at Oakmont when Croft of the Oakmont club, who is rated at 9 on the state list, went through a field of amateur players vieing for the championship, which included such cracks as W. C. Fownes, Jr., Eben Byers, George Ormiston, defeating J. B. Crookston of Stanton Heights in the finals by the substantial lead of 5 and 3. George Ormiston of Oakmont won the low qualifying medal with 153.

PENNSYLVANIA OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Oakmont Country Club.

Macdonald Smith, that sterling young golfer from Carnoustie, added another trophy to his already large collection by the capture of the blue ribbon of Pennsylvania. He led the field by no less than seven shots, his nearest competitor being Jack Hutchinson of Allegheny. Scores:

Macdonald Smith, Oakmont:

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Allegheny Country Club, Sewickley, Pa.

A new golfing star has appeared in western Pennsylvania, the luminary being Lawrence D. Blair, a member of the Pittsburgh Golf Club. Though playing for a period of ten years, he has never shown any remarkable ability until last year. Qualifying ninth with a 36-hole total of 164, he ran through his field in good style, winning the finals from Eben M. Byers by 2 and 1.

A. K. Oliver, Allegheny, won the beaten eight in the championship flight, defeating F. H. Darragh, Beaver Valley, in the final, 1 up.

The second sixteen was won by J. H. Harding, Oakmont, who defeated B. S. Horne, Allegheny, in the final, 3 and 1. The beaten eight was won by J. C. Dilworth of Allegheny.

The third sixteen was won by William Callery, Allegheny, who defeated A. R. Maxwell, Field Club, in the final, 3 and 2. The beaten eight was won by H. E. Chilcoat, Bellevue.

The fourth sixteen went to S. B. Ralston, Bellevue, who defeated H. P. Goff, Thornburg, in the final, 4 and 2. The beaten eight went to J. R. Wood, Field Club.

The fifth sixteen was won by E. Redman, Thornburg, who defeated F. D. Hurst, Bellevue, in the final, 4 and 3. The beaten eight was won by J. W. Lawrence, Oakmont. Summary:

Qualifying scores—E. M. Byers, Allegheny, 155; P. H. Preston, Stanton Heights, 155; J. B. Crookston, Stanton Heights, 156; G. O. Evans, Uniontown, 159; E. E. Giles, Oakmont, 159; J. B. Speer, Allegheny, 160; F. H. Darragh, Beaver Valley, 161; L. D. Blair, Pittsburgh G.C., 164; J. H. Reed, Oakmont, 165; J. F. Byers, Allegheny, 165; E. Hoopes, Allegheny, 167; R. C. Long, Stanton Heights, 168; M. D. Ritchie, Oakmont, 168; C. L. Childs, Allegheny, 169; A. K. Oliver, Allegheny, 169; J. Graham, Stanton Heights, 170.

First round—Preston d. Ritchie, 3 and 2; Crookston d. Oliver, 4 and 3; Hoopes d. Speer, 2 and 1; Blair d. Reed, 1 up; E. M. Byers d. Childs, 4 and 3; Long d. Evans, 1 up, 21 holes; J. F. Byers d. Darragh, 3 and 2; Giles d. Graham, 3 and 1.

Second round—Preston d. Crookston, 1 up, 19 holes; Blair d. Hoopes, 5 and 3; E. M. Byers, d. Long, 1 up, 20 holes; J. F. Byers d. Giles, 3 and 2.

Semi-final round—E. M. Byers d. J. F. Byers, 1 up; Blair d. Preston, 3 and 2.

WOMEN'S EVENT.

In the women's event Mrs. J. V. Hurd, formerly Miss Dorothy Campbell, won the title, defeating Mrs. J. R. Price in the final by 4 and 3. In the final of the second flight Mrs. Thomas Hucknall defeated Mrs. Louis Brown, 1 up in 19 holes.

OPEN.

Jack Hutchinson, Allegheny retained the open title as he led the field with 69, 73—142. Charles Rowe, Beaver Valley, and E. M. Byers tied for second place with 147 for each.

GOLF AT THE PITTSBURGH FIELD CLUB.

By H. R. LIVINGSTON.

The Pittsburgh Field Club has broadened extensively its sphere of activity. This, the oldest athletic organization in western Pennsylvania, bids fair to be the premier golf and country club of the state, and its new home of 171 acres near Aspinwall, on the Squaw Run and Fox Chapel Roads, is easy of access from the Smoky City.

With an ideal location and the ardent efforts of an energetic committee of 30, confident of success, a wave of enthusiasm has been moving which has spread through all athletic circles of the district.

The Pittsburgh Cricket Club, the parent of the present Field Club, was organized in 1882 and took up its official quarters at the well-known Brush-ton grounds, where for thirty-two years it had added to and taken part in field and track games which have a place in the history of Pittsburgh.

The Royal and Ancient game was first played in 1900, although not as a regular and accepted part of the club's activities until 1903.

Under the presidency of the popular sportsman, John B. Tonkin, and with 400 members and a large waiting list, the club will continue its activities, the new course being already laid out and scheduled to be completed and in readiness for use by May 1, 1915. A commodious clubhouse will crown the highest eminence in the southwest corner of the property and lend itself as a coign of vantage for a panoramic view of the whole of the grounds, commanding details of the first ten and last three holes.

The course itself is one of the finest natural courses in the country, both from the sporting and scenic points of view, being particularly rich in natural advantages.

The undulatory contour with occasional long level stretches and gently sloping greensward, as well as wooded portions and babbling brooks, add to the charm of the environment and makes a glorious future for the club assured.

A list of the holes, with lengths and bogey, will perhaps convey in the most concise manner the best idea of the course. The length of the course is as follows: 1—415 yards, 2—375 yards, 3—125 yards, 4—500 yards, 5—275 yards, 6—400 yards, 7—350 yards, 8—440 yards, 9—375 yards, 10—350 yards, 11—340 yards, 12—600 yards, 13—165 yards, 14—360 yards, 15—400 yards, 16—225 yards, 17—390 yards, 18—330 yards, total 6,415 yards.

Particular mention should be made of the twelfth and thirteenth holes. The former will have a very large slightly undulating putting green somewhat elevated, with a running brook separating it from the downward sloping fairway. The latter has already been christened "Gibraltar," and the successful one-shot drive must cross a brook, pass over trees and fall on the green on the summit of a perpendicular cliff. Obviously, an excellent, well-favored course, it is eagerly anticipated by all local lovers of the game.

And now all the members anxiously await the summer of 1915, which will see the old club in its new home, and a new era in its history and, it is believed, in the history of golf in the vicinity of Pittsburgh will have commenced.

CENTRAL NEW YORK GOLF LEAGUE.

The championship of this league was held in Utica, New York. Glenn Cole, Elmira Country Club, was winner of the individual matches. Dr. Neville of Auburn was the runner-up. The Binghamton Country Club was the winner of the team matches, with the Elmira Country Club runner-up and being defeated by one point. T. I. Case of Auburn won the approaching and putting contest. John G. McDowell, Elmira, won the long drive. Henry Dunn of Albany won the individual handicap. Emerick of Oswego and Ferris of Auburn tied for the best gross score during the tournament and on the play-off Emerick won. Mrs. Henry Rosenbaum and Charles A. Bowman won the mixed foursomes.

EASTERN TRADE GOLF ASSOCIATION.

The spring tournament of this association in 1914 was held at the Dunwoodie Golf Club, Dunwoodie, N. Y., May 19. Results: 18-hole medal play handicap won by Stephen Roberts; 18-hole match play against bogey won by R. B. Hunt; 18-hole best ball foursome won by R. G. Hauswell and D. H. Roney.

The mid-summer tournament was held at the Forest Hill Field Club, Forest Hill, N. J., August 17. Results: 18-hole medal play handicap won by W. M. Cosgrove; match play against bogey won by George M. Scott; 18-hole best ball foursome won by R. B. Hunt and A. S. Armagnac.

Special tournament held at Atlantic City, June 10, 1914. Results: 18-hole medal play handicap won by William H. Thayer; 18-hole handicap best ball foursome sweepstakes won by C. S. Wood and E. J. Hughes; 18-hole match play against bogey won by J. B. Garfield.

The autumn tournament was held at the Upper Montclair Country Club, Upper Montclair, N. J., October 6. Results: 18-hole medal play handicap won by W. G. Gilmour; 18-hole match play against bogey won by A. S. Armagnac, and 18-hole best ball foursome won by J. E. Rutzler and A. H. Ross.

EASTERN INTERSCHOLASTIC GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

Played at the Searsdale Country Club, May, 1914.

Qualifying round—Philip Carter, Pawling, 75; F. K. Robeson, Pawling, 76; F. L. Slade, Lawrenceville, 82; W. T. Badham, Lawrenceville, 86; L. J. Watts, Lawrenceville, 89; H. K. Downey, Maplewood, 91; C. L. Maxwell, Lawrenceville, 94; Homer Goff, Pawling, 94; J. W. Lelashes, Cathedral, 94; V. K. Hilton, Pawling, 97; R. G. Holtz, Lawrenceville, 99; A. D. Silk, Waverly, 104; R. S. Wormser, Stamford, 117.

Philip Carter, Pawling, defeated William T. Badham, Lawrenceville, in final round by 6 and 4. Pawling won the team championship for the third successive year with a score of 342. Lawrenceville was second with 351.

In a team match Pawling beat Hotchkiss 8 to 3. The line-up:

Carter, 3—Leisenring, 0; Robeson, 2—Winter, 0; Hilton, 3—Finkenstaedt, 0; Goff, 0—Robinson, 3.

Pawling also beat Lawrenceville in a team match, 6 to 4:

Carter, 3—Maxwell, 0; Robeson, 3—McCormick, 0; Hilton, 0—Dean, 2; Roome, 0—Newman, 2.

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER GOLF CLUB.

The New York Newspaper Golf Club officially, by designation of the park commissioner of the Bronx, Thomas W. Whittle, opened the golfing season at Van Cortlandt Park on May 1, 1914. The one-day tournament and monthly qualifying round held on that day was a success in every way. The winners of competition were H. Grantland Rice, low gross score; C. F. Parish, Dave Hall and H. V. Mardin, low net, of which Parish was the subsequent winner in the play-off.

The custom of the club has been to hold monthly tournaments at Van Cortlandt Park in which the players, according to the number that qualify, are divided into sixteens. A supplementary activity is the monthly one-day tournaments which the club holds at some nearby private course, to which the club members are invited by the officers of these clubs.

The May competition ended as follows: First sixteen, Fred Hawthorne, winner; Edgar L. Laverty, runner-up; second sixteen, H. B. Martin, winner; A. Hedley, runner-up; third sixteen, H. A. Haines, winner; C. L. Fletcher, runner-up.

The first of the invitation tournaments was held at Wykagyl Country Club, New Rochelle, a medal play round at handicap, which was won by F. K. Flaugh, who was tied with A. P. Roth; and the team prize went to H. G. Rice and McConoughy.

Subsequent competitions and the winners follow:

June qualifying round—Winner, F. K. Flaugh. Haworth medal play tournament—Fred Hawthorne, winner. Team prize to Parish and Pritchett.

June match play—Club championship won by C. L. Fletcher; F. K. Flaugh, runner-up. First sixteen won by A. P. Roth; Flaugh, runner-up. Second sixteen won by Hawthorne; Igoo, runner-up. Third sixteen won by W. J. Haywood; H. V. Mardin, runner-up.

July match play—First sixteen won by A. Hedley; Gifford, runner-up. Second sixteen won by P. L. Campbell; Orvis, runner-up.

August 10, Invitation tournament at Dunwoodie—Team play won by Haines and J. H. Williams; second, Benzinger and F. J. Pope.

August 25, Invitation tournament, Siwanoy—Won by C. F. Laux and Dave Hall; J. C. Flinn and Fred Hall, second; and Fred Clements, low net score.

August match play—First sixteen won by F. T. Pope. Second sixteen won by F. J. Pope.

September tournament—Qualifying won by W. J. Haywood.

Match play—First sixteen won by A. C. Murray; second sixteen won by C. F. Parish; third sixteen won by C. A. Daily.

The Press Championship calls for special mention. This highly successful event, inspired and carried to a successful conclusion through the efforts of Harry A. Haines, was played over the links of the Dunwoodie Country Club, at Yonkers, N. Y. A cup was purchased and donated to the New York Newspaper Golf Club to place in competition open to all newspaper workers of New York City, the conditions being medal play over 72 holes. The tournament was held on successive Mondays, with special competitions for those failing to qualify within the first eight. The results of this tournament follow: Winner, W. W. Harris, Sun; and in order of finishing, J. C. Flinn, H. G. Rice, P. B. Lucas, A. C. Murray, H. A. Haines, J. G. Logan, and A. Hedley. The qualifying round handicap was won by A. C. Murray, and the match play consolation was won by A. J. Gifford; F. J. Pope, runner-up. Harris of the Sun will hold possession of the cup for one year. Permanent possession follows three times winning.

Through the generosity of the club's president, George L. Cooper of the Evening Telegram, a beautiful cup was placed in competition, to be the property of the member winning it twice. Play is at handicap match play. C. A. Daily won the qualifying medal; and the final match play, 36 holes, was won by F. K. Flaugh; E. B. Davis, American, runner-up. In the consolation sixteen J. C. Flinn was the winner, and A. J. Gifford, runner-up.

The Cooper Cup competition concluded the regular season, although a special field day competition in conjunction with one held by the Newspaper Tennis Association, took place on November 15. The winners of special events were Dave Hall, low net score; F. K. Flaugh, driving, and F. J. Pope, flag contest.

LEAGUE OF THE LOWER LAKES.

The tournament last year was combined with the Sixteenth Annual Amateur Tournament (formerly called Western New York Championship) and the Buffalo Country Club defeated the Detroit 14 to 2. The tournament was won by W. A. Gardner, 2d, and Henry Marcy was runner-up.

GOLF COURSES LAID OUT OR REMODELED

BY OUR OWN GOLF COURSE ARCHITECT

TOM BENDELOW

Who has laid out more courses than any dozen men in America. For any information you may desire regarding building, rebuilding, or maintenance of Golf courses, or any matters that pertain to the Golf game, address A. G. SPALDING & BROS., 28-30 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, or any of our stores, the complete list of which will be found on the inside front cover of this book.

Hints to the Green Committee

GENTLEMEN:

Wishing to be of some assistance to you, as many times Green Committees are at a loss to find out where they may be able to find someone who will give them information relative to the care and maintenance of their golf course in general, we wish to say that we shall be only too pleased, upon application, to answer questions that may arise with you from time to time in connection with the care of putting greens or fair greens.

Our experience in this department is certainly very extensive, and as a result of long, practical experience, we are in a position to give the very best advice possible.

We are probably responsible for 50 per cent of the golf courses in the United States of America, if not a greater number than that, and we can save you money by assuring you that when work is done by us it is the result of years of attention given to this particular department of the game.

There are many who essay this task, who have no earthly idea of economy, and who are entirely regardless of the exorbitant charges they saddle on clubs who have sought their services, yet are loud in their attestations of their ability to do better than anyone else. A good golf course is largely a matter of evolution, and it is foolish to go to work and spend tens of thousands of dollars upon a golf course in its inception in this part of the world, when the resultant conditions make a good deal of the work done of no value. Many do this, with other people's money, who are placed on Green Committees for a short term, for they know their responsibility ends with their term in office. Remember climatic conditions are vastly different on this broad continent. What does for one part of the country will certainly not do for another. Soils vary also, and adaptation must ever be taken into account. Remember you have as fine grasses in your own country as can be found anywhere. Don't imagine you require to go abroad to get grass that will give you perfect greens, and for that reason pay exorbitant prices for the same. Exercise a little common sense in this matter the same as you do in the running of your business, for you know that when your books are wrong in your accounting department you naturally look for the services of not an ordinary bookkeeper, but an expert. It will save you money in the long run by getting the very best and we can assure you we can provide it. Never mind the many reasons that advertisers of grass seed are using for their unprecedented prices of grass seed, owing, some claim, to drought in Europe, and thereby charge twice as much as the seed is worth. You have all the grass seed at your own door for this purpose without paying such fancy prices. Never mind the seed doctor stunt, which is an "ad" gotten up to pull wool over your eyes. No grass seed is passed on a perpetually moving belt before the sharp eyes of girls trained to the work, who have the ability to fasten on intruding weeds. This may be all right for beans and peas, etc., but not for grass seed. Yet this sort of literature is gotten up to create the impression among those who do not know that this is the modus operandi pursued by some as a pretext for charging such exorbitant prices for grass seed. Such a course is never pursued. It's impossible commercially.

We can demonstrate to you, if you are interested, quicker results derived from grass seed, stripped from grasses grown in the country, in various parts, than has ever been gotten from imported seed yet. Write to us for prices. You will find them right.

If you have any wish to remodel your course, or are thinking of seeking new grounds and would need the services of an expert to lay out your new grounds for you, or remodel the old one, we wish to state that we are in a position, second to none in the country, to give you the best service in this particular line.

Our experience embraces a period in this country of over twenty years, doing work in practically every State of the Union. Our charges are moderate indeed, and if we can serve you in any shape or way either in laying out new golf courses, remodeling old ones, looking over land with a view to proving its adaptability for this purpose, telling you what seed to sow, how to sow it, and supplying you with it at a reasonable cost, or, as to the maintenance of your course, bunkering the same, etc., etc., we shall be well satisfied.

Address all communication to T. Bendelow, Manager Golf Department, 28-30 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

HINTS ON LAYING OUT A GOLF COURSE.

Very little has been written on the subject of laying out golf courses, and rightly so, by the numerous scribes who have added to the large and ever increasing number of books on the subject of golf. No doubt, they all realized that it was a subject upon which more mistakes could be made in a minute than could be remedied in years, and very wisely refrained. Were conditions the same everywhere the task would be a comparatively easy one, but as they are not this is what makes it almost impossible. We have no intention, therefore, of laying down any hard and fast lines to go upon, but merely give some general ideas of what is requisite.

The acreage necessary for a nine-hole course of an average length of about 3,000 yards is about 45 acres. This will give about two or three acres space for club house and the amenities thereof. Of course, for an 18-hole course, with the added attractions usually to be taken care of in a proposition of such magnitude, 100 acres is none too much. Understand, however, this is on land that is practically free from any large quantity of trees. Of course, if a park effect is wanted in connection therewith the acreage will have to be largely increased.

The ideal land for a golf course, be it a 9- or 18-hole one, is land of an undulating nature, having some natural attractions in the nature of a stream meandering through it, or some good elevations, which can be all used to splendid advantage. The ideal soil is of sandy loam with a gravelly subsoil, but as this cannot always be had, a good golf course may be laid out on nearly any kind of farm land. Of course, the exercise of a little judgment is absolutely necessary as to the placing of the greens to the best possible advantage.

If the ground has been under cultivation there is no other course open but that the whole should be plowed up. Previous to the plowing, all fences and other lines of demarcation between fields should be thoroughly removed, as well as all stones and other debris, when the whole then can be thoroughly harrowed preparatory to seeding.

If fertilizing of the soil is necessary the best thing that can be done is to spread some rotted stable manure on the ground before the plowing has been resorted to and seeing to it that the whole is well turned in.

When the harrowing has been done satisfactorily, the ground should then be seeded. As the seeding is a matter of the very greatest importance no chances should be taken, but the best advice obtainable on this subject should be had. False economy practiced at a time like this in the sparing of the quantity of seed sown will be a disappointment.

This does not mean necessarily that you are to go and pay all kinds of fancy prices for so-called imported mixtures that are being advertised from time to time, and which, by the way, are not nearly as good as the native grasses produced in our own country. Why should they be, when climatic conditions and adaptability—the two chief factors with regard to satisfactory growth—are so vastly different. No; but there is an old axiom common to agriculturists which is to the effect that if you do not put it on the ground you may never expect to take it off, and when the right kind of seed has been procured suitable to the soil it should be sown at the rate of at least from 100 to 125 pounds per acre.

If the ground, however, has been lying fallow, or in pasture of any kind, there is no need for being so radical in the preparation of the soil, as it is infinitely better to keep what you have got in the way of turf, however poor it may be, than go to the unnecessary expense of undoing what Nature has taken probably years to do and which can, by little attention, be improved 100 per cent. A disc harrow at a time like this will do wonders and the best thing to do is to see to it that the ground is thoroughly disced, care being taken that the discs are not set at such an angle that the turf is displaced, the object being merely to cut it. This will have the effect of breaking up the soil and stimulating in it chemical action, thereby making available a great many properties which are natural to the soil itself. When this has been done, then some good commercial fertilizer can be used, after which seeding and rolling may be indulged in. Seeding on ground so treated should be at the rate of 50 pounds to the acre.

The staking out of the course should be the next thing that should occupy the attention of the committee in charge of this work, and we would strongly advise here again that the best advice possible should be got on this subject—having an expert who has been accustomed to do this kind of work for years, and not any Tom, Dick or Harry who perhaps has not laid out a golf course in his life but who may have pretensions to be able to play the game in a capable manner; yet, when it comes to utilizing ground to the best possible advantage he is fairly at sea. See to it that the length of the holes should be such as will call for the best efforts of the golfer and that the holes are of such playing length that credit is given to good playing and that the mediocre player will find himself exactly in the class to which he belongs; in other words, that the holes will be of such a length that there will be no possibility whatever of a man making a mistake and being able to catch up to his opponent without being penalized for his misplay. The object of the expert who is laying out your grounds should be to start in with a hole of considerable length and continue with the same idea in mind so as to avoid congestion and to allow the players to get very well spread out before he comes to shorter holes. A good hole to start in with is probably one about 460 yards, not bringing in any short holes until probably about the sixth or seventh. This will give a field a chance to be thoroughly well spread out and preclude in a very great measure the possibility of congestion occurring at the first tee. If it is an 18-hole course that is needed it is a good idea always to bring back the ninth hole to the club house, starting out again at the tenth tee and bringing back the eighteenth to the club house again.

We would strongly advise, however, for those who intend to have a golf course laid out in connection with any club, that the services of an expert be got and that the matter be placed unreservedly in his hands, as it will certainly save a great deal of money to the club contemplating such action. It is false economy to suppose that any man can do this kind of work simply because he happens to play golf, and clubs have proven this to their discomfiture many a time.

Rolling of Greens

Devereux Emmet of Garden City some time ago had an article in "Golf," which many of our green committee men would do well to heed. There is more concentrated common sense in it than it has been my good fortune to have read in golfing magazines for many a day. I believe one feels a little diffident to rush into print, as advice along this line can rarely ever be general in this country owing to its vast size and the variety of adaptation and climatic condition that prevails, yet the condition that many of our golf courses are found in from time to time after a torrid spell, or after a severe winter, impels one to ask the question—is there not a cause? I believe there is, and from my own observation, Mr. Emmet strikes the keynote of the whole matter when he says that our fair greens are becoming root bound, hermetically sealed, and waterproof, thereby making it almost impossible for nature to be at all favorably disposed toward us. In short, they are rolled altogether too much. At one of the Chicago courses, where a heavy cutter is constantly employed on one part of the golf course and the ordinary horse mowers on the other, that end of the golf course where the heavy mower is not used shows conclusively its superiority in the nature and texture of the turf, and is certainly more free from weeds, and the soil is certainly in much better shape. This result can be seen any day on any of the courses round the city of Chicago, although sometimes the comparison is not quite so apparent.

As Mr. Emmet points out, for a new course the use of a heavy roller or auto-mower is a perfect Godsend up to a certain point, yet I wish to say right here it has been my experience that if the ground of a new golf course has been properly prepared the use of an auto-mower or a roller should be limited to a matter of a week or ten days. A sure way to injure the soil is by packing to exclude the air, for the reason that the activities of the chemical agents in the soil is thereby lessened, and thus the making of plant food available is in great measure retarded. On the other hand, when the soil is maintained in a more friable state, and the air is allowed entrance, oxygen being such an active element and combining freely with elements in all sorts of substances, it naturally follows that chemical action and change more actively take place. Hence reasons for good and bad fair greens in very many instances. Withal, nature is more kind to us than we are to it, and many times we see conditions exist of a splendid nature on a fair green, not because of what is being done, but in spite of it.

The nature of the soil on fully 90 per cent of the golf courses in the western country will not permit of this packing, and if one keeps his eyes open evidences of this can be seen any day almost on any course that is visited. On courses where grass grew a few years ago in luxuriance, and free from weeds, one is shocked to see that more weeds exist in many instances than grass and infinitely more than in the rough and upon which no work of this kind has been done. The reason is not far to seek. In the rough, the water fall is conserved, not only because of the ranker growth, but because the soil was in a better state of receptivity to take it in, the rain fall being better absorbed and thus augmenting the water reserves, and providing the moisture necessary to give vigor to the grass growth and eliminating in great measure the propagating of weed life. On the other hand, the method pursued of constantly rolling and cutting the fair green has practically raised a surface almost as hard as asphalt through which only a small percentage of the rainfall ever percolates, but running off into low places sours the ground, kills the grass and makes a splendid place for the germination of every weed that is blown on to

it. Weeds with large tap roots, unlike the rhizomes of grass, bore down and thrive where it is impossible for grass to do so. Who has not seen evidences of this kind on almost every course he has played upon, yet how slow are those in charge of affairs willing to use common sense methods in the pursuit of the end they have in view.

Water is of so much importance to the life of the grass that we see thousands of dollars spent annually in the piping of putting and fair greens all over the country and yet by the methods pursued of packing and caking the soil the object sought to be gained is in great measure nullified. When it is considered that water is the most essential food of plant life it is easily seen why all this expenditure. The water acts upon the plant food in the ground by turning all food materials into solution thus making them available for absorption. Hence it should be the aim of those looking after the golf course to see that the ground is kept in as friable a shape as is possible—that the porosity of both fair and putting greens is always maintained, when I am sure that the amount of water necessary for their maintenance will never be so great as under the present method so prevalent of continually rolling; and the textures of the grass will be better.

Putting Greens

As often happens, owing to the vagaries of the winter in the western hemisphere, putting greens suffer extensively from winter-kill. There are many reasons that can be brought forward to account for this, one of the most apparent being lack of a snow covering—the snowfall not being sufficient to allow the protection necessary to preserve the turf against repeated thaws and frosts.

One thing that should make itself apparent to the average Green Committee man or greenkeeper is that the only way to overcome this occurring winter by winter in this western country, where such extremes in temperature usually prevail, is to see to it that, in the building of new putting greens or in remodeling old ones, a perfect system of drainage is installed. Rarely, if ever, do you find greens suffering from winter-kill where the subsoil is sand or gravel, the reason being no doubt that the porosity of the soil is sufficient in itself to carry off all the moisture, thereby lessening the effects of Jack Frost's work upon the roots and making it possible for his opponent, King Sol, to find it quite an easy task, through his beneficent rays, to offset; but in all heavy soils where the subsoil is clay and where such porosity is limited, means will have to be adopted to preclude the possibility of gravitational water standing, else a repetition of what has occurred in the last two or three years in the western country will be a sure result, namely: winter-killed putting greens.

Of course to accomplish the making of greens similar to those which obtain on the links in Scotland or on the sandy soils of the Atlantic seaboard, a good deal of expense is entailed which would probably be more than the average club would be willing to expend. It certainly would be quite an item, but when one considers that the creative power of country club life is practically the game of golf, and looks at the elaborate club houses that are being built, there is no reason why the game which creates the whole thing should be relegated into such a small corner and only a small percentage of the income devoted to the building up and maintenance of the same. It can readily be argued that because of the greater distances to travel to the club in this country it is necessary that more elaborate club houses be built and maintained than on the other side, which no doubt in measure is quite true, but, as a golfer, I must say, not at the expense of the golf course.

With twenty years' experience in the game of golf and its requirements, one would think much would have been learned in that time, but it seems after all that there is a sad lack of knowledge in many of the rudimentary principles. In the economy of the management of clubs we usually find a new Green Committee coming in with each succeeding year and no wonder the greens, as a rule, suffer. The men who are usually appointed to these duties are perfectly willing to admit that their knowledge of agronomy and agrostology is, at the most, academical, but that they are willing to learn and if, perchance, through interchange of thought and observation, they have learned anything in the course of the year, another year sees a new committee in place of the old one, and once again there is a new beginning. When we look at some of the clubs, however, that have pursued a more sane policy and have had Green Committees serve for a term of from five to ten years, we find a different state of things prevalent. We find intelligent management, greens in better shape than anywhere else, and it is only rightly so that this should be, as they have a chance to commence each succeeding year where they left off in the previous one, and the knowledge so acquired is invaluable to them and to others if they will only see it. A good golf course is a matter of evolution, and unless one can profit by past experience there can be no benefit.

In the building of a putting green on an inland course, one should seek to imitate nature as nearly as possible. By this is meant the soil condition that obtains where we consider the best greens are to be found.

On the links in Scotland, where the best golf courses are said to be, there is just enough loam on the top of pure sand to give nourishment to a short, crisp and curly grass, which makes the best kind of a putting green that can be found anywhere. Of course such a grass cannot be grown here with success. It is practically indigenous to that soil and the climatic conditions which exist over there.

At one of the clubs around Chicago the method was tried, I understand, a few years ago, but as to whether it was persevered in I cannot say. I was told that the idea was abandoned. However, for the benefit of those who would wish to have greens that would give them a minimum of worry the following directions may be acceptable. It will be evident at once that a putting green that is well drained is a better place for grass roots to spread in than one that is often wet from standing water—not on the surface but unseen to the eye—at the water table. The reasons are that the plant foods are more easily secured, there is more warmth in the soil and more air can be used, consequently a better condition all around that is conducive to growth.

Dig out your green to a depth of eighteen inches, then throw in about six inches of broken stone and cinders mixed. Roll down thoroughly, after which put on the same quantity of lake or sea sand, which will leave another six inches for the soil. Great care should be used in the selection of this top soil, and sand should be thoroughly mixed with it, according to its density. Well rotted stable manure should also be used to add humus to the soil. A thorough mixing of this manure and sandy soil would thus make for a splendid green, when one would have just as fine a bed as could be found anywhere for the propagation of the grasses best suited to the climatic conditions which exist. Of course the initial cost of such greens would be considerable, but would it not pay, in the matter of larger organizations that are just commencing, to have the work done in this way? The drainage would be perfect, the freedom from gravitational water standing and worm casts would be something to be thankful for and the nature of the grass which could be grown thereupon would be refined to a remarkable degree.

The care of the greens would be a good deal simplified, as with the mania for rolling, which seems to possess some of our Green Committees, little harm could be done on a green built up in this fashion. There would be so little soil to pack that even this could be done with impunity, although we never approve of it; that is, too much rolling under any conditions.

One might think also that the amount of water necessary to water these greens would add very much to the cost of maintenance. That might be true, but if a little judgment was exercised in the cutting of the greens there need be no extra cost added. There is a very pernicious habit in vogue in this country, which we consider a very foolish one, and that is cutting greens while the dew is on the grass. Always remember that "ilka blade of grass hauds its ain drap o' dew" and this is one of nature's most beneficent aids in the nourishment of grass life; and yet we see the mowers at work early in the morning cutting off blades of grass with the dew upon them, which under the heat of the sun is evaporated in a short time. It not only is taking away a great deal of the very best nourishment of plant life, but it never makes a good job in cutting the grass at such a time. Why not defer the cutting of the grass until the dew has been absorbed, say, until after 10 o'clock in the morning? This could be done without any trouble, except probably at exceptional times during the tournaments. If the dews were left to be absorbed naturally there would not be so much water required upon any putting green. It has been my observation that where this pointer has been given and attended to greens were in much better condition than where this was not done previously.

Naturally, on many of our courses methods so radical will never be attempted, yet a method of draining them by tiling should be resorted to if the desire is to have greens in good shape after the repeated thaws and frosts of a hard winter. A little judgment exercised by the greenkeeper during a wet spell will determine where the gravitational water stands on a rolling green, and his desire should be to lead the water off by means of a drain tile to another point where its presence will be less injurious. A judicious expenditure of money in this direction would give the quietus to many of the kicks one is accustomed to hear every spring leveled at the Green Committee when they take up the reigns of government.

There is no doubt about it, we have a great deal to learn in the building and care of putting greens, but we feel convinced if we just stop and think for a few moments, there are many common sense ideas that would appeal to us which should work for better conditions prevalent in this connection all around.

SANDING OF PUTTING GREENS

The late Tom Morris, St. Andrews' Grand Old Man of golf, has been and is made the casus belli between green committees and golfers in a way that he little dreamt of. Many years ago, in giving advice regarding work to be done on a certain golf course to bring greens into shape, he uttered a sentence which to some has become axiomatic—"hand on the sand." This advice, coming from a greenkeeper of his experience and ability, would doubtless carry a great deal of weight with a great number and, if adhered to discreetly, would result in splendid results. But this is where the great harm has been done; some have been so foolish as to blindly follow this advice without first finding out all about the conditions that obtained which called forth such a remark, as to whether their greens, upon which they carried out this admonition, were in a similar state to the ones he spoke of and whether the same method of treatment could be applied with beneficial effect or otherwise. In the majority of cases the answer is "No!"

Sand is a splendid thing for many purposes, and for a putting green where the soil is heavy and the growth rank the judicious use of sand is of great value. Sand has a twofold action when applied to a putting green. It acts as an aerater of the soil, the sharp particles forcing their way through the closely packed loam and thereby starting chemical action in the soil, by breaking up and allowing the various elements that go to build up plant life to become available, at the same time allowing the soil to receive a certain amount of moisture which if closely packed it would be impossible to get.

This is one of the chief reasons why so much watering is necessary to keep putting greens in good condition. A great deal of the water sprinkled (either naturally or artificially) never gets to the lower regions where the water stores are held. It is lost by surface drainage, owing to the surface soil being so tight and closely packed and thus becoming in a measure waterproof.

In the making of new greens on a stiff clay loam one of the best things that can be done, is to see to it that plenty of good sharp sand is spread over the land when plowed or spaded up. This will have the effect of making the soil much more porous, and allow of gravitational water getting more readily to the water table instead of running off.

Sand is also a refiner of the growth and a deterrent to rankness, and here is where so much harm is done. Anyone who has not made a study of the conditions that exist should not blindly "hand on the sand," as is sometimes done in the fall of the year to the depth, as we have often seen it, of an inch or more, with such disastrous effects.

Neither in the spring of the year, either, generally. Of course, in both cases, sometimes because of the virility of the soil and the amount of its food content no harm has been done, but we just wish it understood that such methods cannot be followed generally. Every case must be decided on its merits.

In the first instance, if done, it usually serves as a knockout to the already dying grass; if put on at the commencement of the spring season it has usually the effect of making growth backward. Nature is reasserting itself, and, instead of being retarded, it should be assisted. We would suggest as the result of observation that the best time to sand greens is probably after they have been opened to play upon, and then sprinkle sand upon them every month for a period of at least four or five months, never at any time too much, but just enough that a good shower of rain will have the effect of washing it in. This will have the effect of filling up all unevenness of surface, retarding rankness of growth, adding to the porosity of the soil and thus allowing of nitrification to take place more readily, and at the same time have no detrimental effect on the green at all. "A little and often" should be the treatment, when the result obtained will, I am sure, make for as fast and true a putting green as one could wish for.

TWO AMATEUR CHAMPIONS OF THE WESTERN GOLF ASSOCIATION.

RESUME OF WESTERN GOLF ASSOCIATION CHAMPIONSHIPS.

- 1899—Amateur Championship, held at Glenview Club, Golf, Ill., September 6 to 9, inclusive; won by D. R. Forgan, Onwentsia Club, who defeated Walter E. Egan, Onwentsia Club, 6 and 5. Open Championship; won by Willie Smith, Midlothian Country Club, who defeated Lawrence Auchterlonie, Glenview, after a tie.
- 1900—Amateur Championship; held at the Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill., September 25 to 29, inclusive; won by William Waller, Onwentsia Club, who defeated William Holabird, Jr., Glenview Club, in the finals by 1 up; second flight cup was won by Louis Allis of Milwaukee; third flight cup was won by K. L. Ames, Glenview Club, Marshall Field Cup; a team composed of Walter B. Smith, Walter E. Egan, Wm. Waller, David R. Forgan, Slason Thompson, from the Onwentsia Club, won the above trophy; score 30 down.
- 1900—No Open Championship was held in 1900.
- 1901—Amateur Championship; held at Midlothian Country Club, October 20 to 24, inclusive; won by Phelps B. Hoyt of Glenview, who defeated Bruce D. Smith of Onwentsia in the finals by 6 and 5; second flight cup was won by L. F. Boyd, Milwaukee; third flight cup, won by S. O. Dugger, Hinsdale, Marshall Field Cup; Glenview won, 39 down; team: Wm. Holabird, Phelps B. Hoyt, John D. Towne, W. I. Osborne, Geo. A. Thorne. Women's Championship; held at Onwentsia Club, September 25 to 28, inclusive; won by Miss Bessie Anthony, who defeated Mrs. H. Chatfield Taylor by 3 and 1. Open Championship; held at Midlothian Country Club; won by Lawrence Auchterlonie, Glenview; score, 160; David Bell was second with 162.
- 1902—Amateur Championship; held at Chicago Golf Club, September 9 to 13, inclusive; won by H. Chandler Egan, Exmoor, who defeated Walter E. Egan, Lake Geneva Country Club, 1 up, 37 holes. Marshall Field Cup; won by the Exmoor team; 55 down; team: H. Chandler Egan, R. Harvey McElwee, B. F. Cummins, C. Todd Moffett, W. Alexander. Women's Championship; held at the Onwentsia Club, August 26 to 30, inclusive; Miss Bessie Anthony, Glenview Club, defeated Mrs. W. A. Alexander of Exmoor in the finals by 1 up. Open Championship; held at Euclid Club, Cleveland, Ohio, September 16-17; won by Willie Anderson, Pittsfield, Mass., with a medal score for 72 holes of 299. Wm. Smith, Midlothian, and W. H. Way of Euclid, tied for second place with 304.
- 1903—Amateur Championship; held at Euclid Club, Cleveland, Ohio, August 3 to 8, inclusive; won by Walter E. Egan, Exmoor Country Club, who defeated H. Chandler Egan, Exmoor, by 1 up, 37 holes. Marshall Field Cup; held at Milwaukee Country Club, July 18; Exmoor team won, 45 down; team: H. Chandler Egan, Walter E. Egan, B. F. Cummins, W. I. Osborne, R. H. McElwee. Open Championship; held at Milwaukee Country Club, July 16-17; won by Alec. Smith, Nassau Country Club, with a total of 318; Lawrence Auchterlonie, Glenview, and David Brown of Wollaston, tied for second place with 322.
- 1904—Amateur Championship; held at Exmoor Country Club, August 15 to 20, inclusive; won by H. Chandler Egan, Exmoor Country Club, who defeated D. E. Sawyer, Wheaton Golf Club, by 6 and 5. Marshall Field Cup; held at Midlothian Country Club, July 16; Midlothian team won, being 6 up by bogey; team: Kenneth P. Edwards, Mason E. Phelps, O. W. Potter, Jr., R. E. Daniels, Chas. Zueblin. ## WESTERN AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Kent Country Club, Grand Rapids, Michigan, July 27 to Aug. 1.

Probably no better golf has been witnessed in a championship of this association than that displayed by "Chick" Evans when he annexed the banner event of the West at Kent Country Club. To maintain an average of 71 and a fraction for a week's play is something we augur will not be done for many a day again. His best round was 67, something like three shots worse than it should have been; but it was this defection that appeared to make him almost human, and for which we are thankful. The field was a most representative one, and in point of numbers was the largest yet staged for this event. The only absentee was W. K. Wood, ex-champion, who was prevented from attending because of business. Evans' score for the qualifying rounds was also the lowest—147 being the total. Save for the scare he received from that sterling golfer, J. K. Bole of Cleveland, in the first round—when the match went to the twenty-first—his way to the coveted trophy was rather easy.

The final was a procession—a great exhibition of golf, but not a good match. Evans won nine holes in the morning, Standish not getting a single one. At the start it looked promising as the first three holes were halved in par. After that Evans had it all his own way, and played the course in the phenomenal figures of 67. His card was:

WOMEN'S WESTERN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Hinsdale Golf Club, Hinsdale, Illinois, August 28.

A new female golfing star has arisen in the West. Mrs. H. D. Hammond of Indiana is that luminary, and she not only holds the title of champion of the Women's Western Golf Association but is Indiana State Champion as well. The success of Mrs. Hammond was remarkable, as the Western championship was the first tournament in which she had competed last season, all her opponents, with the exception of Miss Helmer, having taken part in a number of competitive events. Mrs. Hammond's series of victories may be properly attributed to the splendid style in which she played her iron clubs and accurate putting.

According to custom, Miss Helmer, the title holder, was not obliged to play in the qualifying round, being ranked at No. 1 in the bracketings for the match rounds. Miss Laura Kaiser, of Glen Echo, who was playing as a member of Flossmoor, led the field in the qualifying round with the card of 91, Mrs. Hammond being next with 93. The summary:

Qualifying Scores—Miss Laura M. Kaiser, Glen Echo, 91; Mrs. Harry D. Hammond, Indianapolis, 93; Miss Caroline Painter, Midlothian, 94; Mrs. F. S. Colburn, Glen View, 94; Miss Florence Wykoff, Calumet, 96; Miss Louise Fergus, Glen View, 96; Mrs. A. A. Heaning, Wheaton, 97; Miss Marjorie Edwards, Midlothian, 97; Miss Elizabeth Allen, Rock Island, 98; Miss Jennie Jones, Sioux City, 98; Mrs. Frank G. Jones, Memphis, 99; Mrs. W. France Anderson, Hinsdale, 100; Miss Ruth Layman, Skokie, 100; Mrs. Ralph Smalley, Windsor, 101; Mrs. G. F. Henneberry, Glen View, 101.

WESTERN OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Interlachen Country Club, Minneapolis, Minn., August 26-27.

The lanky pro. from Whitmarsh Valley—Jim Barnes—was good enough to beat a rather classy field at Interlachen for the Western Open by one stroke. His nearest competitor was Willie Kidd of Algonquin, who at the end of 54 holes led the field, his competitive record score of 69 for the first round on the second day giving him a lead of 3 shots over Barnes. Kidd's chances looked rosy until a hooked drive among the trees cost him a 6 for the hole—Barnes getting a 4. This with other unlucky kicks put Kidd virtually out of the running for first place, unless he could get a 3 at the home hole—484 yards in length. Some 250 yards from the tee a pond is located, necessitating a restriction of a man's ability to get distance but at the same time putting a premium on a well-placed shot. Kidd played his tee shot perfectly and, getting a good lie, took a wallop for the green. A ball was never better hit or placed, and the spectators were electrified to see it sail through the air and after a first bounce roll beautifully on to the green and right on up toward the hole, where it came to rest within 5 feet of the hole. A 3 was needed to tie, and holing the putt would give it. However, it was not his day. The putt was made but the ball did not drop, hanging on the edge of the hole, thereby giving him a 4, and the second place. The field was a classy one, and a number of players from the East were among the entrants.

CHICAGO CITY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at Jackson Park, August 3 to 8, 1914.

BY AL LESPERANCE.

The city championship of Chicago was held as usual on the public links at Jackson Park. It was run under the direction of H. A. Smith, Secretary of the Jackson Park Club. This is the tenth year of this event, and it is always a big success. One hundred and seventy players entered and played the first eighteen holes. A. J. Samuelson of the home club had low score, made up as follows:

Out.....	4	4	5	4	4	5	5	3	4—38
Par.....	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	3	4—35
In.....	3	4	4	2	5	5	4	3	4—34—72
Par.....	4	4	4	3	5	5	4	3	4—36—71

He was two strokes in the lead of E. T. Bartlett, who had a 74; two players were tied at 75—M. F. Deming, the 1913 city champion, and Tom Hunter. Following is the list of the best sixty-four scores (where no club is given, player is "unattached"):

Mida, Hammond, 84; M. Meyers, 85; J. M. Steele, Jackson Park, 85.

Play was a good deal better in the second round, and at the end of the day it was found that two players had tied for the gold medal.

1. J. C. Wilson, Kent Country Club, Grand Rapids, Mich.; 2. Otto Hackbarth; 3. Jack L. Daray, Highlands Golf Club, Grand Rapids, Mich.; 4. Frank Waugh, Muskegon, Mich.; 5. William Davidson, Professional, Flint, Mich.; 6. Ben Loyekin, Woodmont Country Club, Milwaukee, Wis.; 7. Bob Aitken, Triple A, St. Louis, Mo., giving a lesson; 8. Richard Clarkson, Northland Country Club, Duluth, Minn.

M. Deming, with a fine round of 73, was able to tie A. J. Samuelson at 148, as the latter had taken 76 for his second round.

S. O. Burroughs had low score for the second day with 72.

Two match rounds of eighteen holes were played the next day. The first round saw the defeat of the 1913 title holder, M. Deming, by Art B. Sweet of Edgewood, by 1 up.

The afternoon round furnished some fine battles for the spectators, one of the best matches was between Howard Maguire, unattached, and Tom Hunter of the Jackson Park Club; these two halved the first six holes of their match. Hunter, by winning the seventh and ninth, and losing the eighth was 1 up at the turn, having gone out in 37 to his opponent's 38. Maguire lost the first hole coming home, but squared the match at the thirteenth, and by running down a putt for a three on the sixteenth green was 1 up for the first time.

Hunter by holing a twenty-two-foot putt on the seventeenth to halve and a twelve-foot putt on the last green to win, squared the match.

The first extra hole was halved, and Hunter was defeated on the twentieth green when he rimmed the cup for a four.

Joe McDonald of Wheaton, Western intercollegiate champion, eliminated G. R. West of the home club, who has been runner-up for the last two years. Following are the results of the first and second rounds:

First Round—Arthur B. Sweet defeated Murray F. Deming, 1 up; S. O. Burroughs defeated R. A. Bowler, 5 and 3; William Rautenbusch defeated Hubert Suively, 4 and 3; J. Chandler defeated E. T. Bartlett, 1 up, 19 holes; O. H. Hunter defeated Hobart Hoge, 4 and 3; James McLaughlin defeated N. J. McLeod, 7 and 5; Ivan Webster defeated T. A. Ballantyne, 1 up, 20 holes; John Dole won from Dr. E. A. Schmuck by default; A. J. Samuelson defeated James McGinnis, 8 and 7; R. G. Brennan defeated Milton Connell, 3 and 2; Tom Hunter defeated C. V. Williams, 6 and 5; Howard B. Maguire defeated Martin McMahon, 5 and 4; Walter C. Crowds defeated Glen Clarke, 7 and 6; Al Lesperance defeated Lee Thilges, 3 and 2; Joseph N. McDonald defeated W. W. Schoff, 6 and 5; George R. West defeated Stanley Willett, 7 and 5.

Second Round—Sweet defeated Burroughs, 2 up; Rautenbusch defeated Chandler, 6 and 5; O. H. Hunter defeated McLaughlin, 5 and 4; Webster defeated Dole, 2 and 1; Samuelson defeated Brennan, 2 up; Maguire defeated T. Hunter, 1 up, 20 holes; Crowds defeated Lesperance, 4 and 2; McDonald defeated West, 2 up.

W. Rautenbusch was in fine form the next morning; his score of 69 equaled the record set by "Chick" Evans, Jr., and put him 10 up on Art B. Sweet at the end of the first eighteen holes. He was satisfied to play for halves in the afternoon, and finally won his match 9 and 8.

Joe McDonald succeeded in defeating W. Crowds by 1 up after being 4 up in the morning. Following are the results of the third round:

W. Rautenbusch defeated A. Sweet, 9 and 8; C. H. Hunter defeated Ivan Webster, 2 and 1; A. J. Samuelson defeated H. Maguire, 4 and 3; J. McDonald defeated W. Crowds, 1 up.

In the semi-finals W. Rautenbusch, Garfield Park, defeated O. H. Hunter after being down all the way to the twenty-ninth hole; he then won the next two holes, and finished 3 and 1 on his opponent.

J. N. McDonald won his match in this round by default from A. J. Samuelson, as it was necessary for the latter to withdraw on account of business.

The final battle between McDonald and Rautenbusch was quite exciting as the winner was 4 down at the end of the morning round, and he had only gained one hole going out in the afternoon, which left him 3 down at the last turn. From that point, however, he played fine golf, and by finishing the last nine holes in 34 was able to start the thirty-sixth hole 1 up. McDonald made a grand effort to win when he drove hole-high on the last hole but off to one side of the green. His approach lay within a foot of the hole, but he could get no better than a halve at this hole, as Rautenbusch holed his putt from ten feet for a 3, which gave him the match.

The Jackson Park Cup, the second flight trophy, went to R. D. Wolf of Jackson Park, who defeated his clubmate, M. N. Moren, by 4 and 3.

Hobart Hoge of Jackson Park won the consolation trophy, defeating Lee Thilges of the same club by 1 up.

WESTERN INTERSCHOLASTIC CHAMPIONSHIP.

Robert Markwell of New Trier High School, Kenilworth, Ill., scored a sparkling victory in the thirty-six-hole final match for the Western interscholastic golf championship, staged at the Ravisloe Country Club of Chicago, defeating Harold D'Ancona, the University High aspirant, by the score of 8 and 6. The tournament opened June 29 and continued to July 2.

Both of the finalists held club titles. Markwell, who was a senior at New Trier and will consequently be unable to defend the title this year, was the champion of the Lake Shore Country Club, while young D'Ancona had captured the Ravisloe leadership. The New Trier team, with Markwell as a member, also won the Cook County high school team championship during the spring of 1914.

Bradford Smith of Hyde Park High School led the contingent of fifty-two "prep" golfers in the qualifying round with a card of 79. He took 39 going out and 40 from the turn. The Ravisloe par is 75. Young Smith was presented with a handsome bronze cup in lieu of the customary medal.

Hubert Snively of Hyde Park won the second flight trophy with a crushing victory over Horace McDougall of Calumet High, winning by the one-sided score of 14 and 12. Maurice Loeb, University High, took the championship consolation prize, defeating Carroll Cornack, New Trier, 9 and 7. The second flight consolation went to Reuben Shields, Blue Island, who defeated M. Gross, Thornton, 7 and 6. The summaries in the championship play were:

Qualifying Round—Bradford Smith, Hyde Park, 39, 40—79; William Tansey, Bowen, 39, 41—80; Hobart Hoge, Hyde Park, 41, 40—81; Maurice Loeb, University

Semi-finals—Markwell defeated Gentles, 4 and 3; D'Ancona defeated Crowds, 3 and 2.

WESTERN JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Chicago Golf Club, Wheaton, Ill.

John M. Simpson of Galesburg led the field in the qualifying round of the above championship with a well-played 76. His victory was short lived, however, as he was eliminated by Charles F. Grimes in the first round by the large margin of 5 and 4. Grimes ultimately won the championship. Summary:

Qualifying scores—John Simpson, Galesburg, 76; Lester Mason, Jackson Park, 78; Hobart Hoge, Jackson Park, 81; Walter Crowds, Flossmoor, 81; Julian Crowds, Hyde Park, 82; Tom B. ## Olympic Cup Competition

Held at Kent Country Club, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The Western Golf Association did not enter a team in the Olympic cup competition, held the Saturday prior to the Western amateur championship, and the result was in doubt until the last pair turned in their cards. Had William Alden Smith, Jr., of the Michigan team not blown, taking an 89 in the afternoon, the poorest he has ever played his home course, the Wolverines might have won the massive trophy notwithstanding Fraser Hale's great 70. The Central Illinois Golf Association changed from C. L. Weems to Noah Dixon, who took 87 where Weems, playing a scoring round informally, got a 77. Had Weems played on the team, they would have won.

As it was, the Chicago District Golf Association quartette finished three points in the lead over the Intercollegiate team and six ahead of Michigan. Fraser Hale had the best individual score—146—being followed closely by John Simpson of Galesburg with 148.

Much interest attached to the event, in which ten teams were entered, with the team scores resulting as follows:

Chicago District G.A.—Fraser Hale, 76, 70—146; Kenneth P. Edwards, 75, 78—153; J. C. Le Duc, 77, 87—164; E. H. Bankard, Jr., 83, 82—165. Total, 628.

Intercollegiate G.A.—W. H. Gardner, 77, 75—152; E. P. Allis, 3rd, 80, 79—159; J. W. Hubbell, 79, 80—159; John Heyburn, 79, 82—161. Total, 631.

Michigan G.A.—Howard B. Lee, 80, 74—154; James D. Standish, Jr., 75, 77—152; Phil Stanton, 82, 77—159; Wm. Alden Smith, Jr., 80, 89—169. Total, 634.

Central Illinois G.A.—John Simpson, 73, 75—148; Howard Walton, 75, 80—155; Geo. W. Bunn, Jr., 84, 85—169; Noah Dixon, 87, 79—166. Total, 638.

Detroit City G.A.—Guy A. Miller, 84, 78—162; L. L. Bredin, 83, 81—164; Raymond Russel, 84, 80—164; T. Worden Hunter, 88, 78—166. Total, 656.

Western Interscholastic G.A.—H. Grinnell, 82, 78—160; Robert Markwell, 80, 80—160; Moritz Loeb, 89, 77—166; H. D'Ancona, 87, 89—176. Total, 662.

Nebraska G.A.—John W. Hughes, 83, 76—159; Albert Cahn, Sr., 79, 85—164; Ray Low, 87, 83—170; Frank W. Hale, 87, 84—171. Total, 664.

Trans-Mississippi G.A.—W. J. Foye, 82, 81—163; John D. Cady, 82, 83—165; Morgan Nugent, 85, 84—169; Eddie Limberg, 87, 83—170. Total, 667.

Ohio G.A.—Prescott Bush, 83, 73—156; De Witt Balch, 80, 87—167; George R. Balch, 89, 80—169; D. S. Gray, 90, 93—183. Total, 675.

Wisconsin G.A.—Phil Swift, 82, 85—167; G. W. Mosher, 81, 86—167; Gordon Yule, 77, 91—168; Louis Allis, 81, 92—173. Total, 675.

CHAMPIONSHIP COMPETITION.

Held at the Evanston Golf Club, Kansas City, Mo.

The door at last opened for Jack Cady of Moline when his persistent knocking was rewarded by his receiving the blue ribbon of the association at Kansas City. The entry was the largest in the history of the association, some 319 being received. They did not all start. Surprises were the order of the tourney, and one after another of the cracks were eliminated to the chagrin of the dopsters, who never like to see their slate broken. Harry Legg of Minneapolis was the medallist. Summary:

Qualifying scores—Harry G. Legg, Minikahda, 150; S. W. Reynolds, Omaha, 155; H. C. Campbell, Kansas City, 158; Carl O. Anderson, Lawrence, 160; R. J. Campbell, Evanston, 161; R. S. ### CHAMPIONSHIP COMPETITION.

Held at the Memphis Country Club, Buntyn, Tenn.

Nelson Whitney for the fourth time captured the Southern title, defeating the fifteen-year-old phenomenon Percy Adair by a considerable margin. Adair was the sensation of the tourney, he defeating the Texas champion, that old long-driving Yale crack, G. V. Rotan of Waco, in the semi-finals by 4 and 3. Another match he had was with his father, George Adair, the moving spirit of golf in Atlanta, who could not move fast nor far enough to defeat his youngster and had to take his first licking from his son in competition. The match went to the nineteenth hole. Summary:

OHIO STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held on the course of the Mayfield Country Club, Cleveland, Ohio,
September 19.

The eleventh annual meet of the Ohio association attracted a record entry of 138, the only absentee of note being Harold Weber of Toledo. Two days were occupied in qualifying and the result was a triple tie for the medal score between J. K. Bole, C. H. Stanley and R. H. Crowell at 157. Bole found the going rather easy, winning every match by a large margin, finally meeting R. Hogen of Willowick in the last match of the championship and decisively defeating him by 10 and 9.

In the other events the winners were: Mayfield Flight—C. C. Bolton, Mayfield, defeated Judge Balch of Cincinnati 6 and 5.

Ohio Flight—J. F. Clarke, Canton, defeated B. P. Lechner, Willowick, 2 and 1.

Buckeye Flight—W. H. Zay, Dayton, defeated J. H. Kline, Mayfield, 5 and 4.

The team championship was won by the Mayfield Club, their team composed of Messrs. Bole, Bingham, Crowell and Bolton amassing a total of 651 strokes, as against 675 for the Country Club team, and 772 for the Cincinnati Golf Club team.

In the open event for professionals, which was run off ahead of the amateur event, H. C. Lagerblade, the homebred from Youngstown, gave his Scotch and English brethren all a scare by romping in an easy winner by 4 shots. Lagerblade never had played the Mayfield course until he came for the tournament and his performance was a remarkably good one. Arthur Smith of Columbus, former western open champion, was third with 153, and W. H. Way of Mayfield fourth with 155. Mr. Joseph Bole led the amateurs with 78, 82—160, only two others handing in cards. Other leading scores were:

A. Auchterlonie, Springfield, 162; J. H. Taylor, Canton, 164; J. Nicholl, Dayton, 166; D. Mentiply, Cincinnati, 166; D. K. White, Keswick, 167; Joe Mitchell, Country, 167; J. Alves, Oakwood, 169; Mr. C. H. Stanley, Country, 170; Mr. G. L. Fordyce, Youngstown, 171.

MINNESOTA CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Northland Country Club, Duluth, Minn.

Minnesota has a new state golf champion for the first time in seven years and R. S. Patrick of the Northland Country Club, Duluth, realized his golfing ambition and that of his club when he won the honor from Harry Legg of Minikabda, seven times the holder, in the final round of the fourteenth annual state tournament.

Patrick won the match because he played the better golf, in fact unbeatable golf, for he played the thirty-two holes of the match, which he won on the fourteenth green in the second round, 5 and 4, in one over fours for the entire day's play. The morning round of eighteen holes he played in 73, with a 7 and a 6, and the afternoon he played even fours. Such playing is as near perfect as is possible, two shots to a green and two putts—and it cannot be beaten.

Legg did not play the game of which he is capable, a fact which does not in any way detract from Patrick's win, nor discount his victory, for had

WISCONSIN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Kenosha Country Club, Kenosha, Wis.

E. P. Allis, 3rd. of Milwaukee won the Wisconsin championship on August 15 by defeating R. P. Cavanagh of Kenosha, state golf champion, 6 and 5. This gives Allis the title for the third time and puts him on even terms with Cavanagh, who is the only other golfer to capture this event three times. The summary follows:

Qualifying scores—E. P. Allis, 3rd. Milwaukee, 149; Gordon Yule, Kenosha, 151; Fred Zwaska, Blue Mound, 156; A. R. Hinckley, Blue Mound, 156; J. R. Anderson, Kenosha, 157; Price M. ## MICHIGAN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Detroit Country Club, July 23, 24, 25, 1914.

There were several favorites picked to win the big state tourney and naturally they were the fellows that had won it before or ones that had figured close to it, but never once did they concede Edwin H. Brown of the Detroit Country Club a chance. Mr. Brown fooled them all and proved his right to the honor of 1914 Michigan champ. Whether he is a better golfer, day in and day out, than several of the others is another question.

Difficulties of the Country Club course sent a lot of the scores sky high, as was shown at the outset, when only two got under 80 in the qualifying round, Louis Bredin leading the field with 77 and Jimmy Standish coming next with 79. Thayer McMillan was third at 81.

The semi-final matches were both keenly contested and brought out some very pretty golf, Brown winning from Bredin 2 and 1, Carhartt from H. B. Lee, 1 up, 19 holes. Carhartt won from Vincent in his match just before this one, 1 up, 19 holes, and the strain was proving too much. Brown won the finals from Carhartt, 5 and 4, 36 holes.

Last year's champion, Phil Stanton, was not on hand to defend his title. Summary:

Qualifying scores—L. L. Bredin, Detroit, 77; J. D. Standish, Jr., Detroit, 79; J. T. McMillan, Detroit, 81; B. Hopper, Kalamazoo, 83; V. D. Cliff, Detroit, 83; H. B. Lee, Detroit, 83; E. H. Brown, Detroit, 83; J. K. Bangs, Jr., Detroit, 83; Chester Fordney, Saginaw, 83; Hugh Vaughn, Bloomfield, 84; J. T. Wylie, Saginaw, 84; Wylie Carhartt, Detroit, 85; Henry Grinnell, Kent, 85; Worden Hunter, Detroit, 85; Raymond Russel, Detroit, 85; A. H. Vincent, Saginaw, 86.

First round—Bredin d. Fordney, 2 and 1; Grinnell d. Cliff, 1 up, 24 holes; McMillan d. Wylie, 1 up; Brown d. Russel, 2 and 1; Standish d. Vaughn, 4 and 2; Lee d. Hunter, 3 and 2; Carhartt d. Hopper, 4 and 2; Vincent d. Bangs, 3 and 1.

Second round—Bredin d. Grinnell, 1 up; Brown d. McMillan, 1 up; Lee d. Standish, 5 and 3; Carhartt d. Vincent, 1 up, 19 holes.

Semi-final round—Brown d. Bredin, 2 and 1; Carhartt d. Lee, 1st up, 19 holes.

Final round—Edwin H. Brown, Detroit, d. Wylie Carhartt, Detroit, 5 and 4.

Second flight—D. F. Altland, Detroit, d. F. B. Palmer, Detroit, 3 and 1.

Third flight—F. R. Van Dusen, Detroit, d. T. S. O'Brien, Bloomfield, 3 and 2.

WOMEN'S MICHIGAN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

By H. H. H.

The Detroit Country Club was the scene of Michigan's first annual Women's Golf Championship, September 16, 17, 18, 19, 1914, which was won by Mrs. John W. Case of the Detroit Golf Club. Her clubmate, Mrs. J. M. Livsey, was the runner-up, and only after an extra hole had been played and the last putt downed did they know the winner. It is very unusual for the finalists in a tournament of this caliber to be from the same club. This goes to show, however, that the Detroit Golf Club is giving attention to development of the lady players.

1, Wm. Marshall, Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill.; 2, S. Gardner, Old Elm Club, Fort Sheridan, Ill.; 3, George O'Neil, Beverly Country Club, Chicago; 4, Albert Kam, Winnepeg; 5, Bob Peebles.

1, George Turpie, New Orleans, La.; 2, Tom Vardon, Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill.; 3, Al Naylor, Idlewild Country Club, Flossmoor, Ill.; 4, Arthur Clarkson, Highland Golf Club, Indianapolis, Ind.

Most of the golf clubs of the state were represented, although the last out-of-town player to survive was Mrs. Rollin Owens of Grand Rapids Highlands Country Club, who was eliminated in the semi-finals of the championship flight by Mrs. Livsey, while at the same time the Detroit Country Club's hope, Miss Dorothy Hutchinson, was defeated by Mrs. Case.

It was a matter of coming from behind and squaring the match and then superbly keeping on her game that Mrs. Case was enabled to finish with flying colors.

President A. B. Caldwell of the State Golf Association, who handled the tournament, was exceedingly gratified and paid the competitors a high compliment for their promptness in appearing for their matches and for their good sportsmanship.

That evening, after the tournament, there was a supper, followed by the organization of the Michigan Women's Golf Association, which will take charge of annual tournaments in future seasons. The officers elected are as follows:

President, Mrs. Hamilton Dey, Detroit Country Club; Vice-President, Mrs. John W. Case, Detroit Golf Club; Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Florence Bissell, Detroit Country Club. Directors—The officers: Miss Madge Miller, Kent Country Club, Grand Rapids; Mrs. Loveland, Kalamazoo Country Club.

MICHIGAN OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Wilbur Oakes, professional, of the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, won the Michigan Open Championship of 1914, played over the Detroit Golf Club course August 28, 29.

It was 72 holes medal play competition, and the four cards turned in by Oakes totaled 304, eleven strokes better than his nearest competitor.

His best rounds were 74 and 73, only two others being able to beat his average score of 76—F. Lewis, 74 and A. V. Lee, Jr., 75.

The last day of play found the course very heavy from rains during the night before and many good scores were spoiled.

Archie Simpson, Sr., of the Detroit Country Club, with 315 won second

KENTUCKY STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Lexington Country Club, Lexington, Ky.

Bradford Eldredge, Ft. Mitchell, and the title holder had low score, 155, in the qualifying round for the Kentucky championship. John G. Heyburn, Louisville, was next with 157. The final was between John Marshall, Jr., and Alex Heyburn, both of Louisville, and the first named won by 12 and 10. Marshall played the morning round in 75 and was 8 up at noon. Heyburn put out Eldredge in the semi-finals by 5 and 4. Heyburn, accounting for Dr. A. Paul Bagby, Louisville, 6 and 5.

In the President's cup final P. H. Preston put out J. F. Byers by 2 and 1.

KANSAS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Salina Country Club.

Claude C. Adams of Hutchinson is once more the Kansas champion. Adams regained the title at the Salina Country Club, defeating in the final Walter Stinson, Wichita, by 2 up after having been 2 down at the end of the first hole. With a lead of 1 up at the 35th, Stinson missed an 18-inch putt for a half. He drove into the ditch at the next, losing the hole. On the home hole Adams laid his approach shot dead while Stinson was short of the green. Adams earned his right to play in the final by eliminating Lawrence Kinnear, the title holder, in the semi-finals while Stinson put out Grant Chamberlain, a former champion. Harlow Hurley, Topeka, made a new course record of 72 in the qualifying round, but was put out in the first round, 1 down, by Carl Anderson of Lawrence.

Lawrence won the team trophy with the total of 328, Topeka being second with 329. The President's cup was won by T. H. Griffith, Wichita, with the Secretary's cup going to F. Cole, Topeka.

At the annual meeting Frank W. Oliver, Wichita, was elected president; Grant Chamberlain, Hutchinson, vice-president; and Fred Robertson, Wichita, the secretary and treasurer. Wichita Country Club was awarded next year's event.

1, Arthur Boggs, Losantiville Country Club, Pleasant Ridge, O.; 2, William Nicholls; 3, Wilber Oakes, Bloomfield Hills Country Club, Detroit, Mich.; 4, David Wilson, Hartland, Wis.; 5, Willie Marshall, Onwentsia Club, Lake Forest, Ill.; 6, Jack Croke, Exmoor Country Club, Chicago; 7, Jack Way, Willowick Club, Wickliffe, Ohio; 8, W. Livie.

TEXAS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the San Antonio Country Club.

George V. Rotan of Waco retained his title as champion of Texas in the annual tourney, defeating G. N. Aldredge of Dallas Country Club rather handily by 8 and 7. The medal for low qualifying score was won by R. S. Kampmann of San Antonio. Rotan went into the final by defeating Kampmann 3 and 2, Aldredge securing another easy win, this time from Mangham by 7 and 6, this being his second by that margin.

C. M. Hubby, Jr., Waco, took home the Texas cup, J. B. Moore, Beaumont, being the runner-up. In the San Antonio cup final J. K. Dorrance, Houston, defeated Del Walker, Austin. Louis Jacoby and C. L. Dexter, Dallas, captured the club pair cup in the best ball contest, getting a score of 72.

Scores in the qualifying round were high owing to the very bad weather that prevailed. Match rounds on some days were played with the bunkers full of water, and the depressions on the fairways and putting greens were miniature ponds that defied a long roll to the ball.

OKLAHOMA CHAMPIONSHIP.

Frank Moore of Tulsa won the Oklahoma championship at Bartlesville, defeating in the final Judge J. B. Furry of Muskogee by 7 and 6. Stockton Porter, a 14-year-old Indian boy from Muskogee, defeated Frank Breen of Bartlesville by 6 and 5 in the class B final. Young Porter did not begin playing golf until a week before the tournament. Dr. S. R. Cunningham, Oklahoma City, won the President's cup, defeating Stoffers of Tulsa by 10 and 8. The Secretary's cup went to H. C. Moore, Bartlesville, who put out Murphy, Tulsa, in the final by 8 and 7.

Moore made a new champion a certainty when he defeated A. K. West, the title holder, in the semi-finals by 3 and 1. George Frederickson, Oklahoma City, won the qualifying score prize with the card of 82, being later elected president of the state association. William Nichols, Muskogee, won first money in the professional event with the total of 152, Chester Nelson, Oklahoma City, being second with 155.

1, Dave Hunter; 2, Walter G. Fovargue, Skokie Country Club, Glencoe, Ill.; 3, Jimmy Simpson; 4, Bob Simpson; 5, Ralph Healy, West Baden Springs, Ind.; 6, Archie Simpson, Jr., Detroit Country Club; 7, W. H. Way, Euclid Club, Cleveland; 8, "Bod" Thompson.

Golf in the Middle West

TOM BENDELOW.

The progress of the game of golf in the western country is remarkably steady and well maintained and last year was no exception to the rule. More courses were laid out in nearly every state and activity at the various clubs was greater than ever. One thing, however, to be deplored, and which shows a falling off, was the number of open tournaments held at the various large clubs, there being a tendency to discourage such a practice as much as possible. No doubt there is a reason for this, as in many cases they were too prolonged, taking up in some cases four days and encroaching on to Saturday, one of the few days for the club member to enjoy himself. We believe the purpose would have been served infinitely better at open tournaments had the clubs commenced a day earlier and stopped on a Friday instead of a Saturday. This would have done away with the criticism which prevailed in a great measure because of the tournaments lapping over to Saturday and thus interfering with the only day a great many of the club members have for their recreation. Another thing which has fallen off in the Middle West almost entirely is inter-club matches. There was a time when this form of sport was largely indulged in and very much enjoyed. It promoted a healthy rivalry among clubs and in club districts, but now one hears nothing more of them. Those who have the interests of the sport at heart, I am sure, should endeavor to once again revive the healthy rivalry which existed in bygone days by seeing to it that this inter-club play is once more indulged in, thereby broadening the scope of association and healthful exercise.

The quality of golf played to-day shows marked advancement all around, and in the major event of the year, which was held at Grand Rapids—the Western Championship—"Chick" Evans demonstrated what a master he is in the game by compiling scores for the week which have never been equaled in the West, his average being for the week's play 71 and a fraction. He was certainly head and shoulders above everyone else, although J. K. Bole, that old war horse from Cleveland, gave him a great surprise in the first round of the championship, only being beat at the twenty-first hole. Another stiff match he had was with "Ned" Sawyer, but as Sawyer has not had very much opportunity for play this last year or so, it was plainly evident that Evans would win handily. In the finals with James Standish, one of the Michigan "cracks," he led all the way, winning handily by something like 10 up. Every department of Evans' game was delightful to see and his precision was simply remarkable.

In the Women's Western Championship, held at Hinsdale, a new champion appeared, she coming from outside the Chicago district. Mrs. Henry Hammond hails from Indianapolis and was Indianapolis champion for 1913. She is a woman of splendid physique and plays a remarkably steady game. No doubt about it that she will be heard from as time goes on, as she has been improving daily under the tutelage of Lee Nelson at the Highland Park Golf Club, Indianapolis.

1, John F. Neville, Pacific Northwest Amateur Champion; 2, Tom Bendelow, at Santa Cruz, Cal., playing the 9th hole.

1, H. J. Harris, Inverness Club, Toledo, Ohio; 2, John Caldwell, Professional, Midland Valley Club, St. Louis, Mo.; 3, George McLean.

The Interlachen Country Club was the scene of the open championship of the West, and owing to the fact that the United States Golf Association open championship was held at Midlothian, quite a number of the entrants in the major event stopped over and took the journey out West. The course is in pretty good shape, although the presence of trees militated in a great measure from a real championship test being the outcome, as the element of luck entered very largely into a great many of the plays. The winner turned up in the person of "Jim" Barnes of the Whitmarsh Valley Country Club, who led William Kidd of the Algonquin Club of St. Louis by one stroke. It was the trees in reality which penalized Kidd. However, one can argue that the chances were alike to everyone—be that as it may, the fact still remains.

In the Olympic Competition, held previous to the Western Amateur, at the Kent Country Club, the Western Golf Association did not enter a team, but the Chicago City Golf Association entered a team comprised of Joseph Le Duc, Fraser Hale, E. H. Bankard and Kenneth Edwards, who succeeded in once again keeping that trophy in the Chicago district.

Regarding public golf, it is still booming and with a movement on foot to have a car line running out to Marquette Park, where there is an eighteen-hole golf course laid out by the South Park commissioners of some 6,400 yards, a very inaccessible golfing spot would be brought more and more into requisition and thus assist in lessening the congestion which occurs at Jackson Park, which is practically being overrun. It is estimated that over two hundred thousand tickets were given out during the past season for golfers to pursue the game. This is simply an example, and it is nothing out of the way for golfers to be there at three o'clock on summer mornings and find that there is a line waiting to start off. This state of affairs has been brought to the notice of the various park commissioners of the city and a movement is now on foot to lay out a course in Lincoln Park, the writer having already submitted plans for this purpose. On the West Side also President Fred McGrower has intimated his willingness to have a course at Warren Woods if the matter of transportation can be simplified, all of which will go to make up in the near future what we believe to be the greatest public golfing center in the country. Public golf courses and their maintenance are being taken up by park commissioners in nearly every large town now, and it will not be very long before there will not be a city in this western country which cannot boast of either a nine- or eighteen-hole public golf course.

PUBLIC GOLF AROUND CHICAGO.

AL LESPERANCE.

Golf on the public links around Chicago and in fact all over the United States is becoming more and more popular every year, the number of people who take advantage of these courses increases tremendously, and it is necessary for one who wishes to play a round before noon to get up very early in the morning.

1, Harry Collis, Homewood Country Club, Flossmoor, Ill.; 2, Willie Kidd, Algonquin Golf Club, Kirkwood, Mo.; 3, Arner C. Tollifson, Wheaton (Ill.) Golf Club; 4, John Dickson; 5, Frank Adams, French Lick, Ind.; 6, E. Garre, Ottawa (Ill.) Golf Club; 7, Bob Henderson, Butte, Mont., S.; J. R. McNulty, La Grange (Ill.) Country Club; 9, D. Livie, Lake Geneva (Wis.) Country Club.

All of the clubs that have been formed at the public parks are in a flourishing condition and they are turning out a great number of fine players. One of the finest players to learn his golf on the public links is W. Rautenbusch of the Garfield Park Club of Chicago, who after giving Ned Sawyer a scare in the first round at Grand Rapids in the western amateur championship, came to the city tournament in Chicago and played an average of 73 for eight rounds, winning the first prize.

His next performance was in the National open championship, where he had two rounds of 78 and 77 to qualify, and followed this with four rounds of 76, 75, 75, 75, a total of 301.

The last nine holes of the New Marquette Park course were opened for play last spring and this addition was well patronized.

As usual, the courses at Jackson Park were crowded all day long, and the number of tickets given out was greater than ever.

The Lincoln Park Board have started things moving toward a nine-hole course in this park on the north side of Chicago. This course will be over 3,000 yards in length and will be located just north of Diversey Beach. The length of the holes will be about as follows: Hole No. 1, 550 yards in length, going due north; hole No. 2, 210 yards long, a good one-shot hole going toward the lake; hole No. 3, about 385 yards in length, due south, alongside of the lake. The fourth hole will be about 300 yards long and will be of a dog-leg variety. Hole No. 5 is a good length, about 400 yards. Holes 6 and 7 are fine, one-shot holes 165 yards and 190 yards long. The eighth hole is a good two-shot hole, 430 yards in length. The ninth hole will run alongside of the eighth in the opposite direction, about 365 yards long.

The above course will be ready for play about the spring of 1916, if things progress as favorably as they have for the past month.

AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP OF COOK COUNTY.

Previous Winners—1912, Ralph S. Scott, Jackson Park; 1913, C. E. Prouty, Illinois Golf Club.

Walt Crowdus, the young Flossmoor star, won the Amateur Championship of Cook County, played over the Garfield Park course September 9-11. In addition to capturing the title and the championship cup, Crowdus also got a leg on the massive trophy presented for a three-time winner by A. G. Spalding & Bros.

In the 36-hole final the former Hyde Park captain defeated Garrett Larkin of Westward Ho, 9 and 7. Despite a chilly day, almost a hundred players competed in the qualifying round, which was won by "Big Bill" Rautenbusch, the city champion, with a fine 63. This was four strokes ahead of Robert Shealy and five below Matt Kelly, the Cook County Open Champion. Crowdus was sixth with a 69, and tied with Jack Watts, the Scotch footballer. A 72 was the highest score to qualify, five tying for last place in the championship flight.

The biggest surprise of the tournament came in the first round of match play when Rautenbusch was eliminated by John Humphreys, a fourteen-year-old southpaw schoolboy. This came as a severe shock to many who had picked "Big Bill" to win the title. The week previous Rautenbusch had finished eleventh in the National Open at Midlothian. "Bill" was a little off his game and young Humphreys, going at top speed, managed to win 2 and 1. In an exciting match that went three extra holes Dr. Code of Westward Ho defeated S. Ryan of Garfield Park. Larkin swamped R. Morris of St. Paul, 9 and 8. Rob Roy gave Crowdus a hard match, only losing 2 and 1. Kelly, the open champion, won easily, 5 and 4.

The second round saw the end of Humphreys, Larkin disposing of him 6 and 5 without much difficulty. Andrew Humphreys, a brother of John, defeated Watts by 3 and 1.

Another surprise developed when Walt Crowdus won from Kelly, the open champion, 6 and 4. Kelly was the favorite for the title, and a closer match had been expected. After halving the first hole, Crowdus won the next three and finally ended the match on the fourteenth green.

Dr. Code was forced to succumb to the superior playing of O. L. Lind, the latter winning 3 and 2.

The semi-finals proved to be very closely fought. In the Larkin-Humphreys match, the card showed all square at the turn. Coming in, Larkin won the eleventh and the thirteenth, the latter with a fine 2. Humphreys won the sixteenth, leaving him 1 and 2. The last two holes were halved, Larkin winning 1 up.

Crowdus started out at top speed and was 4 up at the end of the sixth, but here Lind found himself, and, taking a brace, won the next four holes in succession, while Crowdus took a bad slump. This left the match all square at the tenth. Crowdus won the eleventh with a 3, 1 under par, but Lind came right back on the twelfth and did the same, again squaring the match. Both drove the thirteenth green, but Lind took 3 putts and lost. Crowdus also won the next, and was 2 up; halving the fifteenth and a win on the sixteenth gave Crowdus the match, 3 and 2.

A large gallery watched the finals. Larkin and Crowdus halved the first hole in 5, but the latter had the first bit of luck at the second, a two-foot styxie giving him the lead. An extra putt lost the fourth hole for Larkin, and he dropped the sixth on a short approach. A short drive at the eighth hole, 175 yards, cost him the eighth hole. He was having a bad time at the even holes, dropping all of them and being 4 down at the end of the first round.

Larkin scored his first win at the second hole of the second round, his opponent rinning an eleven-footer, while the Westward Ho man was down in 3. Crowdus sent his drive to the 219-yard third green and was down in 3. Again at the fourth he was on, eight feet away for a 3. His masbie pitch to the sixth was over the gravel walk, out of bounds, which cost the hole, as Larkin was down in par 4. Crowdus drove hole-high at the eighth and rolled a twenty-six-footer dead, Larkin being short. Crowdus was 5 up at the halfway mark.

Larkin grew unsteady as the game progressed, and took 39 for the third round. Crowdus, with the exception of a 5 at the short third hole, maintained an even gait. He was home in 35 and had a lead of 7 up when they began the last round.

Larkin opened by pulling his drives to the trees and putting his second out of bounds. His third was short, and he eventually found the cup in 7. Crowdus took 4 and won the next hole, 4—6, giving him the match and the championship. The cards:

Crowdus .....	5	4	3	3	3	4	4	3	3—32
Larkin .....	5	5	3	4	3	5	4	4	3—36
Crowdus .....	5	4	3	3	4	5	4	3	4—35—67
Larkin .....	5	3	4	4	4	4	5	4	4—37—73
Crowdus .....	4	4	5	3	3	4	5	3	4—35
Larkin .....	5	5	4	4	5	3	5	5	3—39

Crowdus, 4, 4; Larkin, 7, 6.

In the second flight, Norman McLeod and Paul Burnett had a close contest, but the former showed a flash of speed in the fourth round, winning five of the seven holes played and taking the match 3 and 2. Burnett took a lead of 2 up at the start and held it for three rounds. In the second flight semi-finals, F. P. Burnett, Maywood, defeated J. M. Kennedy, Marshall High, 5 and 4. Norman McLeod, Garfield Park, defeated Lloyd Gullicksen, Jackson Park, 1 up, 19 holes.

FIRST FLIGHT.

First round—J. H. Humphreys, Crane H. S., d. Wm. Rautenbusch, Garfield Park, 2 and 1; G. T. Larkin, Westward Ho, d. R. Morris, St. Paul, 9 and 8; A. Humphreys, Crane H. S., d. R. Shealy, Garfield Park, 4 and 3; J. Watt, St. Andrews, won from H. Terlschmidt, Minneapolis, by default; Matt Kelly, Garfield Park, d. F. M. Murphy, Garfield Park, 5 and 4; Walt Crowdus, Flossmoor, d. Rob Roy, Garfield Park, 2 and 1; O. L. Lind, Garfield Park, d. T. F. McWalters, Harlem, 1 up; Dr. W. E. Code, Westward Ho, d. S. M. Ryan, Garfield Park, 1 up, 21 holes. Second round—Larkin d. Humphreys, 6 and 5; A. Humphreys d. Watt, 3 and 1; Crowdus d. Kelly, 6 and 4; Lind d. Code, 3 and 2. Semi-final round—Larkin d. Humphreys, 1 up; Crowdus d. Lind, 3 and 2.

Final Round—Walter C. Crowdus, Flossmoor, d. Garrett M. Larkin, Westward Ho, 9 and 7.

SECOND FLIGHT.

First round—C. F. Wickham, University of Illinois, d. J. Ingwersen, Wendell Phillips H. S., 3 and 2; J. M. Kennedy, Marshall H. S., d. N. Morris, Garfield, 5 and 4; S. O. Burroughs, Jackson Park, d. C. C. Jones, Jackson Park, 8 and 7; F. P. Burnett, Maywood, d. Julian Crowder, Hyde Park H. S., 2 up; N. J. McLeod, Garfield, d. G. Jones, Marquette Park, 6 and 5; R. Bieghler, Garfield, d. E. T. Coyne, Garfield, 2 and 1; L. Gullicksen, Bowen H. S., d. M. J. Solen, Marquette Park, 4 and 3; J. G. Sanford, Jackson Park, d. E. F. McGrath, University of Chicago, 2 up. Second round—Kennedy d. Wickham, 3 and 2; Burnett d. Burroughs, 1 up; McLeod d. Bieghler, 1 up; Gullicksen d. Sanford, 1 up. Semi-final round—Burnett d. Kennedy, 5 and 4; McLeod d. Gullicksen, 1 up, 19 holes.

Final round—Norman J. McLeod, Garfield Park, d. Paul Burnett, Maywood, 3 and 2.

CHICAGO DISTRICT GOLF ASSOCIATION CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Ravisloe Country Club, Homewood, Ill.

Charles Evans, Jr., had pretty easy sailing to annex the Chicago District Association title. His scoring was quite remarkable, and taking into consideration the length of the course and its hazardous nature it was a feat worthy of a Vardon. He led his nearest competitor, R. A. Gardner, by 17 shots. The following are the scores and comparative cards of Evans and Gardner's record score:

DETROIT AND VICINITY.

By H. H. H.

Golf is enjoyed in Detroit the year around in some form or other, indoors or outdoors, whichever the individual chooses, and there are many that go South in winter to keep in trim for the tournaments. Good roads and street car service enable the different club members to enjoy an exchange of courtesies in playing over the different courses in the vicinity of Detroit. Among the clubs most frequently visited in this way are the Detroit Country Club at Grosse Pointe; the Detroit Golf Club, in Highland Park; Bloomfield Hills Country Club, on the Pontiac electric line at Bloomfield Center; Essex Golf and Country Club, south of Windsor, Ontario; Grosse Ile Golf and Country Club, on Grosse Ile; Phoenix Golf Club, on the Orchard Lake electric line; Red Run Golf Club, in Royal Oak; Mount Clemens Golf Club, in Mt. Clemens; Port Huron Golf Club, in Port Huron, and the Ann Arbor Golf Club, in Ann Arbor.

There are frequent matches between these various clubs and minor tournaments going on all the time, but the big attraction each year is the Detroit Golf Association Championship Tournament, which is open to the members.

Unfortunately for a great number, Detroit has no public golf course, and the prospect of getting one seems to be a long way off, although the matter has been taken up for discussion many times from year to year. This class of golfers are determined to have a course before much longer, however, and if they keep growing in numbers as they have in the last year or so, in making their demands, something will have to drop for them.

The season of 1915 golf in Detroit promises to be a record-breaker since the national amateur championship was awarded to the Detroit Country Club. As soon as word arrived that the blue ribbon event of the country would be held in Detroit there was new life in golfing circles, despite the fact that it was in January. Indications are that Detroit was favored above all others for the big tourney, as the question was settled unanimously, with such clubs backing her as Apawamis, Arcola, Baltimore Country Club, Baltusrol, Beverly, Brae Burn, Brooklawn, Chicago, Colorado Springs, Columbia, Atlantic City, Chevy Chase, Brookline, Buffalo and Lakewood, which should insure an unusually large entry.

It will be a stupendous achievement for any of Detroit's golfers to beat the pick of the nation's amateurs in this event, but there are several players of top class who, with the advantage of being on their home links, and the breaks in their favor, should make a strong bid.

There were five Detroiters in the 1914 U. S. G. A. ratings that are handicapped five or less—Joseph B. Schlotman, James D. Standish, Jr., Howard B. Lee, J. T. McMillan and Gilbert Waldo. It is believed that the 1915 handicaps will find other Detroiters in or under the five class. Wylie Carhartt, E. H. Brown, present Michigan champion; Louis Bredin, and Worden Hunter are among others that are eligible locals for the National. There were 17 golfers in the country who had lower handicaps than any Detroiters, according to the 1914 U. S. G. A. list; so even if conditions were equitable in the matter of total entries the home talent would be on the short end of the betting. Among the big attractions of Detroit golf in the near future will be the new 36-hole course in Palmer Park at the Detroit Golf Club. The growth of this club is very interesting, and the present facts concerning it show co-operation of members and officers from the start. In the season of 1899-1900 the club was organized and occupied grounds in Highland Park not far from the present location. The old course was worked up into fine shape, where many a tournament was held that will be remembered by golfers from all parts, and little did any one think of the club attaining any better conditions, everything was in such ideal order. The one big point that was not satisfactory to all concerned was the fact that the club did not own the land they were on, nor could see future prospects of obtaining it. Within a few years of that time the opportunity for the club to start on a plan to own their property presented itself, and it was then and there that the members and officers of the Detroit Golf Club started on the biggest project that has ever been known concerning golf clubs. Everything pertaining to moving to the new property and the laying out of the course was carefully planned and carried out. The two-story clubhouse, finished off with brown shingles, was put at the edge of a large grove, with the tennis courts, driveways, number one tee and the eighteenth green at perfectly appointed places. This new club in Palmer Park developed rapidly and grew in favor to such an extent that it was necessary to put a limit of three hundred to the membership, which was always filled and had a long waiting list. The course of eighteen holes was made very sporty by throwing up bunkers fourteen feet high, besides including the usual traps, elbow holes and ditches. Although the clubhouse is within a pleasant walking distance of the Woodward Street cars, there is a bus service from the car line to the club, and it is thirty minutes by street car from the heart of the city. Plans were formulated early in 1914 for the purchase of the land on which the present course was laid out and 130 acres additional to the west. The membership will be increased to 600 active members, and no doubt will fill up immediately. Besides having the only 36-hole course in this part of the country to play over, the members of this club will have a practice ground 100 yards wide and 250 yards long. The blue prints of the new course also show that the holes will cross ditches eighteen times, and these ditches are not of small proportion; some of the holes are parallel, the long ones and short ones well mixed—there will be over 6,400 yards in the first eighteen and over 6,100 in the other eighteen holes. Ernest Way, the professional of this club, will have an assistant professional, since practically every member of the club plays golf. The successful carrying out of the plans is largely due to the efforts of President A. J. Hood and H. H. Rackham.

The season of 1914 was very active for the Detroit Golf Club and will be recorded among the red-letter years of its history.

Besides the numerous inter-club tournaments, the Michigan Open Championship and Detroit Golf Association tourneys were held at this club, and everyone joined in the praise of the condition of the course.

DETROIT CITY GOLF ASSOCIATION.

Fourth Annual Tournament.

The 1914 city championship was played on the same basis as that of the "open" tourney, medal play competition of 72 holes. All other players were drawn in flights of sixteen, according to their scores in the qualifying round, and played eighteen holes match play in their respective flights.

Since this tournament was on the same days of the "open," August 27, 28, 29, and at the Detroit Golf Club, the arrangement allowed amateurs to enter both events. Howard B. Lee, who finished third in the open with 316, won the city championship by the small margin of two strokes from L. L. Bredin with 318. Bredin was going nicely, but something happened and when on the last 18 holes, four strokes behind, he evened up on the tenth, then took two sixes for a total of 41 for the last nine, which proved fatal. A. V. Lee, Jr., and Worden Hunter were the only others to finish, scoring 329 and 330 respectively. E. H. Brown with a 77 was low man qualifying on Thursday. The scores of the four who finished were:

H. B. Lee.....	82	79	76	79—316
L. L. Bredin.....	81	80	80	77—318
A. V. Lee, Jr.....	75	86	85	83—329
Worden Hunter .....	79	82	86	83—330

There were six flights played besides the championship event, and competition was so good that numerous extra hole contests were required. F. G. Skinner won the second flight, pulling through with a one-hole margin. H. T. Cole upheld the Detroit Country Club's honor by taking the third, while E. M. Smith was best in the fourth, Fred Stockwell in the fifth and R. A. Newman in the sixth.

SECOND FLIGHT.

First round—A. V. Lee d. George F. Smith, 4 and 3; C. C. Gilbert d. Hugh Vaughn, by default; H. A. Wallace d. Cullen Corliss, 5 and 4; George B. Renchard d. E. A. Sumner, 2 and 1; T. S. O'Brien d. J. E. Smith, 1 up; J. H. Murphy d. W. A. Farlow, 1 up; F. G. Skinner d. W. A. Moran, 5 and 4; N. B. Ackley d. H. N. Leonard, 2 and 1.

Second round—C. C. Gilbert d. A. V. Lee, 4 and 3; George B. Renchard d. H. A. Wallace, 4 and 3; J. H. Murphy d. T. S. O'Brien, 1 up, 19 holes; F. G. Skinner d. N. B. Ackley, 4 and 3.

Semi-final round—George B. Renchard d. C. C. Gilbert, 2 up; F. G. Skinner d. J. H. Murphy, 1 up.

Final round—F. G. Skinner d. George B. Renchard, 1 up.

Consolation final—J. E. Smith d. G. F. Smith, 2 and 1.

THIRD FLIGHT.

First round—J. H. Avery d. F. P. Smith, 2 and 1; A. D. Mitchell d. Max Strasburg, 4 and 3; W. H. Hutchins d. W. W. Clarke, 4 and 2; P. A. Macdonald d. C. B. Hull, 6 and 4; H. T. Cole d. V. N. Watling, 2 up; W. L. Holmes d. F. L. Klingensmith, by default; N. T. Brotherton d. B. Stroh, Jr., 2 up; E. M. Smith d. A. B. Caldwell, 4 and 3.

Second round—R. B. King d. J. L. Lee, 4 and 2; B. S. Warren d. C. B. Tuttle, 2 and 1; Wm. H. Smith d. W. L. Holmes, 2 up; E. M. Smith d. N. J. Brotherton, 2 and 1.

Semi-final round—B. S. Warren d. R. B. King, 4 and 3; E. M. Smith d. Wm. H. Smith, 2 and 1.

Final round—E. M. Smith d. B. S. Warren, 2 up Consolation final—W. D. Trump d. J. W. Watling, 5 and 3.

FIFTH FLIGHT.

First round—W. B. Colburn d. W. D. Walker, 2 up; F. O. Waldo d. W. C. Hartman, 2 up; E. R. Viger d. J. S. Rogers, 6 and 5; J. D. Bagley d. C. D. Morris, 2 up; T. Hunter d. C. S. Pike, by default; Fred Stockwell d. J. B. Corliss, 8 and 7; J. L. Stockard d. V. F. Dewey, 2 and 1; C. H. Bredin d. H. W. Taylor, 3 and 2.

Second round—W. B. Colburn d. F. O. Waldo, 4 and 2; J. D. Bagley d. E. R. Viger, 3 and 2; Fred Stockwell d. T. Hunter, by default; J. L. Stockard d. C. H. Bredin, 2 and 1.

Semi-final round—W. B. Colburn d. J. D. Bagley, 1 up; Fred Stockwell d. J. L. Stockard, 5 and 4.

Final round—Fred Stockwell d. W. B. Colburn, 1 up, 19 holes.

Consolation final—J. B. Corliss d. W. D. Walker, 4 and 3.

SIXTH FLIGHT.

First round—R. A. Newman d. H. T. Viger, 7 and 6; Stanton Clark d. H. Johnson, by default; Phil Rafferty d. W. T. Livingstone, 1 up, 19 holes; Alvan Macauley, Jr., d. G. C. Osterhouse, 4 and 3; A. Dickinson d. H. C. Rose, 3 and 2; G. C. Williams d. O. W. White, 2 and 1; W. S. Thompson d. C. W. Earle, 1 up, 19 holes; J. Cotner, Jr., d. H. R. Earle, 2 up.

Second round—R. A. Newman d. Stanton Clark, 2 and 1; Phil Rafferty d. Alvan Macauley, Jr., 3 and 2; G. C. Williams d. A. Dickinson, 1 up; J. Cotner, Jr., d. W. S. Thompson, 5 and 4.

Semi-final round—R. A. Newman d. Phil Rafferty, 3 and 1; J. Cotner, Jr., d. G. C. Williams, 3 and 2.

Final round—R. A. Newman d. J. Cotner, Jr., 1 up, 19 holes.

Consolation final—T. T. Viger d. O. W. White, 3 and 2.

GOLF AROUND INDIANAPOLIS.

One place where golf is booming is in the Hoosier town of Indianapolis. More activity has been displayed during the past year than in any previous one. The new country club course has been brought into play and the park commissioners have again demonstrated that they are alive to the needs of the people by extending the scope of the public courses.

Another factor which has had considerable influence was the win of Mrs. Henry Hammond in the Women's Western Championship—a fact which has stimulated in a remarkable way the golf among lady players at the Country and the Highland clubs, as also at the public courses.

The Indiana championship, which was won by R. L. Resener of the Riverside Club—one of the public course clubs—tended also to stimulate an immense amount of interest. Then the formation of the Central Golf Association to be composed of clubs in the states of Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois (outside of the Chicago district) made quite a hit. The association plans to hold annual tournaments similar to the Western amateur women's and open championship.

The organization of the association is due in great measure to the efforts of Will Diddle, the ex-amateur champion of the state. Mr. Diddle has been honored with the secretaryship of the association.

The activities of the park commissioners have been directed to the South Grove golf course, which is located at the south end of Riverside Park. Until the close of the season of 1914 there was a nine-hole course of the total length of 2,667 yards. During that year the links were extended, for e in 1915, to eighteen holes, and are of the total length of 6,172 yards. ere will be found one hole of 700 yards—so far as reported, the longest le in any existing golf course.

This course is maintained by the Board of Park Commissioners of Indianapolis; and, except charges for lockers in the golf house, is free. During e season of 1914 it was frequented by a greater number of players, both en and women, than any course in Indiana. It lies beautifully in the elly of White River, and at places, within the distance of a golf drive om the river banks. The fashionable Riverside Boulevard bounds the urse on the west. The natural lie of the ground gives a considerable versity to the enterprising golfer, through natural hazards, ranging from e level of the bottom lands to an eminence thirty feet higher; once the nks, in a geologic sense, of the river. The extended course includes a fine tural hazard consisting of a lake, across which, for the distance of about nety yards, drives will be attempted, and if one's "goat" does not get him, ll be made. There are numerous other natural and artificial hazards.

The South Grove Golf Club, organized in 1914, to promote good fellowship d play in accordance with the rules of the United States Golf Association, ds its home on these links. In the season of 1914 the players averaged 0 per week. An increase of this average is anticipated for 1915. Harry hopp is the professional.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

Golf on the Pacific Coast

Golf on the Pacific Coast is enjoying a decided boom this year, no doubt owing to the war and to the fact that tourists are killing a few birds with one stone—seeing America first, then the expositions at San Francisco and San Diego. This, though enforced, is indeed desirable, as it will make them more appreciative of what they have got at home. A great deal of improvement in the golf courses has become necessary and much has been done. At the Presidio golf course many changes have been made and now the course is of a very sporty nature. It is situated on the Presidio Reservation, within 20 minutes' ride of San Francisco. The putting greens are all undulating and are of an excellent turf, as is also the fair green. The course is 5,305 yards long, par 70; out 2,448 yards, par 34; in 2,857 yards, par 36.

From a scenic point of view it is one of the prettiest courses in the world, and its members are known over the United States for their good sportsmanship.

At the new course of the Sequoyah Country Club there is also a great deal doing, and when it has reached the objective its promoters have in mind one will have to travel far to beat it.

The desire for a really fine championship course of full length with watered turf over the fairway led the keen supporters of the Royal and Ancient game around San Francisco Bay to organize this club. The Sequoyah Country Club's land, comprising 180 acres of level and rolling ground, lies high up in the hills back of Oakland, in the form of a sheltered plateau having a superb outlook over the Golden Gate, the bay and the cities on its shores. The combination of the decomposed sandstone soil with a very large supply of water gives practically perfect conditions for the turf, and the contour and natural hazards go to make one of the most interesting courses in the United States, with no severe hill work. The course is 6,340 yards in length and a round gives every club in the bag a chance, great pains having been taken to get the full use of the creeks and other natural hazards as well as the lie of the land. The seventh green is protected by a pond—as pretty a pitch approach as can be conceived.

The club is within the hour of San Francisco and thirty minutes of the center of Oakland, some eight miles distant from the latter point.

The membership is limited to 350 regular members, but the by-laws provide well for non-resident and visiting members.

A specialty is also being made of tennis, the canvas covered "ship-deck" courts being right next the clubhouse, so that play can be watched from the veranda. Enough land was included in the club's original purchase to provide also for polo, trap-shooting and the other activities of a true country club without any interference with each other. The Sequoyah Country Club should become one of the notable clubs of the country.

The San Francisco Golf Club course at Ingleside, the Claremont Country Club, Burlingame and Beresford Country Clubs can all be reached within an hour from San Francisco, while a little further on the new Country Club of San Jose is within call. This is a pretty course situated on the eastern foothills overlooking the whole Santa Clara Valley, and having a view of San Francisco Bay. It has been extended to eighteen holes and, having turf putting greens, is becoming quite a rendezvous for traveling golfers. The membership exceeds 400, many of them from San Francisco. We have always a hearty welcome for visitors and hope that many golfers from the East will give us an opportunity to show them what we have and to partake of our hospitality during 1915, or any other time.

Santa Cruz comes next on the map, leading Del Monte by an hour or two. From there one can journey to Santa Barbara, where a couple of courses can be played upon, but one had better stop off at Paso Robles and limber up by taking a few of the baths there and trying a round on the nine-hole course. It will be found to be as good a test as can be found elsewhere on the coast. It will then be about time to think about running on to Los Angeles, where the revival of the game took place about five or six years ago, by the organization of such clubs as the San Gabriel Country Club (eighteen holes), the Altadena Country Club, Pasadena (eighteen holes), the Virginia Country Club, Long Beach (recently extended to eighteen holes). The Raymond Hotel in Pasadena has kept up a nine-hole course for fifteen years, while the Hotel Green has just recently installed one for the sole use of its guests, and the latest is the Midrick Country Club at Ramona, a first-class course of eighteen holes.

In 1900 there were probably as many golf courses in existence in California as there are to-day. However, between the golf clubs of that period and the present time there is no comparison. For instance, the $200,000 clubhouse of the Los Angeles Country Club compared with its first structure, or the palatial domicile of the Annandale Golf Club compared with the little bungalow of the old Pasadena Country Club. Another instance: In the San Bernardino Valley, which contains the towns of San Bernardino, Redlands and Riverside, in 1900 there were no less than six golf courses. Now there are only two—the Victoria Golf Club, Riverside, and the Redlands Country Club. But these two represent more genuine golfing activity than the six did together at that time. These towns are just on the eve of combining for a substantial golf club with an eighteen-hole course that will guarantee the game being enjoyed under the best conditions that can be obtained in southern California, which will be a great boon to the many eastern golfers during the winter season who prefer the dry, bracing atmosphere of the interior to the moister condition prevailing nearer the coast. In the meantime, the Victoria Golf Club of Riverside has just completed extensive improvements upon its house and grounds, while the Redlands Club is arranging for the addition of twenty bedrooms to its clubhouse. The hotel accommodation of the former place at the famous Glenwood Mission Inn are second to none, while a structure comprising the same superb features is being contemplated at the latter.

With the new eighteen-hole course down at San Diego one feels that there is no better climate under the sun to indulge in this royal sport than there. There is an average temperature of from 52 to 65 all the year around, which is something that the middle westerner can hardly conceive of, and yet it is a fact. Tourists to Nice, Pau, Biarritz, Mentone or any of these popular continental watering places will find that San Diego has them all beaten a mile. The new course has a most wonderful location. A part of it is in the old bed of the San Diego River and is of a silt soil, which will be one of the best propagating beds for grass for a golf course which can be found anywhere. The other half is on the uplands, commanding a wonderful view of San Diego Bay, with the city of San Diego beyond, while the Coronado Hotel, with all its popular and social attractions, is easily seen. Immediately to the rear of one who is looking at these things can be seen False Bay, as it comes in from the Pacific, while the seaside resort of Ocean Beach is easily discerned. A splendid clubhouse has been erected and its contiguity to the car line is something that is going to make this course exceedingly popular. One can go to the clubhouse from this U. S. Grant Hotel in something like twenty minutes and there is no doubt about it that it will be a very popular place for golfers from all parts of the country who stay in the various hotels in San Diego, as it will give advantages which few of the Californian courses offer to the golf player. Not a rock can be found on the ground, so that when a man pitches a ball toward the green he is perfectly sure of where it is going to go. This cannot be said of very many other courses in that part of the country. There is a membership just now of 400 and the tourist can be sure of this one thing—that he will find a welcome at the Country Club when he goes to San Diego.

Over at Coronado nine more holes have been added since last year, so that they now have an eighteen-hole course of fairly good length. This gives San Diego practically two eighteen-hole courses, which will amply accommodate all the visiting golfers to the exposition.

At La Jolla there is still a club and a nine-hole course in existence. At Lakeside Inn (fifteen miles interior) another, while at Del Mar, a new and fashionable watering-place sixteen miles north of San Diego, there is a nine-hole course in connection with Stratford Inn. In addition to these is the old-time Santa Catalina Island Golf Club, the course of which is almost world-famous for its unique situation, and where golf has been enjoyed without cessation since its inception in southern California.

This will certainly provide the tourist to the coast with many objectives if he is a golfer, for from San Francisco to San Diego, a distance of nearly seven hundred miles, he can find courses of every conceivable kind—short ones, long ones, easy ones and hard ones, good ones and bad ones, and all within his reach.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST CHAMPIONSHIPS.

After leading the field in the qualifying round of the Pacific Northwest championship at the Seattle Golf Club with the score of 149, H. Chandler Egan, former national champion, met defeat in the finals at the hands of Jack Neville, the California champion, to the extent of 5 and 4. Neville played a brilliant game, making a new course record of 69 in the morning and leading Egan by four holes. Neville's card was:

Out.....	4	4	3	4	4	3	4	3	5—34
In.....	3	3	5	4	4	4	4	4	4—35—69

Neville won his match in the semi-finals from A. V. Macan, the title holder by the big margin of 11 and 9, while Egan pushed aside Paul Ford, the 17-year-old Seattle sensation, by 7 and 6. Neville had two 35's, and was 9 up on the Victorian in the morning round, so it was just a question of when the match would end in the afternoon. Egan made no mistakes against young Ford, but the boy held his experienced opponent to a three hole lead in the morning.

Egan had a close call in the first round, but managed to win the nineteenth hole from W. H. Ricardo, Victoria. Neville had rather close matches of 1 and 1 with H. T. Gardner, Vancouver, and O. W. Potter, formerly of Millthian. The sensation of the tournament was the defeat of E. S. Armstrong, Los Angeles, 1 up, by young Ford. Macan squelched the hopes of "Dixie" Fleager, Seattle's main hope, by defeating him 5 and 4.

E. H. Hughes, Spokane, won the first flight, defeating E. J. Barker, Butte, on the twentieth green. C. F. Ford, San Francisco, took home the second flight prize as the result of his victory over J. T. Keena, Seattle, on the nineteenth green.

WOMEN'S

Miss Violet Pooley, the noted Victorian player, captured the women's championship, defeating Mrs. Macan by 5 and 4. Mrs. C. F. Ford added to the family plate by winning the second flight from Miss Lillian Howarth, Everett, 7 and 6, Mrs. Langley of Victoria capturing the first flight prize.

CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONSHIP.

Following his success of last spring when he wrested the Northern California championship from Jack Neville of Claremont, Harry B. K. Davis of the Presidio Club of San Francisco has climbed to greater golfing heights by winning the championship of California.

The former Denver and Portland star gained his new honors at the expense of Heinrich Schmidt, the former Worcester, Mass., high school player now located at San Francisco, defeating the youngster who nearly upset Champion Hilton in England in 1913, by a margin of 5 and 4.

Although this match was the final stepping stone, Davis really found his "open sesame" to the state title when he dethroned Jack Neville, the 1912 and 1913 champion, in the semi-final round by defeating him 1 up. Up to this point both contestants had won by comfortable margins, but in the crucial struggle the newcomer to California golfing circles upset the nation's, who for some time past has reigned supreme along the Pacific Coast.

The presence of Schmidt and Davis compensated for the absence of Norma Macbeth, William Frederickson, N. P. Mears, W. F. Garby, Cyril Tobin and others, who have been prominent in preceding tournaments.

1. Alex Taylor, Ravisloe Country Club, Homewood, Ill.; 2. Louis Berrien, Professional, Salt Lake Country Club; 3. F. A. Peebles, Midwick Country Club; 4. George Lawson, Redlands, Cal.; 5. Peter Lubetich, Santa Catalina Island Golf Club, Avalon, Cal.; 6. P. Sontar; 7. George Martin, Virginia Country Club, Long Beach, Cal.; 8. A GROUP OF PROFESSIONALS—1, J. Duthie, Vancouver, B. C.; 2, R. Johnstone, Seattle; 3, W. Moffat, Victoria, B. C.; 4, W. Blinks, Vancouver, B. C.; 5, C. Horton, Earlington.

Schmidt was the victor in an interesting triangular fight for low medal score, but in winning by the narrow margin of two strokes he set a new mark of 142 for the medal round of the California championship. He had scores of 70 and 72, par for the course being 72. Davis was second with 72-72-144. E. S. Armstrong of Annandale being only one stroke behind with 73-72-145, while champion Neville ensconced himself in fourth place with 75-72-147. Distances:

The initial surprise of the tournament came in the first round when Armstrong, who has figured in many finals at Del Monte, and who was considered the "hope of the South," was eliminated by A. A. French, a clubmate from Annandale. Summary:

First round—H. Schmidt, Claremont, d. R. M. Combe, Vancouver, 6 and 5; O. W. Potter, Seattle, d. F. H. O'Keefe, San Jose, 3 and 2; R. W. Hayne, Burlingame, d. E. C. Third round—Schmidt d. Hayne, 3 and 2; French d. Walter, 1 up; Davis d. Maud, 3 and 2; Neville d. Campbell, 8 and 6.

Semi-final round—Schmidt d. French, 2 and 1; Davis d. Neville, 1 up.

Final round—W. Davis, El Paso, d. H. Schmidt, Claremont, 6 and 5.

Results of final matches in the minor flights were:

Championship beaten sixteen—R. M. Combe (4) d. E. B. Tufts (4), 1 up.

Del Monte Cup—Summer Hunt (3) d. Guy Cochrane (1), 1 up, 37 holes.

Third flight—A. R. Pommer (5) d. A. J. Welch (5), 1 up, 19 holes.

Fourth flight—C. B. Clay (5) d. F. H. Gilchrist (3), 5 and 3.

Fifth flight—Lieutenant Rheinhardt (5) d. R. Roos (6), 2 and 1.

Sixth flight—J. H. Miles (3) d. C. T. Hoag (5), 5 and 4.

Del Monte Cup beaten sixteen—E. H. L. Gregory (6) d. R. M. Eyre (1), 2 and 1.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONSHIP.

The unexpected certainly happened when noses were counted at the end of the qualifying round for the above championship. H. K. B. Davis, Jr., formerly of Portland, but now of San Francisco, just managed to qualify with an 84. There were many others who had the same score, but the luck of the draw for the last places counted them out. He continued in play throughout the tourney and finally captured the championship by beating Jack Neville of Claremont on the last green.

The second flight was won by Alan McDonald, Jr., while the third flight went to Col. F. E. Day.

WOMEN'S GOLF IN CALIFORNIA.

Miss Edith Chesebrough has been winning championships so consistently in the past five years that nobody was surprised to hear that she had regained the title of California champion from Miss Alice Warner, but the match had to go to the eighteenth green for a decision. There was never more than a hole lead separating the two players, and most of the spectators looked for extra holes to be played, but the Del Monte player dubbed two approaches going to the home green. It will be remembered that Miss Warner defeated Miss Chesebrough when they last met for the Del Monte championship in September. These two players tied for the low gross score in the qualifying round on the Ingleside links, and Miss Chesebrough was again successful in the play-off.

The women's southern California championship was played this year on the new links of the Midwick Country Club. Mrs. E. R. Williams, the previous title holder, was pitted against Miss Katherine Mellus in the final round, and won easily by the one-sided score of 6 and 4. Miss Mellus was not playing in her usual good form, while Mrs. Williams, whose reputation as a match player is enhanced in every tournament she enters, was in one of her happiest moods and her medal score in the final was the best ever made by a woman on the links. It is unfortunate that the women of northern California and those of southern California cannot be brought together in the state championship, as the golfing enthusiasts of the Pacific Coast are anxious to see Mrs. Williams pitted against Miss Chesebrough of her sister rivals of the north.

A new name is to be inscribed on the woman's northern California trophy. Mrs. A. R. Pommer of the San Francisco Golf and Country Club is the new title holder, having won her way to the championship by defeating in turn both Miss Alice Warner and Miss Edith Chesebrough on the Presidio links. The Del Monte player, who was the previous champion, carried her successor to the twentieth hole, but, as in the state championship, fell down badly when the break came, as it required three approaches to reach the green. The victory of Mrs. Pommer was a popular one, as she has long been considered a match for any of the players of California. She hits a good tee shot, and her irons are perhaps the best part of her game. She has not been steady on the greens in the past, and her improvement in this department has much to do with her recent success. During the tournament both Mrs. Pommer and Miss Warner covered the course in 79, a new record for women, and only seven strokes above par.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA OPEN.

The open championship of Southern California was a sort of family affair between the Martin brothers, Hutton taking the first prize with 297; Ernest won second money, and Joe the third. These being all the Martins, fourth money went to C. G. Adams. Ervin S. Armstrong made the best score among the amateurs, totaling 308, which was better than many professionals did.

GOLF BOOMING IN PORTLAND, ORE.

The Waverly Club of Oregon used to be the only place where one could chase the elusive pill between Sacramento and Tacoma, but those days have gone, and while yet there is a long way to be made up between these two points, there is the sound of abundance. At any rate, Portland has got a get on, and can boast of three clubs now—the Waverly Country Club, the Tullatin Country Club, and now comes the Portland Golf Club, which is partially the outgrowth of the old Cricket Club. Golf enthusiasm is spreading rapidly in this section of the country and the success of the new club is assured. Its membership numbers 260 and the list will soon be full.

Play at present is confined to a temporary course of nine holes, but the first nine holes of the permanent course, 3,200 yards in length, will be ready for use in the spring of 1915. The club grounds are situated between Firlock and Raleigh on the Oregon Electric and Southern Pacific, respectively, and are easy of access by automobile. The course covers 135 acres of land of an ideal character for golf. The natural advantages are said by many to be superior to any in the Pacific Northwest. A beautiful creek flows through the grounds and the course crosses the same twice in each nine holes, providing a natural hazard testing the nerves and skill of the best golfers. The second nine holes will be completed and ready for play in the fall of 1915 and will make a course of approximately 6,400 yards. The course has been developed under the able direction of William Dickson. The present officers of the club are: H. L. Keats, president; R. H. Baldwin, vice-president; Ira P. E. Reynolds, treasurer, and Harry H. Pearce, secretary.

Golf in Canada

In the early part of the season of 1914 there was quite as much, if not more, golf played than in former years, but toward the latter part of the season the war which broke out, and in which Great Britain became involved, caused a cessation to a great extent owing to the fact that many golfers joined the different contingents that were going to the aid of the mother country, and this had the effect of the executives of the Royal Canadian Golf Association calling off the Ladies' Championship, which was to have been played on the course of the Lambton Golf and Country Club at Lambton Mills, Toronto. The amateur men's championship was played during the first week of July over the fine course of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club. The executives of the club left nothing undone that could add to the pleasure and comfort of the players. The course itself was in excellent condition and there were many closely fought matches before a winner was declared. Probably a great deal more interest was taken in the event because of the international flavor caused by the entry of some prominent American golfers and the fact that one of our American cousins reached the finals. This was Bryce Evans of the Belmont Golf Club of Boston. He had some hard matches before reaching the finals. In the first round he had to play two extra holes to defeat C. B. Grier of Royal Montreal and had to go a similar distance before defeating R. M. Gray, Jr., of Rosedale Golf Association, and in the semi-finals, which were at thirty-six holes, he had to play to the thirty-eighth hole to defeat T. B. Reith of Beaconsfield Golf Club of Montreal. Harold Weber of Toledo was unfortunate in drawing Reith in the first round, as the Beaconsfield player was putting up a strong game and put Weber out in the first round, but not without a hard struggle, as he only won on the twentieth hole, or two extra. Most of those who were considered as having a good chance to win won their matches in the early stages of the draw. Martin of Hamilton, Lyon of Lambton, Lees of Ottawa, J. A. Gray of Rivermede, Morgan of Beaconsfield, Scott of Ottawa and R. M. Gray, Jr., of Rosedale all won their preliminary matches rather handily. In the first round there was somewhat of a surprise in Fraser of Ottawa defeating Turpin, the then Canadian champion, by 3 and 1; however, Fraser, when on his best game, is liable to beat any of the top-notchers. Another very close match was that between Adams of Hamilton and Stewart Macdougall of Montreal, the latter winning by 1 up. In the second round Macdougall again had a close shave, defeating J. A. Gray of Rivermede, Ottawa, by just 1 up. This second round brought together two of the local clubs' best players in Gerald Lees and Norman Scott, the former winning by 1 up, thus eliminating one of Ottawa's hopes. Other players to win their matches with good margins in this round were Martin, Lyon, Reith, Fraser and Glasco. In the third round some close matches were expected, but, though many of the best players came together, those who won did so by good margins. Martin defeated Fraser, 5 and 4; Lyon defeated S. Macdougall, 6 and 5; Reith defeated Lees, 6 and 5; Evans defeated Glasco, 5 and 4. This brought together Lyon of Lambton and Martin of Hamilton and Evans of Boston and Reith of Beaconsfield in the semi-finals, these matches being played at thirty-six holes as well as the finals. Lyon and Martin had a close match in the morning round, the Hamilton player being 1 up on the first round, but in the afternoon Lyon, playing one of his best games, pulled ahead and finished 4 and 3 and won the right to contest the final with Evans, who, as stated in the first part of this article, defeated Reith on the thirty-eighth green.

The final started by Evans winning the first hole a par 5 in 4 and assuming the lead right at the start, but Lyon won the second in a par 3 and then playing par golf soon took the lead and maintained it throughout the entire match, finishing up the morning round with a lead of 5 up, and in the afternoon still continued to forge ahead and, giving his opponent no chance whatever to win a hole finally won the championship for the eighth time by 8 and 7. Lyon never played better golf than on this occasion, as his scores over the long Ottawa golf course testify. The course is 6,400 yards, and he had a morning round of 75 and an average of fours up to the eleventh hole in the afternoon, where the match finished.

The interprovincial match which is always played during championship week between the provinces of Ontario and Quebec resulted in a tie, each province winning five matches, as follows:

The team championship of Canada was also played during championship week and was won by the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, whose four players returned the lowest gross scores for one round of the course as follows:

The next meeting of the Royal Canadian Golf Association to decide the amateur championship of 1915 will be held over the fine course of the Lambton Golf and Country Club at Lambton Mills, just seven miles west of Toronto. The clubhouse is a large one and has good accommodation in every respect. There are about fifty bedrooms in the clubhouse. The course is one of standard length, being about 6,300 yards long. It is well bunkered and there are eight water hazards. Topped drives and pulled and sliced shots are pretty severely penalized. The Canadian championship is now practically open to all amateurs, as any player in good standing with the association to which he belongs can get an invitation by applying to the Royal Canadian Golf Association, whose present headquarters are at Toronto.

OPEN CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

The open championship was played over the Toronto Golf Club course at Long Branch, about eleven miles west of Toronto. There was a large number of entries and all of the best Canadian professionals were present. There were a few outside entries, and a few amateur players also entered. Of these George S. Lyon made the best showing, taking ninth place, while W. M. Griffith was the next best amateur, taking fifteenth place. The course is well bunkered and affords a good test of golf and besides is a long one, being 6,400 yards long. It was laid out by H. S. Colt, the English golf architect, and Harry Vardon is reported as having said it was one of the best he had played over when out here a year ago with Edward Ray. The winner proved to be Karl Keffer of the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, who had a total of 300 for the four rounds, or an average of 75 per round, which was certainly very good when you consider that the lies on some of the holes were not as good as they might have been, owing to the grass not having taken well in some places and seeming to have a tendency to grow in tufts. Keffer's first round on the second day, a 72, was the best of the tournament, while on the first day's play C. R. Murray of Royal Montreal got a 73. George Cumming of the Toronto Golf Club was a close second, only being one stroke behind the winner. Next in order came David Black

A new association was formed in Toronto last season known as the City and District Golf Association. It was started with the object of declaring both an amateur and professional champion of the city. The first competition was held over the Rosedale Golf Association course, which was in excellent condition. The professionals played on Friday, June 19, and the amateurs on Saturday, the 20th. All of the professionals belonging to the city clubs entered and, though the day was a wet one, some good scores were returned. The winner was Percy Barrett of Lambton, who had two good rounds of 74, 76—150. He was closely followed by George Cumming of Toronto Golf Club with 78, 77—155. Other scores to get in the prize money were William Bell of Scarboro Golf and Country Club, 80, 76—156; A. Russell, Lakeview Golf and Country Club, 79, 80—159; D. Spittal, Lambton Golf and Country Club, 84, 80—164, and F. W. Lock, Mississauga Golf and Country Club, 81, 85—165.

The amateurs had a lovely day for their play, the rain of the day before putting the course in the best possible condition. Two rounds of the course were played at medal play, the player returning the two best gross scores to be the champion for the season. G. S. Lyon of Lambton turned in 80, 74—154 and thus became the first champion of the association. He was closely pressed by F. R. Martin of Toronto Golf Club, who returned 80, 75—155. The best gross score for a single round was won by R. M. Gray, Jr., of Rosedale with a 74. The team championship went to the Toronto Golf Club, their four previously named players returning the best gross scores. The handicap prizes went to the following players in the order named: C. L. Lennox, Lambton; Seymour Lyon, Lambton, and W. H. Fredricks, Rosedale. No player was allowed to take more than one prize.

The following are a few of the best gross scores for each round:

Geo. S. Lyon, Lambton.....	80	74—154
F. R. Martin, Toronto.....	80	75—155
R. B. White, Rosedale.....	79	81—160

W. S. Greening, Lambton.....	80	89—169
H. M. Fredricks, Rosedale.....	83	86—169

The handicap winners with their scores for two rounds were as follows:

C. T. Lennox, Lambton.....	174—32,	142
Seymour Lyon, Lambton.....	173—26,	147
H. M. Fredricks, Rosedale.....	169—22,	147
B. L. Anderson, Lambton.....	163—16,	147

In the play-off for second and third places Lyon and Fredricks won.

The team match was won by the Toronto Golf Club, with Rosedale Golf Club team second and Lambton Golf and Country Club third. The winning team and scores follow:

Two of the principal club events at the Lambton Golf and Country Club are the championship and the Austin Trophy. The former, of course, is played even, while the latter is a handicap event. The championship was won by A. F. Rodger, who played good, steady, consistent golf in all of his matches. In the first round he and his opponent, Wilfred James, created a record of the course in the number of holes played before the champion won. They finished the eighteen holes all even and the match was carried to the twenty-sixth hole before James was defeated. The Austin Trophy was won by George S. Lyon from scratch. The runner-up was F. W. Tanner.

At the Toronto Golf Club the Osler Trophy, a handicap event, was won by W. S. Greening with a handicap of eight strokes.

The Rosedale Golf Club championship was won by John Miln, Jr., the runner-up being Loone Flaws. The Edinborough Trophy, a handicap event, was won by R. B. White, who played R. M. Gray, Jr., in the final. The Rennie Trophy at the same club, another handicap event, was won by Stan Beatty, who defeated Percy Beachley in the final.

The tournament for the Ontario championship for ladies was, as usual, played over the Hamilton Golf Club course. There was a very large entry and many well contested matches were played. The event was again won by Miss Florence Harvey, who has developed a very strong game within the past couple of years. The men's club championship resulted in a win for A. A. Adams, who defeated Fritz R. Martin in an extra hole match. The coming season will be the last one for the old Hamilton Golf Club course, as the club will move into its new quarters about September 1. The new course is situated at Ancaster, about seven miles west of Hamilton on the main line of the Hamilton and Brantford Electric Railway and can be reached in twenty-two minutes from the center of the city. It seems to be a custom in writing about new golf courses to laud them up to the skies, but the writer who has seen many of the best, both at home and abroad, can say without fear of contradiction that this new course is without doubt one of the best on this continent. The soil is sandy and the course abounds in natural hazards, to which are added several artificial, and the land is rolling and well adapted to golf. For the present the old Stone farm house on the property will be utilized as a clubhouse pending the building of a modern structure in the near future.

Down at Montreal the principal event of the season was the playing of the City and District Championship. Play took place over the course of the Royal Montreal Golf Club. There were many entries, but the play, which was at medal scoring, resolved itself into a contest between two players, T. B. Reith of Beaconsfield Golf and Country Club and C. B. Grier of Royal Montreal. In the morning round the Montreal player led by two strokes, returning a 76 as against 78. The afternoon round, however, of the Beaconsfield player was so good that he not only overcame the lead of two strokes held by Grier, but he gained an extra stroke and won the championship by that extra stroke. His "Reith's" 75 was practically par golf. Grier had a putt of only two yards to create a tie, but he failed to run the putt down and lost his chance for a play-off. The handicap prize was won by C. M.

McCraig of Beaconsfield after a play-off with A. M. Slater. The third prize went to John Morgan of Beaconsfield. The prize for the best single round of the course was won by T. B. Reith with a 75, but as he was only allowed to take one prize it went to the next best, so C. B. Grier's 76 entitled him to it. The leading scores and team championship results are as follows:

Kanawaki Golf Club was a poor third.

On Friday, June 19, the day previous to the amateur event, the professionals belonging to clubs of the City and District Association played thirty-six holes over the Royal Montreal course for cash prizes given by the association. The result was a win for C. R. Murray of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, who played two good rounds of 74, 76—150. He was closely followed by his brother Albert of the Kanawaki Golf Club with 79, 73—152. A. Woodward of the Country Club was third with 156, followed by James Black of Beaconsfield Golf and Country Club. Prizes were also given for professional assistants and were won as follows:

A. Desjardines, R. M. G. C.....	83	82—165
F. Sinclair, B. G. C.....	84	89—173
W. Woodward C. C.....	89	86—175
T. Blair, B. G. and C. C.....	88	89—177

The Ladies' Championship was won by Miss V. Henry-Anderson, Royal Montreal Golf Club, with Mrs. Hathaway of Country Club runner-up. The handicap went to Mrs. Arthur Gault, Royal Montreal Golf Club, second place going to Miss D. Patterson, Beaconsfield Golf Club.

The team championship was won by the Royal Montreal ladies' team, with Beaconsfield a good second and Kanawaki third.

In the annual championship for the province of Saskatoon, Canada, G. F. Donaldson of Regina was the winner, with W. Laidlaw, Saskatoon, the runner-up, the match being decided on the thirty-sixth green. Mrs. Walter Perry, Regina, won easily over Mrs. Boyd, Saskatoon, in the final of the ladies' championship.

British Amateur Championship

The St. George's course for the sixth time was the scene of the historic struggle for supremacy in the golfing world during May of last year.

The entry list was the largest yet, the nominations totaling 232. America sent its largest representation, and, it can truthfully be said, its best—Jerome D. Travers, Fred Herreshoff, Francis Ouimet, "Chick" Evans, Fraser Hale, Harold Weber, A. C. Lockwood, Henry J. Topping, C. W. Inslee, E. S. Knapp being those bearing the colors of Uncle Sam.

Probably never in the history of the game was greater enthusiasm manifested on both sides of the Atlantic in the outcome of any other championship as in this one, for the stripling who had conquered both Vardon and Ray, and the whole field of American professionals, was to compete.

Of course, few of the American pro's conceded him a chance, or any of the others for that matter, but if the sentiment expressed in newspapers and letters was any criterion, he had our British brethren worried not a little. To those who follow the game more closely, and to whom the idiosyncrasies of each player are more or less known the result was never in doubt, and their prognostications were fully borne out by results.

It will be many years before any association in the world with only two scratch men representing it will be able to wrest the coveted blue ribbon from a country where the scratch men are about as plentiful as blades of grass. Of course it is not impossible, but we believe very improbable. The results of the play from day to day are as follows:

LADIES' OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Few of the courses over which the ladies' championship has been played offered a better test for the long player than the one chosen for the scene of the 1914 championship at Hunstanton, and there was little chance for flukes to be pulled off to the detriment of the really good player.

J. H. TAYLOR,
British Open Champion, 1913.

While there was a dearth of over-the-seas entries, thereby eliminating the international aspect of the competition, the best that the empire could produce were there, and the dopesters had the inside track of matters in picking the semi-finalists quite readily.

The total entry was a large one, some 166 facing the starter—this being the largest entry yet recorded. Miss Cecil Leitch ultimately proved to be the winner, and her victory was indeed a popular one, for there is doubtless no woman in Great Britain who has run in harder luck than she has in previous championships.

Her opponent in the finals was the 1912 champion, Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, so that it will be apparent to all that her victory was indeed a meritorious one. Miss Leitch defeated her 2 and 1.

As a curtain raiser to the main event—the championship—the international matches are held, in which teams representing England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland vie with each other for victory. As in the two previous years, England again demonstrated her superiority, defeating Scotland by 6 matches to 2, Ireland by 7 to 2, and Wales 9 to 0.

BRITISH OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

The fifty-fourth open championship of the British Isles was brought to a close on the historic links of Prestwick, when for the sixth time in his career that wizard of golf, Harry Vardon, totaled 306 strokes for four rounds of the classic course, being three shots lower than his nearest competitor, J. H. Taylor. The victory of Vardon was a popular one and full of thrills for the gallery, whose numbers were larger than ever before. Summary:

FRENCH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

The French amateur championship, which was played on the course of the Société de Golf de Paris, where it has always been held since the beginning, was a curious event last year. American contestants were as numerous as any other nationality, and the contest was narrowed down in the finals to two Americans—Francis Ouimet of Boston and H. J. Topping of Greenwich, Conn. Twenty-five entrants competed, and as half of them were from this side of the water, the spirit of rivalry was not quite so keen. The course was some 6,405 yards in playing length, made up as follows:

In.....	225	528	340	302	363	198	450	434	330—3170
Total, yards.....									6405

Several players had byes in the first round.

First round—Mr. E. L. Apperley, Sydney, Australia, w.o., Mr. J. F. Shanley, Deal, U. S. A., scratched; Lord Charles Hope, Royal St. George's (holder), d. Mr. W. Semi-final round—Ouimet d. Apperley, 4 and 3; Topping d. Travers, 3 and 2.

Final round—Ouimet d. Topping, 4 and 3.

Root System of Rational Handicapping

A rather ingenious system of handicapping has been gotten up by J. Sherman Root of Chicago, which, after having been fully tried out at various clubs, has proven to be the best, in the opinion of many, yet put forward. We herewith, for the benefit of our readers, give it at full length. To be eligible for handicap under this system each member must hand in five full eighteen-hole scores to obtain a handicap at the beginning of a season. After the first handicap is posted it should be changed on the first of each month as better scores are turned in. All full eighteen-hole scores, whether made in friendly matches, medal or match events, or whether they be good, bad or indifferent, should be turned in. All putts should be holed out. All averages of 135 or over will be handicapped at 36 (this does not apply to ladies).

When a player turns in no scores, he should play from scratch until such time as he complies with this rule. A player who turns in one score will be penalized eight strokes, two scores seven strokes, three scores six strokes and four scores five strokes, but shall not be lower than scratch.

Medal handicaps are determined by taking three-fifths of the actual difference between the average of five best scores and par, and other information. Fractions of a half or over count as a whole.

The handicap officer, by knowledge or information, has the power to reduce the handicap of any player failing to turn in his lowest scores, and such suppression of lowest scores is declared unfair play.

Handicaps are to be obtained in no other way.

The handicap at one par will be the same at any other club. The only change will be in the play. It will be greater or less in proportion as the par is greater or less than the one on which the handicap is based.

This system of ratings may be used in any manner desired. The rating may be changed immediately a better score is made, or it may be changed once in two weeks, or once a month. The main object is to get in the cards and it can best be done by making the handicap changes on the first of each month during the season. A player is entitled to play throughout an event with the same rating. Events usually run for a month. Every card must be turned in so that the handicapper can tell what each man is doing. If he finds one going stale (cards will show it), he will treat him accordingly; giving him an increase in handicap such as his play warrants.

A player who has turned in no scores, after having had sufficient time to do so, should play from par, or as it is termed, "scratch." If he has turned in only one card, it should be applied to the table of ratings and eight strokes deducted from the handicap shown in the table; if only two cards, average them and apply to the table, then deduct seven strokes; if three cards, treat in the same manner with a six strokes deduction; and for four cards deduct five strokes. No rating obtained in this manner should be lower than par.

It is up to the honor of every member of a club to turn in his scores, and any suppression of scores, be they good or bad, should be deemed unfair play. No handicap should be changed during the progress of an event. All putts must be holed out.

Exceptionally low or "freak" scores should be turned in, and, when not duplicated, treated as only one stroke less than the lowest score previously reported. Freak scores may be construed as follows, i. e.: Players at 0 to 8 making a score three strokes or more less than the lowest turned in; those from 9 to 18 four or more less, and players at 19 and over, five strokes or more less. The table of handicaps can be used with the "Automatic" system or otherwise, the second table of fractional figures is particularly adapted to the "Automatic" system. The idea of the table is to provide handicap figures that apply to all courses having par of from 69 to 77 inclusive. A man having an average score of 69 on a par 69 course plays at scratch on any course, because a 69 on a 69 course is no better than a 77 on a 77 course. Par is par, and the home club handicap, if from par on the average of the five best scores, should apply on any other course, no matter what the par of the visited club may be. With this system in general use, the club handicap applies everywhere and no National or Western handicap lists are needed. In the event a player has an average of five best scores that fall under par, the same rule applies. The table reverses itself and becomes plus. Thus it will be +2, +2, +1, +1, 0, 1, 1, 2, 2, etc.

Short Hole and Long Hole Handicapping

HOLES OF START.

By B. R. ABBOTT.

Reprinted from Golf, April 1914.

As is well known, no common method is followed by golf clubs in selecting the holes at which strokes are granted in Handicap Match Play.

In forming their stroke-tables, some clubs—for example, a well-known Metropolitan club—assign the strokes to the long holes first, proceeding through the holes of medium length to the short holes and allotting the strokes to the first and second halves of the course alternately.

Other clubs select the holes in the same manner, but pay little heed to the equal division of the strokes between the two halves of the course. Another club will give the first stroke on the longest hole, the second stroke on the shortest hole, the third stroke on the second longest hole, the fourth stroke on the second shortest hole, and so on for a few more strokes, finally choosing the holes apparently at random.

Still other clubs consider primarily, not the length or difficulty of the holes, but the equal division of the strokes between the two halves of the course. In short, every club adopts its own theory in forming its stroke-table.

What does such diversity of method indicate? How far do the statistics of all the handicap matches played by a club in its tournaments during an entire season, or, better, for many seasons, bear out the truth of the theory adopted by the club in the formation of its stroke-table?

The purpose of handicapping is to put on an equal footing all the players in a club who have any title whatever to win matches. With perfect handicapping of individual players, that theory of selecting the holes in the formation of a stroke-table would seem best according to which the matches won during a season or during many seasons are divided most evenly between the inferior players (all receiving strokes) and the superior players (all granting strokes), due regard being paid to the results at different allowances. The excellence of the theory can be determined in the long run only by actual statistics. Here is no room for nineteenth hole vagaries.

So far as I have been able to ascertain, such a prolonged test of a stroke-table by the use of actual statistics has never been made; but, of course, in this matter I may be mistaken.

However, such a test for three years, 1911, 1912 and 1913, has been carried on in the New York Golf Club of Van Cortlandt Park. In the year 1911 a new stroke-table was adopted, in which the strokes were assigned first to the shortest holes and then to the medium and the longer holes, due regard being paid both to the position of the holes in the first and the second halves of the course and to their relative difficulty. The theory upon which the table was based is that, since in the system of equalizing the playing of two men by means of strokes granted at certain holes to the inferior player, the inferior is given not a positive advantage such as he is given in the holes of start system, but merely an additional chance, that is, as he must either win or halve the hole by means of the stroke granted in order that the stroke may be of advantage to him, the strokes should be granted first on the easiest, that is, in general, on the shortest holes, then on the medium, and finally on the long.

Thus the short hole system resembles slightly the holes of start system. By the latter system the inferior player is given a positive handicap by being granted one, two, three, etc., holes up at the beginning of the match. Consequently, in the short hole system, even if the inferior player were conceded the one or two shortest holes outright, he would be only slightly better off than in the holes of start system. In the latter system the superior player has the full eighteen holes in which to win back the holes granted to the inferior, while in the short hole system he would have only one or two holes fewer than eighteen to win back the holes conceded to the inferior player. However, according to the statistics, the inferior player by no means wins all of the shortest holes to say nothing of the rather short holes.

If it would seem illogical in the case of a large number of strokes granted to the inferior player to defer the strokes on the longest holes to the last, the fallacy is only apparent, not real, inasmuch as a single stroke granted on a hole of five hundred yards or more would not be of the least advantage to a poor player. He probably could not win such a hole with even two strokes. Also, the number of matches played with large allowances of strokes is probably very small, since, in most clubs, the players are divided into classes A, B and C, or into first, second and third sixteens.

On the other hand, in the long hole system, in the case of a player receiving say fifteen or sixteen strokes, not to grant him strokes on the two very short holes found on the majority of courses is to take away from him, or, at least to decrease, his chances of winning what may be for him the easiest holes on the course.

A record was carefully kept during 1911, 1912, and 1913 of all the matches played with handicaps in which the bye holes were played out, a total of 883. The matches were played by the short hole system, but the results were tabulated also according to the long hole and the holes of start systems. In the case of the latter system the table used by a well-known Metropolitan club was followed. According to this, in the case of a difference between the handicaps of the two players of 1 or 2, the inferior player starts 1 hole up; with a difference of 3 or 4, 2 holes up; 5 or 6, 3 holes; 7 or 8, 4 holes; 9 or 10, 5 holes; 11 to 14, 6 holes; 15 to 18, 7 holes; 19 to 25, 8 holes; 26 to 36, 9 holes.

The handicaps of the individual players were fixed in accordance with the Calkins system and were carefully revised each month. The allowance of strokes granted the inferior player was equal to three-fourths of the difference between the handicaps of the two players.

The results of the 883 matches are as follows:

By the short hole system, the inferior won 395 matches, the superior 398 matches, and 90 matches were tied, a balance of 3 matches in favor of the superior.

By the long hole system, the inferior won 384 matches, the superior 420 matches, and 79 matches were halved, a balance of 36 matches in favor of the superior.

By the holes of start system, the inferior won 414 matches, the superior 382 matches, and 87 matches were tied, a balance of 32 matches in favor of the inferior.

The differences between handicaps ranged from 1 to 19; the allowance of strokes in the short and the long hole systems from 1 to 14; the allowances of holes in the holes of start system from 1 to 8.

Although the results for the period of three years in the case of the short hole system are remarkable, the superior winning only three more matches than the inferior and 90 matches being halved, the results for each year being fairly uniform, no claim is made for the general excellence of the short hole system. In fact, all of the systems are faulty when the various differences are taken by themselves. To some extent, this faultiness is due to the fact that fractions of  $\frac{1}{2}$  or more count as 1, and fractions of less than  $\frac{1}{2}$  are rejected.

Thus, with a difference of 1 between handicaps, the inferior receives  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a stroke more than the  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a stroke to which, strictly speaking, he is entitled. With a difference of 2, he receives 2 strokes, or 2-4 of a stroke in excess. With a difference of 3, he receives 2 strokes, or  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a stroke less than what he is entitled to. With a difference of 4, he receives exactly three strokes. This series is repeated with the following four differences of 5, 6, 7 and 8, and so on.

There is a remarkable gain for the inferior noticeable in both the short hole and long hole systems, up to a difference of ten, when he receives more than his exact fractional allowance and a corresponding loss when he loses the  $\frac{1}{4}$  stroke to which he is entitled. This same varying loss and gain is noticeable in the holes of start system. In all three systems it would probably be more just not to grant the one stroke in the case of a difference between handicaps of one. Nearly always the inferior wins more than his fair share of the matches, and by a comfortable margin. The statistics, not here printed, show that it would be more just not to grant the single stroke, or at least a full stroke.

The majority of the holes on the Van Cortlandt course are of medium length; very few are what may be termed long holes. In view of the fact that the superior won by the long hole system 36 matches more than the inferior and by the short hole system only 3 matches more, it seems likely that on courses containing several very long holes, a considerable number of long holes and few medium holes, such as is the case generally on courses of 6,000 yards, the inferior player would have by the long hole system still less chance against the superior than on the course of 5,340 yards on which the matches here recorded were played.

The Rules of Golf

As Approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, September, 1912, and as adopted by the United States Golf Association, January 11, 1913.
Effective February 1, 1913.

Together with Recommendations, Form and Make of Golf Clubs, Etiquette, Special Rules for Match Play Competitions, Rules for Three Ball, Best Ball and Four Ball Matches, Special Rules for Stroke Competitions.

PREFACE.

The United States Golf Association, in making these Rulings and Interpretations, has made few changes in the wording, or in the import, of the Rules of Golf, as adopted by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, and has only added such definitions and explanations as appeared to be called for, or suggested by custom and decisions of competent experts.

The Interpretations and Decisions marked R. & A. have been taken from the decisions as rendered by the Rules of Golf Committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club and are used with their permission.

DEFINITIONS.

Side. (1) A "side" consists either of one player or of two players. If one player play against another the match is called "a single." If two play against two, each side playing one ball, the match is called "a foursome." If one play against two playing one ball between them, the match is called a "three-some."

Advice. (2) "Advice" is any counsel or suggestion which could influence a player in determining the line of play, in the choice of a club, or in the method of making a stroke.

A player may ask anyone to indicate the line to the hole before the shot is played. (R. & A.)

Course. (3) The "Course" is the whole area within which play is permitted; more particularly, it is the ground between the holes which is specially prepared for play.

Teeing-ground. (4) The "teeing-ground" is the starting place for a hole. The front of each teeing-ground shall be indicated by two marks placed in a line as nearly as possible at right angles to the line of play, and the teeing ground shall include a rectangular space of the depth of two club lengths directly behind the line indicated by the two marks.

(5) "Through the green" is all ground on which play is permitted, except hazards and the putting-green of the hole that is being played. Through the green.

(6) A "hazard" is any bunker, water (except casual water), ditch (unless excepted by Local Rule), bush, sand, path, or road. Sand blown on to the grass, or sprinkled on the course for its preservation, bare patches, sheep tracks, snow, and ice are not hazards. Hazard.

Heather is not a hazard. (R. & A.)

Bent is not a hazard. (R. & A.)

Long Grass is not a hazard unless within the boundaries of a hazard. (R. & A.)

A "Bunker" is a depression in the ground where the natural soil is exposed, and sometimes top dressed with softer soil or sand. It is the duty of the Authorities in charge of the golf course to define its hazards by Local Rules. (R. & A.)

(7) "Casual water" is any temporary accumulation of water (whether caused by rainfall, flooding, or otherwise) which is not one of the ordinary and recognized hazards of the course. Casual water.

The definition of "water" in the term "Casual water" is any water which interferes with the lie of the ball or the stance of the player. (R. & A.)

(8) "Out of bounds" is all ground on which play is prohibited. Out of bounds.

(9) A ball is "out of bounds" when the greater part of it lies within a prohibited area. Ball, when out of bounds.

(10) The "putting-green" is all ground, except hazards, within twenty yards of the hole. Putting green.

(11) The hole shall be  $4\frac{1}{4}$  inches in diameter, and at least 4 inches deep. If a metal lining be used, it shall be sunk below the lip of the hole, and its outer diameter shall not exceed  $4\frac{1}{4}$  inches. Hole.

(12) The term "loose impediments" denotes any obstructions not fixed or growing, and includes dung, worm-casts, mole-hills, snow and ice. Loose impediments.

Loose Stones are "Loose Impediments." (R. & A.)

Rocks embedded in the ground come under the head of "things fixed." Rule 15. (R. & A.)

A sand box placed at a teeing-ground is a "loose impediment." (R. & A.)

A live worm is a "loose impediment" and may be lifted. (R. & A.)

(13) A "stroke" is the forward movement of the club made with the intention of striking the ball, or any contact between the head of the club and the Stroke.

ball, resulting in movement of the ball, except in case of a ball accidentally knocked off a tee (Rule 2 (1) ).

If a ball leaves its original position when the player has taken his stance in addressing the ball and moves in the slightest degree and does not merely oscillate, it has moved, and the movement constitutes a stroke, not a penalty stroke. (R. & A.)

Penalty stroke. (14) A "penalty stroke" is a stroke added to the score of a side under certain rules, and does not affect the rotation of play.

Honour. (15) The side which plays off first from a teeing-ground is said to have the "honour."

Teeing. (16) In "teeing," the ball may be placed on the ground, or on sand or other substance, in order to raise it off the ground.

There is no specified method of placing a ball, and the player is at liberty to drop it. (R. & A.)

Addressing the ball. (17) A player has "addressed the ball" when he has taken his stance and grounded his club, or, if in a hazard, when he has taken his stance preparatory to striking at the ball.

In play. (18) A ball is "in play" as soon as the player has made a stroke at a teeing-ground, and it remains in play until holed out, except when lifted in accordance with the rules.

Ball deemed to move. (19) A ball is deemed to "move" if it leave its original position in the least degree; but it is not considered to "move" if it merely oscillate and come to rest in its original position.

Ball, lost. (20) A ball is "lost" if it be not found within five minutes after the search for it has begun.

Terms used in reckoning game. (21) The reckoning of strokes is kept by the terms—"the odd," "two more," "three more," etc., and "one off three," "one off two," "the like." The reckoning of holes is kept by the terms—so many "holes up," or "all even," and so many "to play."

A side is said to be "dormie" when it is as many holes up as there are holes remaining to be played.

Umpire and Referee. (22) An "umpire" decides questions of fact; a "referee" decides questions of Golfing Law.

GENERAL AND THROUGH THE GREEN.

RULE I.

Mode of play. (1) "The Game of Golf is played by two sides, each playing its own ball, with clubs made in conformity with the directions laid down in the clause on the 'Form and Make of Golf Clubs'."

The game consists in each side playing a ball from a teeing-ground into a hole by successive strokes. The hole is won by the side which holes its ball in fewer strokes than the opposing side, except as otherwise provided for in the Rules.

The hole is halved if both sides hole out in the same number of strokes.

(2) A match consists of one round of the course unless it be otherwise agreed. A match is won by the side which is leading by a number of holes greater than the number of holes remaining to be played. Conditions of match.

A match is halved if each side win the same number of holes.

Matches constituted of singles, threesomes, or foursomes shall have precedence of and be entitled to pass any other kind of match. Priority on the course.

A single player has no standing, and shall always give way to a match of any kind.

Any match playing a whole round shall be entitled to pass a match playing a shorter round.

If a match fail to keep its place on the green, and lose in distance more than one clear hole on the players in front, it may be passed, on request being made.

Two players playing a single ball are treated as a single player. (R. & A.)

RULE II.

(1) A match begins by each side playing a ball from the first teeing-ground. Priority on the teeing-ground.

A ball played from outside the limits of the teeing-ground may be at once recalled by the opposing side, and may be re-teeed without penalty.

If a ball, when not in play, fall off a tee, or be knocked off a tee by the player in addressing it, it may be re-teeed without penalty; if the ball be struck when so moving, no penalty shall be incurred.

In Stroke Competition if a competitor play his first stroke from outside the limits of the teeing ground, he shall count that stroke, tee a ball, and play his second stroke from within these limits. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification. (R. & A.)

(2) The option of taking the honour at the first teeing-ground shall, if necessary, be decided by lot. The honour.

A ball played by a player when his opponent should have had the honour may be at once recalled by the opposing side, and may be re-teeed without penalty.

The side which wins a hole shall take the honour at the next teeing-ground. If a hole has been halved, the side which had the honour at the previous teeing-ground shall retain it.

On beginning a new match, the winner of the long match in the previous round shall take the honour; if the previous long match was halved, the side which last won a hole shall take the honour.

RULE III.

Order of play in threesome and foursome. In a threesome or foursome the partners shall strike off alternately from the teeing-grounds, and shall strike alternately during the play of each hole.

If a player play when his partner should have played, his side shall lose the hole.

In Stroke Competition violation of this Rule is disqualification. (R. & A.)

In Match Play, loss of the hole. (R. & A.)

A penalty stroke does not affect the rotation of play. (R. & A.)

RULE IV.

Asking advice. (1) A player may not ask for nor willingly receive advice from any one except his own caddie, his partner or his partner's caddie.

Information as to strokes played. (2) A player is entitled at any time during the play of a hole to ascertain from his opponent the number of strokes the latter has played; if the opponent give wrong information as to the number of strokes he has played, he shall lose the hole unless he correct his mistake before the player has played another stroke.

An exception to this Rule is that anyone can indicate the line to the hole. (R. & A.)

In Stroke Competition the penalty is disqualification. (R. & A.)

In Match Play the penalty is the loss of the hole. (R. & A.)

Advice from forecaddie. (3) A player may employ a forecaddie, but may not receive advice from him.

In Match Play the penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole.

In Stroke Competition the penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

(4) When playing through the green, or from a hazard, a player may have the line to the hole indicated to him, but no mark shall be placed, nor shall anyone stand on the proposed line, in order to indicate it, while the stroke is being made.

Indicating
line of play.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play.

The penalty for a breach of this rule in Stroke Competition shall be the loss of two strokes.

RULE V.

The ball must be fairly struck at with the head of the club, not pushed, scraped nor spooned.

Ball to be fairly struck at.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play.

The penalty for a breach of this rule in Stroke Competition shall be two strokes.

RULE VI.

A ball must be played wherever it lies or the hole be given up, except as otherwise provided for in the Rules and Local Rules.

Ball played wherever it lies

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition. (See Rule 2, Stroke Competition.)

RULE VII.

When the balls are in play, the ball farther from the hole shall be played first. Through the green, or in a hazard, if a player play when his opponent should have played, the opponent may at once recall the stroke. A ball so recalled shall be dropped as near as possible to the place where it lay, without penalty.

played first.

For teeing ground, see Rule 2 (2); for putting green, see Rule 31 (2).

RULE VIII.

A ball shall be dropped in the following manner: The player himself shall drop it. He shall face the hole, stand erect, and drop the ball behind him over his shoulder.

How to drop a ball.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

If, in the act of dropping, the ball touch the player, he shall incur no penalty, and, if it roll into a hazard, the player may re-drop the ball without penalty.

RULE IX.

Ball not to be touched except in addressing, for identification.

(1) A ball in play may not be touched before the hole is played out, except as provided for in the Rules.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be one stroke in Match or Stroke Competition.

The player may, without penalty, touch his ball with his club in the act of addressing it, provided he does not move the ball. A ball in play may, with the opponent's consent, be lifted for the purpose of identification, but it must be carefully replaced.

If in searching for a ball a player or his caddie move it, the penalty is the loss of one stroke in Match or Stroke Play. (R. & A.)

Ball moved by opponent's ball.

(2) If the player's ball move the opponent's ball through the green, or in a hazard, the opponent, if he choose, may drop a ball, without penalty, as near as possible to the place where his ball lay, but this must be done before another stroke is played by either side.

RULE X.

Removal of irregularities of surface.

In playing through the green, irregularities of surface which could in any way affect the player's stroke shall not be removed nor pressed down by the player, his partner or either of their caddies; a player is, however, always entitled to place his feet firmly on the ground when taking his stance.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

RULE XI.

Removal of obstructions.

Any flag-stick, guide-flag, movable guide-post, wheelbarrow, tool, roller, grass-cutter, box, vehicle or similar obstruction may be removed. A ball moved in removing such an obstruction shall be replaced without penalty. A ball lying on or touching such an obstruction, or lying on or touching clothes, or nets, or ground under repair or covered up or opened for the purpose of the upkeep of the course, or lying in one of the holes, or in a guide-flag hole, or in a hole made by the greenkeeper, may be lifted and dropped without penalty as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer to the hole. A ball lifted in a hazard under such circumstances shall be dropped in the hazard.

If a ball lie on or within a club's length of a drain-cover, water-pipe or hydrant, located on the course, it may be lifted and dropped without penalty, as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole—as near as possible shall mean—"within a club's length." If it be impossible for want of space or other cause for a player to drop the ball in conformity with this interpretation, he shall place the ball as near as possible within the limits laid down in this interpretation, but not nearer the hole. (U. S. G. A.)

A pile or mound of cut grass resulting from the mowing of the course or any other material piled for removal is considered to be upkeep. A ball lodging in or lying on such an obstruction may be lifted and dropped without penalty. (U. S. G. A.)

RULE XII.

(1) Any loose impediment lying within a club length of the ball and not being in or touching a hazard may be removed without penalty; if the ball move after any such loose impediment has been touched by the player, his partner, or either of their caddies, the player shall be deemed to have caused the ball to move and the penalty shall be one stroke in both Match and Stroke Competition.

Removal of loose impediments.

(2) A loose impediment lying more than a club length from the ball may not be moved under penalty of the loss of the hole in Match Play and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition, unless the loose impediment lie on the putting green. (See Rule 28 (1).)

(3) When a ball is in play, if a player, or his partner, or either of their caddies, accidentally move his or their ball, or by touching anything cause it to move, the penalty shall be one stroke in both Match and Stroke Competition.

Ball accidentally moved.

(4) If a ball in play move after the player has grounded his club in the act of addressing it, or, if a ball in play being in a hazard move after the player has taken his stance to play it, he shall be deemed to have caused it to move, and the penalty shall be one stroke in both Match and Stroke Competition.

Ball moving after grounded.

NOTE.—If the player has lifted a loose impediment, see Rules 12 (1) and 28 (1), and the ball has not moved until the player has grounded his club, he shall only be deemed to have caused the ball to move under Section (4) of this Rule, and the penalty shall be one stroke in both Match and Stroke Competition.

A mole-hill or mole-track may be removed from the fair green in any way which will not unnecessarily interfere with the surface of the green. (U. S. G. A.)

RULE XIII.

Playing a moving ball.

A player shall not play while his ball is moving, under the penalty of the loss of the hole in Match Play and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition, except in the case of a teed ball (Rule 2), or a ball struck twice (Rule 14), or a ball in water (Rule 26).

When the ball only begins to move while the player is making his backward or forward swing, he shall incur no penalty under this Rule, but he is not exempted from the provisions of Rule 12 (1), or Rule 28 (1), and of Rule 12 (3) and (4).

RULE XIV.

Striking ball twice.

If a player, when making a stroke, in both Match and Stroke Competition, strike the ball twice, the penalty shall be one stroke, but he shall incur no further penalty by reason of his having played while his ball was moving.

RULE XV.

Moving or bending fixed or growing objects.

Before striking at a ball in play, a player shall not move, bend, nor break anything fixed or growing, except so far as is necessary to enable him fairly to take his stance in addressing the ball, or in making his backward or forward swing. The club may only be grounded lightly, and not pressed on the ground.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

A player may take a practice swing or swings after the ball is in play, more than a club's length from the ball. (U. S. G. A.)

In grounding a club, a player may only ground his club lightly. Drawing it back and forward across the line of play is illegal and entails a penalty of the loss of the hole in Match Play and a penalty of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

Undue pressure in grounding a club entails a like penalty. (R. & A.)

RULE XVI.

When the balls lie within a club length of each other through the green or in a hazard, the ball lying nearer to the hole may, at the option of either the player or the opponent, be lifted until the other ball is played, and shall then be replaced as near as possible to the place where it lay.

If either ball be accidentally moved in complying with this Rule, no penalty shall be incurred, and the ball so moved shall be replaced.

If the lie of the lifted ball be altered in playing the other ball, the lifted ball may be placed as near as possible to the place where it lay and in a lie similar to that which it originally occupied.

Balls within a club length of each other.

RULE XVII.

(1) If a ball in motion be stopped or deflected by any agency outside the match, or by a forecaddie, it is a rub of the green, and the ball shall be played from the spot where it lies.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

Moving ball stopped.

(2) If a ball lodge in anything moving, a ball shall be dropped, or if on the putting-green, placed, as near as possible to the place where the object was when the ball lodged in it, without penalty.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

Ball lodging in anything moving.

(3) If a ball at rest be displaced by any agency outside the match, except wind, the player shall drop a ball as near as possible to the place where it lay, without penalty; and if the ball be displaced on the putting-green, it shall be replaced without penalty.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

Ball at rest displaced by outside agency.

RULE XVIII.

If a player's ball, when in motion, be interfered with in any way by an opponent, or his caddie, or his clubs, the opponent's side shall lose the hole.

If a player's ball, when at rest, be moved by an opponent, or his caddie or his clubs, the opponent's side shall lose the hole, except as provided for in Rules 9 (2), 16, 22 (3), 31 (1), 32 (2), and 33.

RULE XIX.

Ball striking the player, etc. If a player's ball strike, or be stopped by himself, or his partner, or either of their caddies or their clubs, his side shall lose the hole in Match Play, and the loss of one stroke in Stroke Competition, except as provided for in Stroke Rule 13 (1).

RULE XX.

Playing opponent's ball. (1) If a player play the opponent's ball his side shall lose the hole in Match Play unless:

(a) The opponent then play the player's ball, in which case the penalty is cancelled in Match Play, and the hole shall be played out with the balls thus exchanged.

(b) The mistake occur through wrong information given by an opponent or his caddie, in which case there shall be no penalty in Match Play; if the mistake be discovered before the opponent has played, it shall be rectified by dropping a ball as near as possible to the place where the opponent's ball lay.

In Stroke Competition, if a Competitor play a stroke with a ball other than his own, he shall incur no penalty, provided that he then plays his own ball, but if he plays two consecutive strokes with a wrong ball, he shall be disqualified.

In a hazard, if a Competitor play more than one stroke with a ball other than his own, and the mistake be discovered before he has played a stroke with the wrong ball from outside the limits of the hazard, he shall incur no penalty provided he then plays his own ball. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification. (See Rule 8, Rules for play in Stroke Competition.)

On the putting-green the ball shall be replaced.

Playing ball outside the match. (2) If a player in Match Play play a stroke with the ball of anyone not engaged in the match, and the mistake be discovered and intimated to his opponent before his opponent has played his next stroke, there shall be no penalty; if the mistake be not discovered and so intimated until after the opponent has played his next stroke, the player's side shall lose the hole.

RULE XXI.

Ball lost. If a ball be "lost," except in water, casual water, or out of bounds, the player's side shall lose the hole, unless it is afterwards discovered that the opponent's ball is also lost, when the hole shall be halved.

In Stroke Competition see Rule 12, Rules for Stroke Competition.

RULE XXII.

(1) If a ball lie in fog, bent, bushes, long grass, or the like, only so much thereof shall be touched as will enable the player to find his ball. Looking for ball in bent, etc.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of a stroke in both Match Play and Stroke Competition.

(2) If a ball be completely covered by sand, only so much thereof may be removed as will enable the player to see the top of the ball; if the ball be touched in removing the sand, no penalty shall be incurred. In sand.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

(3) If a player or his caddie when searching for an opponent's ball accidentally touch or move it, no penalty shall be incurred, and the ball, if moved, shall be replaced. Accidentally moved by opponent in search.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

RULE XXIII.

(1) If a ball lie out of bounds, the player shall play his next stroke as nearly as possible at the spot from which the ball which is out of bounds was played. If the ball was played out of bounds from the teeing-ground the player may tee a ball for his next stroke; in every other case the ball shall be dropped. Ball out of bounds.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and disqualification in Stroke Competition.

If it is doubtful that a ball be out of bounds, the player who played it is not entitled to presume that it is out of bounds until he has made a search of five minutes for it. Meanwhile his opponent may make a search of five minutes for the ball within bounds, and if the ball is not found within that time, the player who struck the ball shall be given the benefit of the doubt, and the ball shall be considered "out of bounds." (U. S. G. A.)

(2) In order to save delay, if a player after making a stroke be doubtful whether his ball is out of Provisional ball played.

bounds or not, he may play another ball as provided for in paragraph (1) of this Rule, but if it be discovered that the first ball is not out of bounds, it shall continue in play without penalty.

On reaching the place where the first ball is likely to be, if the player or his opponent be still in doubt, the player is not entitled to presume that the first ball is out of bounds till he has made a search of five minutes.

Ascertaining
location of ball.

(3) A player has the right at any time of ascertaining whether his opponent's ball is out of bounds or not, before his opponent can compel him to continue his play.

of bounds.

(4) A player may stand out of bounds to play a ball lying within bounds.

RULE XXIV.

Ball unfit for play.

If a ball split into separate pieces, another ball may be dropped where any piece lies. If a ball crack or becomes unfit for play, the player may change it on intimating to his opponent his intention to do so. Mud adhering to a ball shall not be considered as making it unfit for play.

Cleaning a ball when in play entails a penalty of disqualification in Stroke Competition and the loss of the hole in Match Play, except under special rulings of Local Rules by Committee in charge. (U. S. G. A.)

HAZARDS AND CASUAL WATER.

RULE XXV.

play in hazards.

When a ball lies in or touches a hazard, nothing shall be done which can in any way improve its lie; the club shall not touch the ground, nor shall anything be touched or moved, before the player strikes at the ball, subject to the following exceptions: (1) The player may place his feet firmly on the ground for the purpose of taking his stance; (2) in addressing the ball, or in the backward or forward swing, any grass, bent, bush, or other growing substance, or the side of a bunker, wall, paling, or other immovable obstacle may be touched; (3) steps or planks placed in a hazard by the Green Committee for access to or egress from such hazard, or any obstruction mentioned in Rule II, may be removed, and if a ball be moved in so doing, it shall be replaced without penalty; (4) any loose impediment may be lifted from the putting-green; (5) the player shall be entitled to find his ball as provided for by Rule 22.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

A recognized water hazard cannot be "out of bounds." (R. & A.)

RULE XXVI.

When a ball is in water, a player may, without penalty, strike at it while it is moving, but he must not delay to make his stroke in order to allow the wind or current to better the position of the ball, under penalty of the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

Ball moving in water.

RULE XXVII.

(1) If a ball lie or be lost in a recognized water hazard (whether the ball lie in water or not), or in casual water in a hazard, the player may drop a ball under penalty of one stroke in Match Play or Stroke Competition, either (a) behind the hazard, keeping the spot at which the ball crossed the margin of the hazard between himself and the hole, or (b) in the hazard, keeping the spot at which the ball entered the water between himself and the hole.

Ball in water hazard.

Ball in casual water in hazard.

Ice on the putting-green or through the green is considered "casual water." (R. & A.)

(2) If a ball lie or be lost in casual water through the green, the player may drop a ball without penalty within two club lengths of the margin, as near as possible to the spot where the ball lay, but not nearer to the hole.

Ball in casual water through the green.

If a ball when dropped roll into the water, it may be redropped without penalty.

(3) If a ball on the putting-green lie in casual water, or if casual water intervene between a ball lying on the putting-green and the hole, the ball may be played where it lies, or it may be lifted without penalty and placed by hand, either within two club lengths directly behind the spot from which the ball was lifted, or in the nearest position to that spot which is not nearer to the hole and which affords a putt to the hole without casual water intervening.

Ball in casual water on the putting green.

Water interfering with stance.

(4) A ball lying so near the casual water that the water interferes with the player's stance may be treated as if it lay in casual water, under the preceding Section of this Rule.

Want of space to drop.

(5) If it be impossible, from want of space in which to play, or from any other cause, for a player to drop a ball in conformity with Sections (1) and (2) of this Rule, or to place it in conformity with Section (3), he shall "drop" or "place" as nearly as possible within the limits laid down in these Sections, but not nearer to the hole.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

PUTTING GREEN.

RULE XXVIII.

Removal of loose impediments.

(1) Any loose impediment may be lifted from the putting-green, irrespective of the position of the player's ball. If the player's ball, when on the putting-green, move after any loose impediment lying within six inches of it has been touched by the player, his partner, or either of their caddies, the player shall be deemed to have caused it to move and the penalty shall be one stroke, in both Match Play and Stroke Competition.

Removal of dung, etc.

(2) Dung, wormcasts, snow and ice may be scraped aside with a club, but the club must not be laid with more than its own weight upon the ground, nor must anything be pressed down either with the club or in any other way.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule in Match Play is the loss of the hole, and in Stroke Competition the loss of two strokes.

Under Rule 28 (1) the hand may in all cases be used to lift "Loose Impediments." In the case of certain "Loose Impediments" specified in Rule 28 (2), it is also permissible to make use of a club in order to scrape them aside. As loose leaves are not among these impediments specified in Rule 28 (2), they must be lifted. (R. & A.)

to putt.

(3) The line of the putt must not be touched, except by placing the club immediately in front of the ball in the act of addressing it, and as above authorized.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

It is not permissible to touch the ground behind the hole in order to point out the line of a putt. (R. & A.)

RULE XXIX.

(1) When the player's ball is on the putting-green, the player's caddie, his partner, or his partner's caddie may, before the stroke is played, point out the direction for putting, but in doing this they shall not touch the ground on the proposed line of the putt. No mark shall be placed anywhere on the putting-green.

Direction for putting.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

(2) Any player or caddie engaged in the match may stand at the hole, but no player or caddie shall endeavor, by moving or otherwise, to influence the action of the wind upon the ball.

A player is, however, always entitled to send his own caddie to stand at the hole while he plays his stroke.

Either side may refuse to allow a person who is not engaged in the match to stand at the hole.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

RULE XXX.

When the player's ball lies on the putting-green, he shall not play until the opponent's ball is at rest.

Opponent's ball to be at rest.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

RULE XXXI.

(1) When the balls lie within six inches of each other on the putting-green (the distance to be measured from their nearest points), the ball lying nearer to the hole may, at the option of either the player or the opponent, be lifted until the other ball is played, and the lifted ball shall then be replaced as near as possible to the place where it lay.

Ball within six inches lifted.

If either ball be accidentally moved in complying with this Rule, no penalty shall be incurred, and the ball so moved shall be replaced.

A player is laid a stymie if on the putting-green the opponent's ball lies in the line of his putt to the hole, provided the balls be not within six inches of each other.

(2) On the putting-green, if a player play when his opponent should have played, the stroke may be at once recalled by the opponent, and the ball replaced.

NOTE.—For a ball which is displaced on a putting-green see Rule 17 (2) and (3). For a player playing the opponent's ball on the putting-green see Rule 20 (1). For casual water on a putting-green see Rule 27 (3).

Casual water.

RULE XXXII.

flag-stick.

(1) Either side is entitled to have the flag-stick removed when approaching the hole; if a player's ball strike the flag-stick, which has been so removed by himself, or his partner, or either of their caddies, his side shall lose the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

If the ball rest against the flag-stick which is in the hole, the player shall be entitled to remove the flag-stick, and, if the ball fall into the hole, the player shall be deemed to have holed out at his last stroke.

In Stroke Competition when a ball lying within 20 yards of the hole is played and strikes, or is stopped by the flag-stick or the person standing at the hole, the penalty shall be two strokes. (R. & A.)

replacing of balls.

(2) If the player's ball knock the opponent's ball into the hole, the opponent shall be deemed to have holed out at his last stroke.

If the player's ball move the opponent's ball, the opponent, if he choose, may replace it, but this must be done before another stroke is played by either side.

If the player's ball stop on the spot formerly occupied by the opponent's ball, and the opponent declare his intention to replace his ball, the player shall first play another stroke, after which the opponent shall replace and play his ball.

See Rule 13. Rules for Stroke Competitions for penalty in Stroke Competitions.

Ball on lip of hole.

(3) If the player has holed out and the opponent then plays to the lip of the hole, the player may not knock the ball away, but the opponent, if asked, shall play his next stroke without delay. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole.

If the opponent's ball lie on the lip of the hole, the player, after holing out, may knock the ball away, claiming the hole if holing at the like, and the half if holing at the odd, provided that the player's ball does not strike the opponent's ball and set it in motion; if the player neglect to knock away the opponent's ball, and it fall into the hole, the opponent shall be deemed to have holed out at his last stroke.

RULE XXXIII.

When a player has holed out and his opponent has been left with a stroke for the half, nothing that the player who has holed out can do shall deprive him of the half which he has already gained.

Penalty of loss of hole qualified by half previously gained.

GENERAL PENALTY.

RULE XXXIV.

Where no penalty for the breach of a Rule is stated, the penalty shall be the loss of the hole.

Loss of the hole.

DISPUTES.

RULE XXXV.

An umpire or referee, see definition 22, when appointed, shall take cognizance of any breach of rule that he may observe, whether he be appealed to on the point or not.

Duties of umpire or referee.

RULE XXXVI.

If a dispute arise on any point, a claim must be made before the players strike off from the next teeing-ground, or, in the case of the last hole of the round, before they leave the putting-green. If no umpire or referee has been appointed, the players have the right of determining to whom the point shall be referred, but should they not agree, either side may have it referred officially through the secretary of the club, to the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association, whose decision shall be final. If the point in dispute be not covered by the Rules of Golf, the arbiters shall decide it by equity.

Claims, when and how made.

If the players have agreed to an umpire or referee, they must abide by his decision.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR LOCAL RULES.

When necessary, local rules should be made for such obstructions as rushes, trees, hedges, fixed seats, fences, gates, railways, and walls, for such difficulties as rabbit scrapes, hoof marks and other damage caused to the course by animals, for such local conditions as the existence of mud which may be held to interfere with the proper playing of the game and for the penalty to be imposed in the case of a ball which lies out of bounds.

Ball: when
placed.

When a ball is lifted under a local rule, as in the case of a ball lifted from a putting-green other than that of the hole which is being played, the Rules of Golf Committee recommends that if it is to be played from "through the green" it should be dropped; if it is to be played on the putting-green of the hole that is being played, it should be placed.

FORM AND MAKE OF GOLF CLUBS.

The United States Golf Association will not sanction any substantial departure from the traditional and accepted form and make of golf clubs, which, in its opinion, consists of a plain shaft and a head which does not contain any mechanical contrivance, such as springs.* It also regards as illegal the use of such clubs as those of the mallet-headed type, or such clubs as have the neck so bent as to produce a similar effect.

The shaft of a putter may be fixed at the heel or at any other point in the head.

The term mallet-headed, as above used, when applied to putters does not embrace putters of the so-called Schenectady type. (U. S. G. A.)

Etiquette of Golf

---

1. No one should stand close to or directly behind the ball, move, or talk, when a player is making a stroke.

On the putting-green no one should stand beyond the hole in the line of a player's stroke.

2. The player who has the honour should be allowed to play before his opponent tees his ball.

3. No player should play from the tee until the party in front have played their second strokes and are out of range, nor play up to the putting-green till the party in front have holed out and moved away.

4. Players who have holed out should not try their putts over again when other players are following them.

5. Players looking for a lost ball should allow other matches coming up to pass them; they should signal to the players following them to pass, and having given such a signal, they should not continue their play until these players have passed and are out of reach.

6. Turf cut or displaced by a player should be at once replaced and pressed down with the foot.

7. A player should carefully fill up all holes made by himself in a bunker.

8. Players should see that their caddies do not injure the holes by standing close to them when the ground is soft.

9. A player who has incurred a penalty stroke should intimate the fact to his opponent as soon as possible.

Special Rules for Match Play Competitions

RULE I.

On the putting-green, if the competitor whose ball is the nearer to the hole play first, his ball shall be at once replaced.

The penalty for a breach of this rule shall be the disqualification of both competitors.

RULE II.

A competitor shall not waive any penalty incurred by his opponent, under penalty of the loss of the hole.

RULE III.

Competitors shall not agree to exclude the operation of any Rule, or Local Rule, under penalty of disqualification.

The Rules of Golf Committee recommends that players should not concede putts to their opponents.

The Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association recommends that in Match Play, singles, three-fourths of the difference between the handicaps be allowed, and that in Match Play, foursomes, three-eighths of the difference of the combined handicaps be allowed.

Rules for Three-Ball, Best Ball, and Four-Ball Matches

---

DEFINITIONS.

(1) When three players play against each other, each playing his own ball, the match is called a three-ball match.

(2) When one player plays his ball against the best ball of two or more players, the match is called a best ball match.

(3) When two players play their better ball against the better ball of two other players, the match is called a four-ball match.

GENERAL.

RULE I.

Any player may have any ball in the match lifted or played, at the option of its owner, if he consider that it might interfere with or be of assistance to a player or side, but this should only be done before the player has played his stroke.

RULE II.

If a player's ball move any other ball in the match, the moved ball must be replaced as near as possible to the spot where it lay, without penalty.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule is the loss of the hole in Match Play and disqualification in Stroke Competition.

RULE III.

Through the green a player shall incur no penalty for playing when an opponent should have done so, and the stroke shall not be recalled.

On the putting-green the stroke may be recalled by an opponent, but no penalty shall be incurred.

THREE-BALL MATCHES.

RULE IV.

During a three-ball match if no player is entitled at a teeing-ground to claim the honour from both opponents, the same order of striking shall be followed as at the last teeing-ground.

RULE V.

In a three-ball match, if a player's ball strike, or be stopped, or moved by an opponent or an opponent's caddie, or clubs, that opponent shall lose the hole to the player. As regards the other opponent the occurrence shall be treated as a rub of the green.

BEST BALL AND FOUR-BALL MATCHES.

RULE VI.

Balls belonging to the same side may be played in the order the side deems best.

RULE VII.

If a player's ball strike, or be stopped, or moved by an opponent or an opponent's caddie, or clubs, the opponent's side shall lose the hole in Match Play.

In Stroke Competition it is a Rub of the green, and the ball shall be played from where it lies except as provided for in Stroke Rule 13 (1). See Stroke Rule 10 (1).

RULE VIII.

If a player's ball (the player being one of a side) strike or be stopped by himself, or his partner, or either of their caddies or clubs, only that player shall be disqualified for that hole.

RULE IX.

If a player play a stroke with his partner's ball, and the mistake be discovered and intimated to the other side before an opponent has played another stroke, the player shall be disqualified for that hole, and his partner shall drop a ball as near as possible to the spot from which his ball was played, without penalty. If the mistake be not discovered till after the opponent has played a stroke, the player's side shall lose the hole in Match Play and the player who violated this rule shall be disqualified for that hole in Stroke Competition.

RULE X.

In all other cases where a player would by the Rules of Golf incur the loss of the hole, he shall be disqualified for that hole, but the disqualification shall not apply to his partner.

Special Rules for Stroke Competitions

RULES FOR THE CONDUCT OF STROKE COMPETITIONS.

Wherever the word Committee is used in these Rules, it refers to the Committee in charge of the Competition. Committee defined.

RULE I.

(1) In Stroke Competitions the competitor who holes the stipulated round or rounds in the fewest strokes shall be the winner. The winner.

The Rules of Golf Committee is of opinion that it is hardly possible to play Match and Score Play at the same time in a satisfactory manner, or without infringing Rules. (R. & A.)

(2) Competitors shall play in couples; if from any cause there be a single competitor, the Committee shall either provide him with a player who shall mark for him, or select a marker for him and allow him to compete alone. The order and times of starting should, when possible, be determined by ballot. Order of play.

Stroke Rule 1 (2) does not permit more than two competitors to play together. (R. & A.)

RULE II.

(1) Competitors shall start in the order and at the times arranged by the Committee. They shall not discontinue play nor delay to start on account of bad weather, or for any other reason whatever, except such as the Committee may consider satisfactory. Not to discontinue play in bad weather.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

(2) If the Committee consider that the course is not in a playable condition, or that insufficient light renders the proper playing of the game impossible, it shall at any time have power to declare the day's play null and void. Course unplayable.

RULE III.

Ties, how and when decided. If the lowest scores be made by two or more competitors, the tie or ties shall be decided by another round to be played on the same day; but if the Committee determine that this is inexpedient or impossible, it shall appoint a day and time for the decision of the tie or ties.

Should an uneven number of competitors tie, their names shall be drawn by ballot and placed upon a list; the competitors shall then play in couples in the order in which their names appear. The single competitor shall be provided for by the Committee, either under Rule 1 (2), or by allowing three competitors to play together, if their unanimous consent has been obtained.

RULE IV.

New holes. (1) New holes should be made on the day on which Stroke Competitions begin.

ractice on day of competition. (2) On the day of the competition, before starting, no competitor shall play on, or on to, any of the putting-greens, nor shall he intentionally play at any hole of the stipulated round which is within his reach, under penalty of disqualification.

When a Competition is continued on two or more days, Competitors who practice on the second or following days cannot be deemed to have infringed Stroke Rule 4 (2), which refers to play "before starting," i. e., before the player starts in the Competition. (R. & A.)

RULE V.

The scores, how kept. (1) The score for each hole shall be kept by a marker or by each competitor noting the other's score. Should more than one marker keep a score, each shall sign the part of the score for which he is responsible. The scores should be called out after each hole. On completion of the stipulated round the card shall be signed by the person who has marked it, and the competitor shall see that it is handed in as soon as reasonably possible. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

Scoring cards should be issued with the date and the player's name entered on the card.

A caddie cannot be considered a "marker." Under urgent and exceptional conditions, however, the Committee may alter this interpretation. (R. & A.)

(2) Competitors must satisfy themselves before the cards are handed in that the scores for each hole are correctly marked, as no alteration can be made on any card after it has been returned. If it be found that a competitor has returned a score lower than that actually played, he shall be disqualified. For the additions of the scores marked the Committee shall be responsible.

Marking and addition of scores.

(3) If, on the completion of the stipulated round, a player is doubtful whether he has incurred a penalty at any hole, he may enclose his scoring card with a written statement of the circumstances to the Committee, who shall decide what penalty, if any, has been incurred.

Committee to decide doubtful penalties.

RULES FOR PLAY IN STROKE COMPETITIONS.

RULE VI.

A competitor shall not ask for nor willingly receive advice from anyone except his caddie.

Advice.

RULE VII.

(1) Competitors should strike off from the first teeing ground in the order in which their names appear upon the starting list. Thereafter the honour shall be taken as in match play, but if a competitor, by mistake, play out of turn, no penalty shall be incurred, and the stroke cannot be recalled.

Order of starting—the honour.

(2) If at any hole a competitor play his first stroke from outside the limits of the teeing ground, he shall count that stroke, tee a ball, and play his second stroke from within these limits.

Playing outside limits of teeing ground.

RULE VIII.

(1) A competitor must hole out with his own ball at every hole. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

Must hole out with own ball.

(2) If a competitor play a stroke with a ball other than his own he shall incur no penalty provided he then play his own ball; but if he plays two consecutive strokes with a wrong ball, he shall be disqualified.

hazards.

(3) In a hazard if a competitor play more than one stroke with a ball other than his own, and the mistake be discovered before he has played a stroke with the wrong ball from outside the limits of the hazard, he shall incur no penalty provided he then play his own ball.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

RULE IX.

player.

If a competitor's ball strike or be stopped by himself, his clubs or his caddie, the penalty shall be one stroke, except as provided for in Stroke Rule 13 (1).

RULE X.

Ball striking or
competitor.

(1) If a competitor's ball strike or be stopped by another competitor, or his clubs, or his caddie, it is a rub of the green, and the ball shall be played from where it lies, except as provided for in Stroke Rule 13 (1). If a competitor's ball which is at rest be accidentally moved by another competitor, or his caddie, or his clubs, or his ball, or any outside agency except wind, it shall be replaced as near as possible to the spot where it lay.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

Allowed to lift
another competitor's ball.

(2) A competitor may have any other player's ball played or lifted, at the option of its owner, if he finds that it interferes with his play.

RULE XI.

Lifting ball under
penalty.

(1) A ball may be lifted from any place on the course under penalty of two strokes. If a player lift a ball in accordance with this rule, he shall tee and play a ball behind the place from which the ball was lifted; if this be impossible, he shall tee and play a ball as near as possible to the place from which the ball was lifted, but not nearer to the hole.

In preparing a tee as above authorized, the player is exempted from the restrictions imposed by Rule 15.

The penalty for a breach of this Section of the Rule shall be disqualification.

(2) For the purpose of identification, a competitor may at any time lift and carefully replace his ball in the presence of the player with whom he is competing.

Lifting for identification.

The penalty for a breach of this Section of the Rule shall be one stroke.

RULE XII.

If a ball be "lost" (except in water, casual water, or out of bounds), the competitor shall, whether he has played from "through the green" or from a hazard, return as near as possible to the spot from which the ball was struck, and there tee a ball under penalty of one stroke.

Ball lost.

[Under this Rule a ball shall only be considered lost, when it has not been found after a search of five minutes.]

It is usual to frame Local Rules for Special Hazards in the following way, viz: "If a ball lie or be lost in, etc.," or to treat the hazard as "out of bounds." (R. & A.)

RULE XIII.

(1) When a competitor's ball lying within twenty yards of the hole is played and strikes or is stopped by the flag-stick or the person standing at the hole, the penalty shall be two strokes.

Play within 20 yards of hole. Ball striking flag-stick, etc.

Neglect on the part of the person standing at the hole does not exempt the Competitor from incurring the penalty. (R. & A.)

(2) When both balls are on the putting-green, if a competitor's ball strike the ball of the player with whom he is competing, the competitor shall incur a penalty of one stroke, and the ball which was struck shall be at once replaced; see Stroke Rule 10 (1).

Ball striking fellow-competitor's ball.

(3) The competitor whose ball is the farther from the hole may have the ball which is nearer to the hole lifted or played at the option of its owner. If the latter refuse to comply with this Rule when requested to do so, he shall be disqualified.

Nearer ball may be lifted.

(4) If the competitor whose ball is the nearer to the hole consider that his ball might be of assistance to the player with whom he is competing, he should lift it or play first.

Ball nearer hole of assistance to player.

(5) If the competitor whose ball is the nearer to the hole lift his ball while the player's ball is in motion, he shall incur a penalty of one stroke.

Ball lifted when player's ball is in motion.

all lifted before
holed out. (6) If a competitor or his caddie pick up his ball from the putting-green before it is holed out (except as provided for above), he shall, before he has struck off from the next tee, or, in the case of the last hole on the ground, before he has left the putting-green, be permitted to replace the ball under penalty of two strokes.

RULE XIV.

General penalty. Where in the Rules of Golf the penalty for the breach of any Rule is the loss of the hole, in stroke competitions the penalty shall be the loss of two strokes, except where otherwise provided for in these Special Rules.

RULE XV.

General rule. The Rules of Golf, so far as they are not at variance with these Special Rules, shall apply to stroke competitions.

RULE XVI.

Disputes, how decided. If a dispute arise on any point it shall be decided by the Committee, whose decision shall be final, unless an appeal be made to the Executive Committee, as provided for in Rule 36.

Rules for Bogey Competitions

A Bogey competition is a series of Stroke Competitions in which play is against a fixed score at each hole of the stipulated round or rounds, and the winner is the competitor who is most successful in the aggregate of these competitions. The rules for stroke competitions shall apply with the following exceptions:

- 1—Any hole for which a competitor makes no return shall be regarded as a loss. The marker shall only be responsible for the marking of the correct number of strokes at each hole at which a competitor makes a score either equal to or less than the fixed score.
- 2—Any breach of rule which entails the penalty of disqualification shall only disqualify the competitor for the hole at which the breach occurred; but a competitor shall not be exempted from the general disqualification imposed by Stroke Rules 2 (1), 4 (2) and 5 (1) and (2).

NOTE—A scale showing the handicap allowance and indicating the holes at which strokes are to be given or taken shall be printed on the back of every scoring card.

The United States Golf Association recommends that clubs continue to follow the custom of allowing each competitor three-quarters of his full handicap.

Changes and Interpretations

Changes in the Rules of Golf

As Adopted at the Annual Meeting of the United States Golf Association, January 14, 1911.

First sentence of paragraph 1 of Rule 1, to read as follows:

"The game of golf is played by two sides, each playing its own ball, with clubs made in conformity with the directions laid down in the clause on the 'Form and Make of Golf Clubs.' "

Clause entitled "Form and Make of Golf Clubs," to read as follows:

"The United States Golf Association will not sanction any substantial departure from the traditional and accepted form and make of Golf Clubs which, in its opinion, consist of a plain shaft and a head which does not contain any mechanical contrivance, such as springs; it also regards as illegal the use of such clubs as those of the mallet-headed type, or such clubs as have the neck so bent as to produce a similar effect."

Special Interpretations of the Rules of Golf.

As Passed By the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association, February 17, 1909, to January 14, 1912.

Interpretation of clause entitled "Form and Make of Golf Clubs."

"The shaft of a putter may be fixed at the heel or at any other point in the head.

Interpretation of General Rule No. 11:

"If a ball lie on or within a club's length of a drain-cover, water-pipe or hydrant, located on the course, it may be lifted and dropped without penalty, as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole—as near as possible shall mean—"within a club's length." If it be impossible for want of space or other cause for a player to drop the ball in conformity with this interpretation, he shall place the ball as nearly as possible within the limits laid down in this interpretation, but not nearer the hole."

Interpretation of General Rule 12:

"A mole-hill or mole-track may be removed from the fair green in any way which will not unnecessarily interfere with the surface of the green."

Interpretation of General Rule 15:

"A player may take practice swing or swings after the ball is in play, more than a club's length from the ball."

Interpretation of General Rule 23:

"If it is doubtful that a ball be out of bounds, the player who played it is not entitled to presume that it is out of bounds until he has made a search of five minutes for it. Meanwhile, his opponent may make a search of five minutes for the ball within bounds, and if the ball is not found within that time, the player who struck the ball shall be given the benefit of the doubt, and the ball shall be considered 'out of bounds.'"

Changes in the By-Laws.

Section X of the By-Laws of the Association has been amended to read as follows:

"The competitions shall be played in accordance with the rules of golf as approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St Andrews, Scotland, September, 1908, with such amendments and interpretations only as may have been or may be hereafter adopted by the United States Golf Association, together with such local rules as are in force and published on the green over which the competitions are played."

The Amateur Rule.

As a result of the amateur rule discussion begun in the spring of 1914, which reached its climax at the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association in January, 1915, a revision of the amateur rule and the method of investigating violations of it have been adopted by the U. S. G. A. executive committee and were announced on March 20, by Howard F. Whitney, secretary of the national association. Sections 7 and 8 of the U. S. G. A. by-laws have been amended and revised and now read:

Sec. 7. An amateur golfer is one who has not accepted, directly or indirectly, any fee, gratuity, money or its equivalent as a consideration for the performance of any act or service arising in connection with the game of golf and who is not or has not been a professional in any other branch of athletics. Provided, however, that the above shall not apply to writing, editing or publishing articles, magazines or books on golf, or to laying out, constructing, supervising or giving advice concerning the layout, construction or upkeep of a golf course or any part thereof.

Any person who becomes ineligible by reason of this by-law may be reinstated by giving to the executive committee of this association satisfactory evidence of meriting such reinstatement.

No occurrence prior to January 8, 1915, shall affect the status of any person who was in good standing as an amateur golfer on said date.

The following are the violations of the above rule:

1. Playing or teaching the game of golf for pay. This includes accepting travelling or living expenses for playing over a course or for participating in a golf tournament, contest or exhibition.

2. Personally making or repairing golf clubs, golf balls or other golf articles for pay.

3. Serving after reaching the age of 16 as caddie, caddie master or greenkeeper for hire.

4. Lending one's name or likeness for the advertisement or sale of anything except as a dealer, manufacturer or inventor thereof in the usual course of business.

5. Permitting one's name to be advertised or published for pay as the author of books or articles on golf of which one is not actually the author.

Sec. 8. The executive committee shall take cognizance of every apparent violation of section 7 that may come to its attention in any manner whatsoever; it shall exercise absolute discretion in the interpretation and enforcement of the by-laws for the purpose of safeguarding the best interests of the game of golf and shall have power to inflict such penalties as the circumstances of each case may in its judgment justify.

The announcement of the new wording of the amateur definition is preceded by a letter written by Frank L. Woodward of the U. S. G. A., addressed "To the Golf Players and Golf Officials of the United States." It will be posted on the bulletin board of every club which is a member of the United States Golf Association. The letter reviews the long discussion of the amateur question and declares that in the future violations will be rigorously punished. It says, in part:

"It will be observed that a greater degree of freedom of action and discretion is accorded the committee, resulting in a corresponding increase in its responsibility. It is thus placed in a situation that would be regarded as unwelcome by most men, but the executive committee is convinced that the vast majority of golfers are in sympathy with their efforts to maintain the highest possible standard in the game. It is realized that the sole purpose of the committee is to safeguard the interests of golf; to preserve it as it has always been, a dignified recreation and gentlemanly pastime; to remove from it as far as may be any taint of commercialism, and to prevent its being used by amateurs to any extent whatever as a source of income or remuneration. The committee therefore counts upon the assistance and co-operation of this vast majority in administering the responsibilities that have been placed upon it, and the firm belief is entertained that when the situation is once fully understood and a knowledge of what is expected becomes current instances like those that have heretofore given rise to criticism will no longer occur. The situation of the committee if this proves to be true is relieved of all of its unwelcome accompaniments and a reasonable basis is afforded for the confident hope that no actual occasion for drastic discipline will in fact arise.

"Attention is particularly called to the new reading of Section 8. Heretofore no inquiry into the acts or practices of golfers was regarded as authorized except upon the filing of a formal written protest accompanied by certified statements of club secretaries. Now the whole subject is relieved of any red tape or complications, and the committee is directed to take cognizance of every case, no matter how the information reaches it. The former apparent inattention will no longer be the rule. The committee will consider itself obliged to investigate every case as thoroughly as possible, and if it finds circumstances that seem to require action it will determine as to the penalty, whether it is to be reprimand, suspension for a definite period, or complete forfeiture of amateur status. It is the bona fides of every transaction that will be particularly inquired into. The aim will be in every instance to discover what was the real object of the act or practice complained of. If the facts disclose that the motives of the act were harmless or not in reality in violation of the spirit of the rule no penalty would be exacted. Quite the opposite would result if it is shown that there has been the slightest attempt to exploit a player's proficiency or prominence in the game for any sort of consideration or emolument.

"At the annual meeting much was said about the primary responsibility of various club officials who have put temptation in the way of players by offering inducements to them to play over their courses, attend tournaments and the like. This was held in a measure to exonerate the players who accepted these offers. No language is too severe in condemnation of such heedlessness on the part of golf officials, but the day for this to be offered as an excuse for his action by any player has passed because the viciousness of the custom has been pointed out and the fact that it constitutes an offense has been explained. The golfers of the country are all possessed of sufficient intelligence to understand the rules and standards of golfing behavior. It is their duty to post themselves upon the requirements. Leniency should not be expected from the committee after the publicity that has been given to all the various phases of the question.

"The agitation of this amateur question has been beneficial, for it has riveted the attention of not only golfers but all classes interested in sports to the importance of preserving the purity of amateurism. It has produced so much discussion that more people than ever before now know what is really meant by the term amateur, with the result that a much more general understanding prevails regarding the limitations attached to the activities of an amateur. One of the functions of the executive committee is to so administer the duties of their office as to avoid friction and contention. This largely accounts for their pacific attitude at the time when disturbing incidents were otherwise to have been expected. The executive committee is perfectly well aware, however, that there was more than a little fire behind the vast amount of smoke that was rising. In the minds of a few players and of some club officials a deplorably low standard of conduct has been observed. Quite recently some prominent golfers who would have scorned to play for an actual money prize did play for certificates that were exchangeable into any form of merchandise. This instance is cited merely to show how far some golfers have yet to go before the amateur impulse within them may be said to be instinctive. To golfers of this description a kindly word of admonition is herewith proffered. The executive committee has been long suffering and very slow to anger. It will earnestly strive to be reasonable and always just, but it is quite capable of all the firmness and decision that its duties demand of it.

"The whole subject of this amateur question is in reality most simple if only it is approached with the attitude of willingness to do the right thing. The commanding necessity at this time is the awakening of a high sense of duty and obligation throughout the ranks of golfers in this country. The executive committee should not be compelled to drive players into the habit of compliance with regulations. There must be developed a more enlightened public opinion upon the subject that will result in the instinctive avoidance of questionable practices. We may be said to have passed through a sort of crisis in this matter; we have had a careful housecleaning and are starting fresh once more. If the point of view of all players can be said now to have been so altered that they will approach every problem as it arises with the query 'Does this conform to the proper spirit of the game?' rather than the more frequent one: 'Is there anything in the rule to prevent this,' the object that the executive committee has had in mind will have been achieved and the time and labor spent upon the improvement and revision of the by-laws will have been most aptly rewarded."

The executive committee, although ready and willing to investigate violations of the new rule, has addressed a note to the golf clubs of the country asking the local officials to deal with such violations as far as possible, and if the matter has gone too far, to submit the facts to the U. S. G. A. executive committee.

Glossary of Technical Terms Employed in the Game of Golf

---

- Addressing the ball—Putting one's self in position to strike the ball.
- Approach—When the player is sufficiently near the hole to be able to drive the ball to the putting green his stroke is called the "approach shot."
- Baff—To strike the ground with the "sole" of the club-head in playing, and so send ball in air.
- Baffy—A wooden club to play lofting shots.
- Bent—Rush, bent-grass.
- Bogey—Usually given the title of colonel. A phantom who is credited with a certain score for each hole, against which score each player is competing.
- Bone—A piece of ram's horn inserted in the sole of the club to prevent it from splitting.
- Brassie—A wooden club with a brass sole.
- Break-club—An obstacle lying near a ball of such a nature as might break the club when striking at the ball.
- Bulger—A club with a convex face.
- Bunker—Generally any rough, hazardous ground—more strictly, a sandpit.
- Bye—Any hole or holes that remain to be played after the match is finished. They are played for singly, unless the sides agree to make another match of them.
- Caddie—A person who carries the golfer's clubs, and who can usually give him advice in regard to the game.
- Cleek—An iron-headed club of considerable driving power, and sometimes used for putting.
- Club—The implement with which the ball is struck. The heads are of three kinds—wood, wood with a brass sole, and iron only.
- Course—That portion of the links on which the game ought to be played, generally bounded on either side by rough ground or other hazard.
- Cup—A small hole in the course, usually one made by the stroke of some previous player.
- Dead—A ball is said to be "dead" when it lies so near the hole that the "putt" is a dead certainty. A ball is said to fall "dead" when it does not run after alighting.
- Dormy—One side is said to be "dormy" when it is as many holes ahead as there remain holes to play. (This word is probably derived from the French, like many Scottish terms.)
- Draw—To drive widely to the left hand. (Identical in its results with Hook and Screw.)
- Driver—See Play-Club.
- Face—First, the slope of a bunker or hillock; second, the part of the club-head which strikes the ball.
- Flat—A club is said to be "flat" when its head is at a very obtuse angle to the shaft.
- Fog—Moss, rank grass.
- Fore!—A warning cry to any person in the way of the stroke. (Contracted from "before.")
- Foursome—A match in which two play on each side.
- Gobble—A rapid, straight "putt" into the hole, such that, had the ball not gone in, it would have gone some distance beyond.
- Grassed—Said of a club whose face is slightly "spooned" or sloped backward.
- Green—First, the whole links; second, the putting-ground around the different holes.
- Grip—First, the part of the handle covered with leather, by which the club is grasped; second, the grasp itself.
- Half-one—A handicap of a stroke deducted every second hole.

Half-shot—Less than a full swing.

Halved—A hole is said to be "halved" when each side takes the same number of strokes. A "halved" match is a "drawn game"—that is, the players have proved to be equal.

Hanging—A "hanging" ball is one which lies on a downward slope.

Hazard—A general term for bunker, long grass, road, water, whin, molehill, or other bad ground.

Head—This word is a striking specimen of incongruity and mixed metaphor. A head is the lowest part of a club, and possesses, among other mysterious characteristics, a sole, a heel, a toe or nose, a neck and a face.

Heel—First, the part of the head nearest the shaft; second, to hit from this part, and send the ball to the right hand.

Hole—First, the four and one-quarter-inch hole lined with iron; the holes going out are marked with white, and those coming in, with red flags. Second, the whole space between any two of these.

Honor—The right to play off first from the tee.

Hook—See Draw.

Hose—The socket in iron-headed clubs, into which the wooden shaft fits.

Iron—A club made of the material its name implies, with the head more or less laid back to loft a ball. A most deadly weapon in a good player's hands.

Jerk—In "jerking," the club should strike with a quick cut behind the ball, and stop on reaching the ground.

Lie—First, the inclination of a club when held on the ground in a natural position for striking; second, the situation of a ball, good or bad.

Like—See under Odds.

Like-as-we-lie—When both sides have played the same number of strokes.

Links—The open downs or heath on which golf is played.

Loft—To elevate the ball.

Long odds—When a player has to play a stroke more than his adversary, who is much farther on—that is, nearer the hole.

Made—A player, or his ball, is said to be "made" when his ball is sufficiently near the hole to be played on the putting green next shot.

Mashie—A club which, both in its make and its uses, is a compromise between the niblic and the iron.

Match—First, the sides playing against each other; second, the game itself.

Miss the globe—To fail to strike the ball, either by swinging right over the top of it, or by hitting the ground behind it, is counted a stroke.

Neck—The crook of the head where it joins the shaft.

Niblic—A small, narrow-headed, heavy iron club, used when the ball lies in bad places, as ruts or whins, etc.

Nose—The point or front portion of the club-head.

Odds—First, means the handicap given by a strong player to a weaker in a single match, consisting of either one, two, three or more holes to start with, or one stroke per hole, or every alternate hole, or at every third hole, etc.; second, to have played the "odds" is to have played one stroke more than your adversary. Some other terms used in counting the game will be most easily explained here altogether. If your opponent has played one stroke more than you—that is, "the odds"—your next stroke will be "the like;" if two strokes more—that is, "the two more"—your next stroke will be "the one off two;" if "three more," "the one off three," and so on.

One-off-two, One-off-three, etc.—See under Odds.

Play-club—A wooden-headed club, with full-length shaft, more or less supple; with it the ball can be driven to the greatest distance. It is used when the ball lies well.

Press—To strive to recover lost ground by special hard hitting—a very dangerous thing to attempt.

Putt—To play the delicate game close to the hole. (Pronounced "u" as in but.)

Rind—A strip of cloth under the leather to thicken the grip.

Rub on the green—A favorable or unfavorable knock to the ball, for which no penalty is imposed, and which must be submitted to.

Score—The narrow part of the club-head by which it is glued to the handle.

- Bolaff—When the club-head strikes the ground behind the ball and follows on with a ricochet.
- Scruff—Slightly razing the grass in striking.
- Set—A full complement of clubs.
- Shaft—The stick or handle of the club.
- Sole—The flat bottom of the club-head.
- Spoons—Wooden-headed clubs of three lengths—long, middle and short; the head is scooped, so as to loft the ball.
- Spring—The degree of suppleness in the shaft.
- Square—When the game stands evenly balanced, neither side being any holes ahead.
- Stance—The position of the player's feet when addressing himself to the ball.
- Steal—To hole an unlikely "putt" from a distance, but not by a "gobble."
- Stroke—The act of hitting the ball with the club, or the attempt to do so.
- Stymie—When your opponent's ball lies in the line of your "putt."
- Swing—The sweep of the club in driving.
- Swipe—A full driving stroke.
- Tee—The pat of sand on which the ball is placed for the first stroke each hole.
- Third—A handicap of a stroke deducted every third hole.
- Toe—Another name for the nose of the club.
- Top—To hit the ball above its center.
- Two-more, Three-more, etc.—See under Odds.
- Upright—A club is said to be "upright" when its head is not at a very obtuse angle to the shaft.
- Whins—Furze or gorse.
- Whipping—The pitched twine uniting the head and handle.
- Wrist shot—Less than half a shot, generally played with an iron club.

Golf Ball Facts

When it comes to tell the history of golf balls, so far as concerns the United States, the future historian will have to give a pretty large place to the work that has been done by A. G. Spalding & Bros. in turning out golf balls that are really right. The expense and trouble that they have gone to in their endeavor to make up a ball for the player that would be recognized as the finest on the market is wonderful, and, as a matter of fact, would have been out of the reach of any other manufacturer not possessing the unequalled facilities that A. G. Spalding & Bros. have, owing to their nearly forty years' experience in turning out athletic equipment of every description.

Many golf players do not realize just what has been done for them in turning out a satisfactory style of ball. All gutta-percha used in golf balls comes from the Malay Peninsula, and money, as is well known, will buy almost anything. A. G. Spalding & Bros., in their endeavor to buy the most satisfactory grade of gutta-percha, secured the co-operation and services of the greatest gutta-percha agents in the old country to buy their crude gutta-percha for them.

They gave a carte blanche order to a firm in England to buy for them all of the latest machinery used in cleaning gutta-percha for the manufacture of golf balls, and hired the services of an expert to set it up and see that all details of manufacture were properly attended to.

There are three distinctive features characterizing today the Spalding line of golf balls, a line, by the way, that is the most comprehensive and balanced ever produced by a single manufacturer.

First—The Dimple marking. We have conclusively and scientifically proved that a ball marked in this way (in contrast to the Bramble marking) is at least five yards longer on the drive, owing to the fact that the blow is nearer the rubber thread delivered on a flat surface, while no lost motion occurs, as it were, in the absorption of a fraction of the blow by protruding pimples, as in the case of the Bramble. However, no scientific proof is needed to demonstrate the above fact. We need simply point to manufacturers here and in England who have attempted to construct balls on the same principle. There have been all sorts of geometric figures employed by these manufacturers—stars, crescents, diamonds, squares, triangles, and hexagons—in the form of depressions on the surface of a golf ball, each one attempting to approach in theory as nearly as possible to the Spalding Dimple. "Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery," but the dimple remains in principle and reality the fairest of them all.

Second—Cover material. Ours is refined from the best obtainable raw material by a process particularly exclusive to ourselves at great expense and produces the finest cover obtainable, and as we refine our own raw material, we therefore have reason to rely on its quality and uniformity.

Third—Our soft cores, as employed in our "Domino Baby Dimple," "Midget" and "Honor" balls, are patented—the invention of our Chicago laboratory—and possess distinct virtues enjoyed by no other cores. The core of a golf ball (particularly a heavy one) should be yielding, so as to permit of distortion when the rubber tape and thread around it are distorted by the blow, for it is the reaction to this very distortion that gives distances—the violent effort made by the rubber to regain its former equilibrium. Our cores are so soft that they permit of this maximum distortion. Since they are moulded, they invariably are uniform in size and in gravity, because in the moulding or curing process their elements (of weights) are fixed. The reverse is apt to be true of the soft cores of nearly all our competitors, who employ rubber sacks or bags which contain paste or liquid. These cannot be as uniform in size or gravity as the moulded or fixed cores we use; first, because the bags may, and do, break, in which case the ball collapses inside; and, second, because the heaviest part of the liquid or paste may drop to one side of the core if the box of balls remains long on the shelves, thus displacing the center of gravity. If you have never seen one of our moulded soft cores, ask the manager to cut off the cover of an old soft cored ball, unwind the rubber, and show it to you.

The fourth characteristic Spalding feature is general uniformity as regards weight, cover thickness (our covers are one-sixteenth of an inch thick) and compression, or hardness of wind. Uniformity we consider almost as important as either of the other three characteristic features of the Spalding line. We believe no other manufacturer approaches us in this respect.

There exists always the most vital connection between the compression of a ball, its diameter and weight, and the size of its core for a given purpose. In other words, a ball that we expect and wish the hardest hitters to use is made differently from a ball that we market for the use of the average player. This difference is clearly demonstrated by the two new balls in our line this year, the "English Midget" and the "Honor," the former is small, hard, and heavy, and only the longest players can secure the maximum distance there is tied up in this ball. The latter is so constructed as regard the size of its core and the hardness of its wind that it is particularly responsive to the blow of the average player and who can use it with best results and yet remain unconscious of its weight.

Generally speaking, no player should attempt to play a ball the weight of which he is continually conscious of; first, since it is fatiguing, and second, because he will secure better results (especially in flight) from a lighter ball. The longest players only will secure the maximum distance from the heaviest and hardest balls. Women and light hitters should avoid their use.

For the average player a heavy, soft ball is especially provided, one that, due to its softness, will be found unusually responsive to a medium blow. Its weight and high degree of resiliency insure a long roll.

Other things being equal, the heavier the ball the longer the roll, while the added quality of hardness furnishes the greatest steadiness on the "short" game.

Varying turf conditions, the desirability of using floating balls on water holes, the "holding" of greens on short holes and play against hard head winds, must ever govern individual selection.

The use of different sizes is fundamentally a matter of individual choice, though by a law governing projectiles, the smaller a ball to a given weight, the greater the distance from a given initial momentum.

No woman should attempt to play our No. 4 "Domino" or our "Midgets," for instance, nor can a hard hitting man secure the proper distance that is due him from the use of our "Glory Dimple," "Baby Dimple," or probably even our "Honor" ball. Note particularly the size of this "Honor" ball. It is a brand new one. The harder balls, therefore, for the reasons before stated are also the ones that are most easily controlled on a short game, or on short holes, since the lightest blows do not affect them to the same degree as they affect softer balls. Though in flight the smaller ball is the longer, the larger ball makes up for this somewhat in its greater roll for the same reason that a larger cartwheel from a given initial momentum will roll further and with less friction as it were, than a smaller one. It does not dip down into every pocket or depression of the ground, and will roll longer on a road of a given roughness.

Attention is especially called to our extensive variety of balls as listed below. Experts have assisted us in establishing this line, basing their advice, as we have our manufacture, upon variations that must unavoidably occur in the conditions under which the game is played, and upon the varying requirements of individual players themselves. A ball that is best adapted through weight, construction and size to one style of play, necessarily cannot be as advantageously employed by a type widely differing. According to its construction each kind of ball must react differently to varying degrees of impact imposed upon it. We respectfully submit, therefore, the detailed specifications of our balls for careful consideration.

Figures in column marked "Average Compression" show the comparative hardness of balls, and are based on the arbitrary scale of the Spalding compression machine, the highest figures representing the softer, the lower the harder balls. A perfect degree of uniformity cannot be guaranteed in Red Dot and Green Dot balls.

Any large size ball weighing over 1.50 ounces will sink.

The English Midget as manufactured by our London factory, which we are marketing this year, is the ball which last year won the English Amateur and Ladies' Championship and is the most used ball made in Great Britain.

"Perma"—The Wonderful New Golf Ball Paint

---

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

We cannot help being enthusiastic about this wonderful new golf ball paint which has just been perfected in the Spalding laboratory. It is unquestionably the greatest improvement in golf ball manufacture in recent years—a decided step forward in the state of the art—indeed, it is significant that the "Honor" ball, with all that is implied in that name, should be just coming before the public, the first new ball to carry "Perma" paint. One hundred holes are nothing for this paint, a scrubbing brush and some soap make it nearly new again, and it is well nigh indestructible, due to its marvelous elasticity, and to the fact that it clings like a magnet to the surface of the ball. And yet this is not all. You play straighter with it; straighter and more certain, too, for it grips the grass tight on a backspin, and enables you to pitch close up to a hole with more freedom, and still not be over. It has increased the opportunities for skill in the short game 25 per cent.

The Spalding laboratory spent a long time in its development, and feels that it is right. It is very important that the ball be kept clean. If the dimples clog up, the ball will duck, and that is not the fault of the ball. Marking is put on the surface of a golf ball to prevent this, through the creation of the proper air resistance, and the exact dimensions of dimples on Spalding golf balls and their depth has been gotten down to such a fine mathematical point (better than .001 inch)—at which point the longest flights are assured—that it is not hard to figure out how mud which fills the dimple up and neutralizes the action of this marking will permit the ball to duck in flight.

Spalding Red Dots and Green Dots will continue to be painted with enamel paint, but it is to be noted that even on these balls the finest imported enamel obtainable is used.

Golf balls are subject to extreme heat and should never be left near open fires, registers, or steam pipes. The cover material is not "cured" and will flow and melt under these conditions.

Golfers who remember the old "gummy" balls thought them cheap at $4.00 a dozen, and yet the cost of making them was infinitesimal as compared with the present day line of balls, and a player was lucky to get around once with them. A half dozen rounds is not unusual with "Perma" painted balls, to say nothing of the added pleasure they bring to their users.

Mr. John Brophy, golf professional at the Fort Mitchell Golf Club, Cincinnati, in a letter to A. G. Spalding & Bros., states: "I am sending you one of your 'Perma' English Midget Dimple balls, with which I have played 150 holes. I think 'Perma' is the best I ever saw, and I certainly am pushing it in my club."

Timely Aids to the Complete Golfer

For the golfer who would be well equipped, it is as essential for him to know exactly what he wants as it is for him to get the best that is produced. There are many manufacturers of this class of goods who make the claim that what they do produce is "hand-made," also implying that the goods produced by A. G. Spalding & Bros. are made entirely by machine. This is fallacy, however, from start to finish, being merely another means whereby just-as-good manufacturers endeavor to pull wool over the eyes of the uninitiated.

As is well known, a good deal of credit is due to Spalding for the universal popularity of the game of golf in America for various reasons, the chief one of which is the fact that from the time of the introduction of golf into this country, they have consistently endeavored to improve the implements of play by every means in their power. As a promoter of sport, Spalding is without a peer in the sporting world. The aim and object has been to promote, wherever it was found expedient, outdoor games of all kinds, and in the pursuit of this it has been necessary for them to keep up with the manufacture of the goods that are essential in the development of these games, and in catering to the requirements of athletes. With an experience of over thirty years in manufacturing and supplying athletic equipment, it affords them the aid in the solution of the problem of making up a new article of athletic equipment, the best facilities that a manufacturer could have, namely: Experience, knowledge and capability. With this trinity at their command Spalding has been able to turn out what is universally recognized, not only in the United States, but also abroad, as the most perfect line of golf goods manufactured anywhere, and is therefore eminently qualified to make suggestions to those seeking this kind of information.

It is a well known fact that the old-fashioned methods of club making have undergone a change. Instead of having to take a solid block of wood, 3 by 2 by 16, and saw and chisel it out into the shape of a head, this work has been done by a machine which brings the block out into the rough in an advanced state of preparedness. The same can be said of shafts which used to be planed down from the square. This part of the work never, at any time, had any bearing upon the results obtained with the finished club, in any shape or way, and for anyone to claim that, simply because modern methods have simplified this work, the clubs are not as good when finished is nonsense. Every club, after this process has been completed, made by A. G. Spalding & Bros. is entirely finished by hand, and there are no other manufacturers to-day in America doing anything else. Claim is made by them, however, that clubs which they are selling are hand-made when they are doing nothing more or less than assembling clubs made from blocks turned by machine, and shafts as well.

The number of golf clubs for the player to use depends very largely upon the nature of the golf links over which he or she plays, but as a rule the following clubs are usually found in the bags of those who know something of the game and its requirements: A driver, brassie, driving iron, approaching iron, cleek, mid-iron, mashie, niblic and putter. Of course, one finds many players who use the spoon instead of the cleek, the old fashioned loftier instead of the mashie, and so on ad infinitum, but we merely wish to assist those who have not reached the stage when they attribute all their mistakes to their clubs instead of themselves. Nevertheless it is a fact that a player can do infinitely better with a good club that has been properly made—that has had the proper care and attention paid to the selection of the wood used in its manufacture, and also as to the spring and balance necessary to give it that responsive feeling which the good player so much desires—than with a poor one, and it is the consensus of opinion by those best able to judge, that the line of Gold Medal Clubs produced by Spalding are as nearly perfect in workmanship and material as it is possible to turn out an article of this character. The material which enters into the composition (hickory for the shafts and dogwood, persimmon, and compressed hickory for the heads) is as carefully selected as it is possible to get, and, with the assistance of the best class of workmen, they are enabled to put upon the market a line of drivers and brassies to suit the most fastidious. Particular attention has been given to the balance and spring of the club, so that when the intending purchaser gets a driver or a brassie bearing the Spalding trade mark he has really got a club which is almost perfect.

The Spalding Model R and RN drivers, brassies, spoons, mid-baffys, lofting baffys, putting baffys and putters, which are after the famous Rigden patent, made with special brass weighted head, the weight being securely fastened exactly behind the point of impact, are, without doubt, the finest example of the club makers' art extant. They retail at $3.50 each and are simply perfection.

The Jacobus-Rigden drivers and brassies have three hickory inserts in the face. This makes a much harder striking surface and therefore increased length to the drive. They retail at $4.00 each.

A new feature has just been added to the line of golf clubs, called the "Biddle Patent Skooter." Made in drivers, brassies, spoons and wood cleeks; $3.50 each. The Seeley Clubs are the latest thing in irons. They are made in driving irons, cleeks, mid-irons and mashies. The ball leaves the club with an easier feel than with the ordinary iron; price $3.00 each. At last a metal which is absolutely non-rustable and non-corrosive—"Monel Metal" is a natural nickel alloy and is just as hard as the steel used in the Gold Medal Clubs. They sell at $2.50 each.

All the grips on the Spalding clubs are of a prepared calfskin, which has been proven to be the best kind of a grip that can be procured. The price of our Gold Medal No. 1 club is, wood, $3.00 each, and when one considers the large selection there is to choose from, there is no reason in the world for any player being without a club of the very best.

The iron clubs in this particular grade include models taken from the playing clubs of some of the most famous golfers in the world. Spalding has duplicated these playing clubs, representing as they do the ideas of the most prominent players on both sides of the Atlantic, and these are included in the regular line of Gold Medal golf irons.

A splendid feature is that any model which a player prefers, different from anything that they have in their line, they can copy it exactly, as they have unequalled facilities for doing this kind of work, and the price for copying such special irons will be just the same as for the regular stock article. There are no better iron clubs made in this country to-day, all being hand-hammered from the finest mild steel. The shafts are of the finest hickory procurable, and the grips of prepared calf skin. They retail for $2.50 each.

A very fine line of juvenile golf clubs fitted with prepared calfskin grips are also furnished, with every advantage of proportion and size, making a splendid club for the use of boys and girls up to fourteen years of age. These are furnished in drivers, brassies, cleeks, mashies and putters, and the price for any of these styles in the juvenile club is $1.50 each.

CADDY BAGS.

In the caddy bag line A. G. Spalding & Bros. have again demonstrated that they are in a class by themselves, as the grade of caddy bags they make are simply so far ahead of anything else that there is really no comparison.

In the manufacture of their canvas and leather trimmed caddy bags the best grade of duck suitable for this purpose is used, and in their leather bags nothing but solid leather goes into their manufacture, and not like some of the stuff that is foisted upon a gullible public which is nothing more than thin strips glued together. The handles on all of these bags are made to conform to a man's grip, and are guaranteed not to break at the bend. The bottoms are made after a patent process of our own, and preclude the possibility of being broken or having the stitching give way by being dragged along the ground. No other maker goes to so much trouble, as the idea uppermost with the majority is a bag to sell and not to wear. The full line of Spalding caddy bags, the most complete line made anywhere and comprising styles of every possible description, are noted in brief below, with prices of each style specified. In the all-leather bags, full size, the following are furnished by A. G. Spalding & Bros.:

No. PG. Genuine pigskin bag, heavy brass harness buckle on shoulder strap, brass studs and trimmings, leather bottom. Price $12.00.

No. L5H. With lock and removable hood for covering clubs while traveling. This caddy bag will be accepted by railroads as baggage. Price $12.00.

No. L4. Imported leather bag, brass trimmings, leather bottom, and one of the most durable bags made. Price $8.00.

No. L6. Small stiff tan leather bag, snap sling and brass trimmings throughout. Long ball pocket, opening top and bottom. Price $6.00.

No. L3½. Grain leather lady's bag, good quality, brass trimmings and leather bottom. Price, $6.50.

No. W13½. Grain leather lady's bag, good quality, brass trimmings and leather bottom. Price, $6.00.

In the full-size canvas bags A. G. Spalding & Bros. furnish the following styles:

No. WS. White or brown duck bag, either 7 or 8 inches diameter, leather trimmings and white leather lacing, reinforcing steel strips running lengthwise; solid leather shoulder strap and handle. Patent heavy buckle lock and patent stitched leather bottom. Waterproof hood to fasten over clubs. Each, $10.50.

No. BWC. Special compartment bag, with separate entire length pocket for each club. First quality whipcord. Leather trimmings and reinforcing strips of real reed. Furnished with hood, 8-inch size, at $15.00 each.

No. WP. First quality whipcord, with reinforcing strips of steel; a very durable bag, with hood, 8-inch size, $15.00 each.

Khaki cloth is the latest thing used for caddy bags; it is much lighter in weight than the canvas. This material is furnished in the following styles:

No. AHK. Same as No. AH, except made of khaki instead of brown or white duck, $7.50 each.

No. A1K. Same as No. A1, except made in khaki, $6.50 each.

No. A2K. Same as No. A2, except made in khaki, $5.50 each.

No. C4K. Same as No. C4, except made in khaki, $3.00 each.

No. WR. Similar to No. WS, but with reeds and a different style buckle lock. Price, $9.00.

No. WB. Similar to No. WS, but without reinforcing strips. Each, $8.00.

No. AH. Similar to No. A1, but with hood. Each, $7.50.

No. A1. Heavy tan or white canvas bag, 6 inches diameter, white leather lacing and leather trimmings, reinforcing strips running lengthwise. Each, $6.50.

No. A2. Heavy tan or white canvas bag, 6 inches diameter, leather trimmings; reinforced strips running lengthwise; sole leather bottom, ball pocket and sling. Each, $5.50.

No. CX. Good quality canvas, either white or brown, leather bottom, large ball pocket, sling to match, size 6 inches diameter, studs on bottom. Each $4.00.

No. C4. Special white duck, 6 inches diameter, black leather trimmings, real reed strips covered with black canvas, large ball pocket, leather bottom, with studs. Each $3.00.

No. C3. Brown or white canvas, leather trimmings, handle and sling, reinforced canvas bottom, ball pocket to match. Size 6 inches diameter. Each, $2.50.

No. C0. White duck, leather trimmings, ball pocket, leather bottom and shoulder strap,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  inches diameter, \$2.00 each.

No. C2. Brown or white canvas; canvas bottom; ball pocket and leather handle and sling. Size 5 inches diameter. Each, $1.50.

For Children—No. 10. Brown canvas, leather trimmings, ball pocket and sling, canvas covered wood bottom. Each, $1.00.

No. 11. All canvas, ball pocket and heavy well-padded shoulder pad. Each, $1.00.

No. 12. Juvenile bag, leather trimmed and leather strap. Each, $3.00.

GOLF SUNDRIES.

In the line of Golf Sundries listed by Spalding, a copy of which should be in the hands of every golf player, will be found a number of very useful articles for the ordinary golf player as well as for the expert. Spalding furnishes a very satisfactory line of golfing gloves. These are:

No. GSP. Best quality soft white chamois, left hand reinforced. These gloves are not perforated, but have instead special backs which shape with the knuckles when club is gripped—one of the most practical ideas ever included in a golf glove. Pair, $2.50.

No. GG1. Grip Golf Gloves. With left hand reinforced to give special grip on club, perforated knuckles. Pair $2.50.

No. GG2. Heavy tanned chamois, with left hand reinforced to give special grip on club. Closed back. Particularly adapted for winter use. Pair, $2.50.

No. G1. Made of best quality soft white chamois, open knuckles. A very superior glove. Price $2.00 per pair.

No. G2. Fine soft tanned chamois, open knuckle, perforated back. Per pair, $1.75.

No. 200. Best quality brown leather palms and tips, backs of Hise thread. Per pair, $2.00.

No. G2L. Quality as No. G2, for left hand only, with reinforced palm. Each, $1.00.

No. G3. Fingerless glove, palms reinforced, perforated backs. Price $1.00 per pair.

No. G4. Fingerless glove, for left hand only. Price 50 cents each.

A very useful article is the Spalding Neverslip Rubber Grip. It is always durable, is not sticky, and never gets slick. Grips applied to any clubs or supplied separately, ready to apply. Each, 75 cents. Another useful preparation is known as Sure Grip. This will not soil the hands, and its application insures a firm grip at all times. The price is 25 cents per box. Players who have had some experience realize the necessity for something—either in the way of hobnails, disks or studs of some character—on the soles of their shoes when playing. Spalding furnishes everything of this kind needed. A very satisfactory style of rubber disc is their No. 9. With these disks it is possible for a player to go into the club house right from the golf course, which is not so in many cases where the ordinary hobnails are worn on shoes. The price of the No. 9 disks is 7 cents each. A very satisfactory style of Golf Stud is what is known as Sakorb Studs, made of highly tempered steel, screwed to sole and heel. This style of stud always insures a firm footing. The price is 10 cents each, or for a set of 12 complete, 75 cents. Hobnails cost, for iron, 10 cents per dozen, and for aluminum, 15 cents per dozen.

No. G. Wing's screw calks, easily adjusted by hand, box of 50, complete with wrench, 50 cents; dozen calks, 15 cents. Made in large size also, No. 00, at same prices.

Golf players like occasionally to repaint the golf balls they are using, and Spalding furnishes a most satisfactory grade of glossy golf paint. It is the same as is used exclusively by the leading makers in the United States and Great Britain, and A. G. Spalding & Bros. are the sole agents for the United States. The price of this Glossy Golf Paint is 25 cents and 50 cents per can. Another preparation, known as Golf White, also answers the same purpose as paint, but it dries instantly, and will not chip, crack, or wear off. This is furnished in either white or red, and the price for the No. 8 Golf White is 15 cents per bottle. If the ball is cleaned occasionally it materially lessens the chance of losing it, and in the form of a tobacco pouch Spalding furnishes two styles of ball cleaners. Their No. 30 is made with a rubber pouch, enclosing a sponge, into which a little water can be introduced, making an exceedingly satisfactory style of ball cleaner, and rendering it unnecessary to handle the ball itself until it is thoroughly cleaned. The price of this No. 30 ball cleaner is 35 cents each. The No. 27 style ball cleaner is also made with a rubber pouch, enclosing a sponge and a circular bristle brush. This style of cleaner is very effective indeed. The price is 50 cents each for the No. 27. No. 50 is a cleaner of special type, having a double pouch of rubber, with special felt inside to be saturated. It costs 50 cents. Another very necessary article for the golf player is a club polisher. This is furnished by A. G. Spalding & Bros., and is known as Kaddy Polish No. 1040. The price of the No. 1040 Kaddy Polish is 10 cents each. Spalding also furnishes an Emery Cloth Cleaner, consisting of a book of fifteen sheets of emery cloth, very effective for cleaning clubs. The price of this Emery Cloth Cleaner No. E is 20 cents each. For the making of tees, Spalding has a very effective one in their adjustable tee mold No. W, which will make a tee any height the player wishes, the cost of which tee mold is 50 cents. There are two other different styles, and their Anchor Tee, which, it is claimed, cannot be lost, is held on the teeing ground by the anchor, and can only move the length of the string, about nine inches. The anchor is put to the left and front of the tee. The price of the No. 5 Anchor Golf Tee is 15 cents each. The ordinary rubber golf tee, regulation style, made of red rubber, is known as Spalding No. 3, and costs 5 cents each. They also furnish score sheets for large matches or medal play, the price being 15 cents each. A style of counter that has rapidly achieved popularity with golf players is what is known as the Liberty Golf Counter. The cover to which the celluloid counters are attached is pliable, and provides for easy and quick turning of disks. No pencils required with this counter except for transferring the score from the counters to the record, and provision is also made for a permanent or yearly record. The ladies' style furnished in the Liberty Counter is made for the belt in such a way as not to require detaching in keeping the score while playing. This Liberty Golf Counter is furnished in the following styles by A. G. Spalding & Bros.:

No. 2. Ladies' genuine pigskin.....	$1.50 each.
No. 15. Ladies', black seal grain.....	1.00 each.
No. 25. Gents', genuine pigskin.....	1.00 each.
No. 26. Gents', black seal grain.....	1.00 each.
Renewable fillers for the above counters.....	.15 each.

For the course as well as for the player everything is kept in stock, so that no one need be in a quandary as to where to get the necessary articles for the course which are requisite. Markers, hole rims, hole cutters, hole rim setters, etc.

A very necessary article for the golf course is a hole cutter. The style furnished by A. G. Spalding & Bros. is made of steel, and the earth is ejected when withdrawn from hole. It is very simple and effective, and is made of the best quality of steel. The price of this No. 11 steel hole cutter is $5.00 each. Golf hole rims, while they appear very simple, are made in different styles, and there is all the difference in these that there is between anything else which is made right as compared with something that is not made right. The Spalding simple iron hole rim is known as the No. 20, and is fitted with a cross-piece, which prevents the ball from falling to the bottom of the hole. This is a very effective arrangement, especially during wet weather, as it prevents the ball from getting soiled. The price of this No. 20 Hole Rim is 40 cents each. The patented style of hole rim furnished by Spalding, and they claim that it is the best hole rim ever made, is a solid iron casting in one piece, solid enough to prevent the hole from being racked by the weight of the hole disk or flag, which is always kept in an upright position by the neck below the cup. This style of rim should be seen to be appreciated. It is known as the Spalding No. 30, and costs $1.00 each.

A necessary thing for the placing of hole rims in the ground is the hole rim setter, and by means of this little article, which retails for $1.25 each, one is assured of the hole rim being set in the ground perfectly, thus doing away with a great deal of the criticism that usually ensues from the imperfect hole rim setting. Another very useful article for the use of the greens man in connection with the golf course is their special Knife Turf Cutter. This is a very useful and necessary article of any well-run golf course. As it is generally known, a great deal of patching has to be done on putting greens where weeds come in and get the upper hand. This is made so that a piece of bad turf can be cut out and a good piece substituted. Along with this Knife Cutter comes a flat-bladed implement with a curved handle, made entirely of iron and steel, for use in the lifting of the turf when cut. It is really essential for every club to have one. The two articles, complete, cost $6.00.

Direction and marking flags are furnished by A. G. Spalding & Bros. in red, white, red and white, blue and white, or any other combination of colors. The price of their No. 9 Oblong Flag is 40 cents each, and for their No. 11 Flag, triangle shape, 40 cents each. Marking flags, red out, numbered from 1 to 9; white in, numbered from 10 to 18, cost for No. 2 style, flags only, numbered as ordered, 50 cents each, and for the No. 5 spearhead-staffs, 7 feet long, 50 cents each. Metal badges for caddies, each badge numbered and with safety pin on back to fasten to cap or breast, cost 35 cents each. Putting disks, the object of which is to train the eye in putting and an article that should be on the club house putting green, where they are also useful for indoor practice, cost 25 cents each. Teeing plates, round shape, made to lie with the ground, and used to mark the space within the limits of which the ball must be teed, cost for the No. 8 style 50 cents per pair. A very excellent article for practice in driving is what is known as Parachute Golf Ball, furnished by A. G. Spalding & Bros. with the parachute attached to the ball. It prevents the ball from traveling very far, no matter how hard hit. The price of the Parachute Golf Ball is 80 cents each. Another very excellent article for golf practice is the game of Golfette. This is not really a game, but is a device consisting of a series of nets into which the golf ball is lofted. The object of it is to loft the ball into the center net; in other words, to secure accuracy in lofting. For the purpose of keeping score, the following count is made: The inner net counts 3, the center net 2, and the outer net 1 point. A distance from 15 to 25 feet from net is proper when using this Golfette and, of course, the regular golf club and ball are used. The price of this No. 13 Golfette is $5.00 each.

It is hardly necessary to describe the game of Clock Golf, but it might be stated that this is an excellent device for practice in putting. Messrs. Spalding & Bros. furnish two different styles. The figures are arranged in a circle from 20 to 24 feet in diameter, or of any size the lawn will admit. Each player holes out from each figure point, counting his strokes, and, with a few exceptions, the regular rules on putting apply. Sets consist of twelve figures, one marking flag, hole rim, and measuring chain for getting the proper distance for setting the figures. The set is furnished complete in boxes with descriptive circular in their No. 1 style, with raised figures in black on white teeing plates, for $10.00 per set, and in their No. 2 style, with plain cut-out figures, painted white but not on plates, for $5.00 per set, and in their No. 3 style, portable set, complete in canvas cover, $3.00 per set.

In the matter of practice devices, A. G. Spalding & Bros. have always led the way, and they show in their catalogue the Eureka Golf Driving Net which can be put up almost anywhere and is a splendid means of getting practice, especially with the iron clubs. This can be put up in a room or any place of a similar nature and affords a great deal of exercise. These retail for $7.50 each. A more elaborate style of a practice device is the Indoor Golf Game. It consists of a large canvas or net with seven large pockets about three feet apart, arranged so that each pocket has its relative value with the different clubs that may be used in seeking to drive the ball therein, also side and top nets, blackboard, putting green, tee and mat. With one of these nets a golfer can play any course in the country of which he may have the score card and know the exact distances of each hole, as every one of the pockets has a relative value for the different clubs played with. A drive in the best pocket constitutes 200 yards, a brassie 190, a cleek 180, an iron 170. An approach into the same pocket lays the player "dead at the hole" and no putting is needed. This outfit sells complete at $90.00.

GOLF SWEATERS.

Spalding has turned out the best line of jacket sweaters, that are to be found in the market. They are made of the best quality worsted, of heavy weight yarn, and have pearl buttons down the front. A sweater has come to be recognized as one of the necessary articles in the golfing outfit, for the reason that it lends itself to the ease that one requires in the upper part of the body when playing golf. It looks well under trying circumstances, bad weather, etc., and is always comfortable. They come in various grades: The VG, made up in almost any color, retails for $6.00. The VGP, which has pockets on either side, thus being particularly convenient for golf players, retails for $6.50. Another grade is the DJ, of fine worsted, standard weight, which costs $5.00.

The No. WJ sweater is perhaps the most comfortable the automobiling golfer can wear, at any or all times, for any purpose where a garment is required to give protection from the cold. It is made with a high collar that can be turned up or down according to the desire of the wearer, and presents at either time a very nifty appearance. Made of the finest heavy weight worsted in all sizes from 28 to 44 inches and sells for $7.50.

No. NPJ is an Angora wool sweater which is especially commended to golfers, as it is warm, yet light in weight. Furnished in dark gray only, in sizes from 28 to 46 inches, with one pocket on each side; $7.50 each.

GOLF SHOES.

Another article of very great moment to the golfer is the golf shoe. Messrs. Spalding & Bros. have been at the head of the list in supplying the proper goods for golf playing ever since the introduction of this sport into the United States, and to-day they are in a position to supply the most fastidious with the best that can be had in this line. Their unequalled facilities for turning out the proper athletic shoes has enabled them to put out golf shoes that are far in advance of other makers' styles, as their general line of athletic equipment is in advance of the ordinary make of athletic goods found on the market.

The best grade Spalding golf shoe is their No. 88. This is made of fine Russia calf in Oxford style and is a strictly bench-made shoe. Some makers call their shoes hand-made when, as a matter of fact, there is practically no hand-made in their make-up, but in the Spalding factory the hand-made shoes are really shoes that are made by shoemakers at the bench. These men who turn out the hand-made shoes for A. G. Spalding & Bros. are skilled mechanics, and they have been working on Spalding athletic shoes for fifteen and twenty years. They have gotten so that they have a peculiar knack that is absent in the work of the ordinary shoemaker, and this special feature in Spalding athletic shoes is what has brought about their popularity. This is true not only with base ball, foot ball, basket ball, running, tennis and gymnasium shoes, but also with their line of superior golf shoes, and at the head of the list stands this No. 88 shoe. Besides being made of the very best material and the finest workmanship throughout, this shoe has a special spliced rubber sole. This is a new idea of Spalding's and it is very popular with golfers. This spliced rubber sole is altogether different from that turned out by other manufacturers of golf shoes who do not themselves know the requirements of a shoe for golfers. Instead of splicing the rubber with the studs right across the toe, they have continued this diagonally from the toe across the ball of the foot, which is the place where the golfer wants his shoe to hold in the act of pivoting while swinging his club. Spalding is the only manufacturer who was alive to the necessity of this, and with him the idea originated. This shoe really must be seen to be fully appreciated, as it is in reality the most up-to-date golf shoe made. The price of this No. 88 golf shoe is $8.00 per pair. Another splendid shoe is their No. 8, made of the finest English tan leather, Balmoral shape, with flat sole last, and box toe. The sole is made heavy enough so that hobnails or rubber discs may be attached. This is a hand-made shoe also, and of excellent quality throughout. They retail for $7.00 per pair. Similar in quality and make to the No. 8, but of Oxford shape instead, is the No. 6 shoe, a very satisfactory low cut shoe which retails for $6.50 per pair. Another shoe A. G. Spalding & Bros. get out is termed the Professional Golf Shoe, or No. 7. It is made similar to the No. 6, and has round blunt spikes. It gives the player wearing these shoes a very firm grip on the turf, and does not cut up the sward as much as some of the other spikes that are on the market. It enables one to pivot easier when swinging than many of the others. It comes in Oxford shape, in russet leather. No. 7. Price, $6.00 per pair.

No. 4. A high shoe, made of tanned calf leather with whole vamp, reinforced across instep with brown calf, short blunt spikes. Per pair, $6.50.

No. 5. A low shoe, made of the same material and style as No. 4, except low cut. Per pair, $6.00.

No. AB—High cut, with suction rubber soles, light drab calf, laces very low. Per pair, $5.00.

There are a thousand and one other articles for the athlete in general, and also for the golf player, which are listed from time to time in the Spalding catalogue, and no one needs to be without a copy of this valuable information medium, as it will be mailed free of charge to any address on request to any of the Messrs. Spalding & Bros.' stores, a list of which is given on inside front cover of this book.

SPALDING "PERMA" PAINTED GOLF BALLS

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

After months of experiment and trials we have invented, at our Chicopee factory, a new Golf Ball Paint, which we shall call the

"PERMA"

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

This we can guarantee in the strongest possible fashion for durability especially, and it certainly means a great step forward in golf ball construction.

DISTANCE—The most essential feature in a golf ball is in the length of drive, and all Spalding heavy balls are best for hard hitters.

Other styles of our make are better for medium or light hitters.

DURABILITY—Is obtained by proper construction, tough covering material, and still further increased by the use of "PERMA" paint.

CONTROL—Is secured by proper use of the club, but is increased by the clinging quality of the "PERMA" paint.

SATISFACTION—Can be obtained by selecting a ball that suits your game, and the great variety of styles we make gives you a choice offered by no other manufacturer.

On account of the extra expense involved, all balls painted this way will retail for $9.00 per dozen.

At present we will supply the following balls painted with "PERMA" (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.) paint. When ordering, please specify the number of the ball with letter "P", as indicated on list below.

Red Honor.	"PERMA" painted.	Dozen, $9.00
Green Honor.	"PERMA" painted.	" 9.00
English Midget Dimple.	"PERMA" painted.	" 9.00
No. 3P.	Glory Dimple. "PERMA" painted.	" 9.00
No. 4P.	Domino Dimple. "PERMA" painted.	" 9.00
No. 6P.	Domino Dimple. "PERMA" painted.	" 9.00
No. 9P.	Baby Dimple. "PERMA" painted.	" 9.00
No. 10P.	Midget Bramble. "PERMA" painted.	" 9.00
No. 11P.	Midget Dimple. "PERMA" painted.	" 9.00

Although dearer in price, they are cheaper in the end, because of greater durability. Order ball by number (except Spalding Honor and English Midget Dimple), and note particularly the special numbers on "PERMA" painted balls.

Spalding Honor and English Midget Dimple balls supplied only "PERMA" painted. We also supply our regular catalogue line of balls enameled according to an improved English process and far superior to any ordinary painted golf balls. (See list on following pages.)

SPALDING GOLF BALLS

Experts have assisted us in establishing this line, basing their advice, as we have our manufacture, upon variations that occur in conditions under which the game is played and upon the varying requirements of individual players. Compression figures indicate the comparative hardness of balls,

According to its construction each kind of ball must react differently to varying degrees of impact imposed upon it.

Any large size ball weighing over 1.50 ounce will sink. Perfect uniformity not guaranteed in Red Dot Balls.

SPALDING GOLF BALLS

Generally speaking no player should attempt to play a ball of the weight of which he is continually conscious of, first because it is fatiguing, and second since he will secure better results (especially in flight) from a lighter ball. The longest players only will secure the maximum distance from the heaviest and hardest balls. Most ladies and all light hitters should avoid their use. The use of different sizes is fundamentally a matter of individual choice, though by a law governing projectiles, the smaller a ball of a given weight the greater the flight from a given momentum.

~ Green Dot ~

No. 11

Don't hit the ball on the dots every time you tee it up and then blame the manufacturer if you lose direction and finally distance. Play fair with the ball and the ball will play fair with you. Other things being equal the heavier the ball the longer the roll, while the added quality of hardness furnishes the greatest steadiness on the "short game."

No. 12

Varying turf conditions, the desirability of using floating balls on water holes, the "holding" of greens on short holes and play against hard head winds, must ever govern individual selection.

"Dimple" marking is controlled by A. G. Spalding & Bros., under patent dated February 4, 1908. We can also furnish any rubber cored golf balls made under the Haskell patent

SPALDING RIGDEN PATENT WOOD CLUBS

Patented December 7, 1909

The Spalding Rigden Patent Wood Clubs, with insertion of a specially fastened brass back (see sectional cut on opposite page) in place of the ordinary lead one, represent the first substantial advance over the original method of weighting wooden clubs. We claim this method of weighting prevents shifting of the weight, concentrates maximum force behind the point of impact, balances the club with mathematical accuracy, and protects the back of the club under extraordinary wear, as encountered in playing from hard dirt tees. Made in two distinct types, comprising five different models.

No. R. Round type of head, presenting a beauty in line and contour as in no other golf club. This type supplied in either Driver or Brassie.

No. RN. Longer in face and narrower from face to back. A splendid type of club from standpoint of practical playing efficiency. This type supplied in either Driver, Brassie or Spoon.

Spalding Rigden Patent Wood Clubs. Two types (five models) described above. Each, $3.50

Special light weight clubs for women carried in stock in any of the Rigden models. In ordering women's clubs add letter W to regular Model Number.

Spalding Jacobus Triple Insert Combined with Rigden Patent Weighted Head

(Patented Nov. 8, 1910)

(Patented Dec. 7, 1909)

The Jacobus Patent Triple Insert combined with Rigden Patent Head gives all the features described above of the Rigden Patent Head, and, in addition, provides a wooden club with an exceedingly hard driving surface, obtained by inserting specially prepared mahogany segments so that the impact is imparted to the ball by the end of the grain of the wood. Recommended by numerous players as the best wooden club made. See cuts on opposite page.

Models same as in regular Rigden Patent Clubs listed above. Mention "Jacobus-Rigden when ordering.

Spalding Jacobus-Rigden Wood Clubs. Two types (five models). . . . . Each, $4.00

Special light weight clubs for women carried in stock in any of the Jacobus-Rigden Models. In ordering women's clubs add letter W to regular Model Numbers.

SPALDING BIDDLE PATENT "SKOOTER" WOOD CLUBS

Copyright, 1913

When ordering, mention "Biddle Patent."

Patented August 22, 1911.

The Biddle Patent Clubs, and especially the Brassie Spoon, will be found particularly good for women players.

In these "Biddle Patent" clubs the lip portion of the face has been slightly raised to avoid danger of deflection, the club when it meets the ground sliding along instead of digging in. The different models in which these Biddle Patent Wood Clubs are made are varied in the proper degrees to secure the requisite range of flight to accommodate almost any course condition possible to be covered by a wood club. Models supplied: Driver, Brassie, Brassie Spoon, Brassie Cleek. Shafts are all of selected second growth split hickory. Grips of specially prepared calf. . . . . Each, $3.50

Spalding Biddle Patent Wood Clubs, fitted with Ivory face. . . . . . " 6.00

ANY OF THE CLUBS LISTED ON THIS PAGE FURNISHED WITH SPALDING NEVER SLIP GRIP, INSTEAD OF SPECIALLY PREPARED CALF GRIP, 25 CENTS EACH, EXTRA.

Order by Model Numbers, as noted under cuts shown on opposite page.

This cut gives a good idea of the relative positions of Ball and "Skooter" Club when at rest. It has been demonstrated that on a full stroke with a wood club, a rubber-cored golf ball is compressed about one-third, in some cases, possibly more than one-third, and with the "Skooter" Patent Club it is given a rounded surface to wrap over, leaving ball in longer and closer contact than with ordinary wood club, and thus helping both direction and length of flight. Toe of club does not catch and this saves throwing hands forward and slicing.

SPALDING GOLD MEDAL WOOD CLUBS

Spalding Gold Medal Clubs are made in the latest, which means the most generally approved models, and of the first selection of heads, shafts and everything else entering into their construction. Made in both socket and spliced types and including practically every model in popular demand anywhere in the United States or abroad.

No. GM1. Gold Medal Wood Clubs. Models 1, 2, 3, 7, 11, 14, 16, 17 and 23 Drivers or Brassies, 18 and 19 Drivers, Brassie Spoon Models 6 and 13, and Wood Cleek Models 20 and 22, shown on this and following page. Specially prepared calf grip. Ea., $3.00

Any of the clubs listed on this page made with Ivory Face on special order. Extra, $2.50 each.

Standard lead weighted golf clubs at a moderate price. Material with the slightest blemish and models which are out-of-date do not go into Spalding Gold Medal Clubs.

ORDER BY MODEL NUMBERS

Model No. 1. Demonstrates an unusual combination of correct designing and general efficiency. Moderate size. Every line in harmony without the slightest exaggeration in any detail. Shaft practically centered at heel.

Model No. 11 Driver or Brassie

Model No. 2. Similar to No. 1, but narrower from face to back, and a trifle longer face. Recommended for beginners.

Model No. 3. In shape approaching our Ridgen Patent clubs No. R. A round, large head. Top line of face well arched. Designed to place as much wood as possible behind the point of impact.

Model No. 7. Large type of head, made with greater portion of weight set well forward of center, and wood around the neck reduced, giving a prominence to the head and striking face which is calculated to increase a player's confidence.

Model No. 11. Long headed, flat lie type. Top line of face slightly arched. An excellent type for players preferring a flat lying club.

Model No. 14. Large headed, Semi-Dreadnought type, square face. Designed to impart confidence to player uncertain of tee shots.

Model No. 16. Long, narrow "Destroyer" type, of extraordinary length of face. Designed particularly for the beginner, as presenting maximum hitting surface.

Model No. 17. Oblong "blocked" type of head. Square face. A most efficient style of club.

Model No. 23. Model of club widely advertised and used by an international champion. Greatest width of head near toe, tapering beyond face, and back to heel.

Model No. 18 Driver. Spliced type of club, with long face.

Model No. 19 Driver. As No. 18, but with shorter face and rounded head.

Model No. 20 Wood Cleek. Long, narrow head. Well lofted face; spliced.

Model No. 22 Wood Cleek. Extra long face. Socket type of club.

Model No. 13 Brassie Spoon. Ideal type for all around work. Longer in face than No. 6 and without rounded bottom.

SPALDING "SEELY" PATENT IRONS

When ordering, mention "Seely" Patent Patented May 14, 1912

The substitution of the steel prongs for the round hosel actually reduces the weight of that part of the head one and one-half ounces, enabling us to place that additional weight in the blade, increasing the driving power and producing a club lighter in weight, more effective for distance and of better balance. The hosel portion, or shank of the iron head, is split or forked to accommodate the shaft, as shown in illustration. Models supplied. Cleek, Mashie, Mid Iron, Driving Iron. Shafts of selected second growth hickory. Grips specially prepared calf. Each, $3.00

SPALDING WOMEN'S GOLF CLUBS

We have designed the first real set of irons particularly adapted to the average woman's stroke, the blades being modeled long, narrow, and heavy at the sole so that the stroke played by the average woman will produce the same degree of pitch and clear "get away" that follows the shot played by a man where the club passes through the turf

This set of women's clubs consists of Cleek, Mid Iron, Jigger and Mashie. The Mashie is more orthodox in its lines because of the variety of lies and strokes that this club is called to negotiate. After producing and testing these clubs we feel they may be heartily recommended to women players. Specially prepared calf grips. Each, $2.50

In addition to the women's models shown on this page, we carry a variety of our regular men's clubs, both wood and iron, in special light weight clubs for women.

Standard Policy

---

A Standard Quality must be inseparably linked to a Standard Policy.

Without a definite and Standard Mercantile Policy, it is impossible for a Manufacturer to long maintain a Standard Quality.

To market his goods through the jobber, a manufacturer must provide a profit for the jobber as well as for the retail dealer. To meet these conditions of Dual Profits, the manufacturer is obliged to set a proportionately high list price on his goods to the consumer.

To enable the glib salesman, when booking his orders, to figure out attractive profits to both the jobber and retailer, these high list prices are absolutely essential; but their real purpose will have been served when the manufacturer has secured his order from the jobber, and the jobber has secured his order from the retailer.

However, these deceptive high list prices are not fair to the consumer, who does not, and, in reality, is not ever expected to pay these fancy list prices.

When the season opens for the sale of such goods, with their misleading but alluring high list prices, the retailer begins to realize his responsibilities, and grapples with the situation as best he can, by offering "special discounts," which vary with local trade conditions.

Under this system of merchandising, the profits to both the manufacturer and the jobber are assured; but as there is no stability maintained in the prices to the consumer, the keen competition amongst the local dealers invariably leads to a demoralized cutting of prices by which the profits of the retailer are practically eliminated.

This demoralization always reacts on the manufacturer. The jobber insists on lower, and still lower, prices. The manufacturer, in his turn, meets this demand for the lowering of prices by the only way open to him, viz.: the cheapening and degrading of the quality of his product.

The foregoing conditions became so intolerable that 16 years ago, in 1899, A. G. Spalding & Bros. determined to rectify this demoralization in the Athletic Goods Trade, and inaugurated what has since become known as "The Spalding Policy."

"The Spalding Policy" eliminates the jobber entirely, so far as Spalding Goods are concerned, and the retail dealer secures the supply of Spalding Athletic Goods direct from the manufacturer by which the retail dealer is assured a fair and legitimate profit on all Spalding Athletic Goods, and the consumer is assured a Standard Quality and is protected from imposition.

"The Spalding Policy" is decidedly for the interest and protection of the users of Athletic Goods, and acts in two ways:

First.—The user is assured of genuine Official Standard Athletic Goods.

Second.—As manufacturers, we can proceed with confidence in purchasing at the proper time, the very best raw materials required in the manufacture of our various goods, well ahead of their respective seasons, and this enables us to provide the necessary quantity and absolutely maintain the Spalding Standard of Quality.

All retail dealers handling Spalding Athletic Goods are requested to supply consumers at our regular printed catalogue prices—neither more nor less—the same prices that similar goods are sold for in our New York, Chicago and other stores.

All Spalding dealers, as well as users of Spalding Athletic Goods, are treated exactly alike, and no special rebates or discriminations are allowed to anyone. This briefly, is "The Spalding Policy," which has already been in successful operation for the past 16 years, and will be indefinitely continued.

In other words, "The Spalding Policy" is a "square deal" for everybody.

A. G. SPALDING & BROS.

PRESIDENT.

Standard Quality

An article that is universally given the appellation "Standard" is thereby conceded to be the criterion, to which are compared all other things of a similar nature. For instance, the Gold Dollar of the United States is the Standard unit of currency, because it must legally contain a specific proportion of pure gold, and the fact of its being Genuine is guaranteed by the Government Stamp thereon. As a protection to the users of this currency against counterfeiting and other tricks, considerable money is expended in maintaining a Secret Service Bureau of Experts. Under the law, citizen manufacturers must depend to a great extent upon Trade-Marks and similar devices to protect themselves against counterfeit products—without the aid of "Government Detectives" or "Public Opinion" to assist them.

Consequently the "Consumer's Protection" against misrepresentation and "inferior quality" rests entirely upon the integrity and responsibility of the "Manufacturers."

A. C. Spalding has drawn the most rigorous attention to "Quality" for thirty-nine years. His Spalding Trade-Mark has become known throughout the world as a guarantee of quality as dependable in their field as the U. S. Currency is in its.

The reason why the Spalding Trade-Mark is a guarantee of the Spalding Trade-Mark is because the Standard Quality of their Goods is, therefore, as good as the necessity of the Government in maintaining a Standard.

Thus each consumer is not only protected, but also protected when he assists a Retailer in upholding the "Mark" and all that it stands for. The Spalding Trade-Mark is a guarantee to the users of Goods to expect in maintaining a high standard of Quality. Persisting the "Mark" as a standard for all athletic goods, but this precaution our best efforts towards preventing fraudulent substitution will be ineffective.

The manufacturers of Standard Articles invariably suffer the reputation of being "cheap" and "inferior" sentiment is fostered and emphasized by the "low prices" of the "cheap goods." In low prices are the main consideration.

The Spalding Trade-Mark is a guarantee of Standard Goods, with a reputation to be maintained. It is not necessarily have higher prices than a manufacturer's goods, but it is a basis of a claim for Standard dependence upon the eloquence of the salesman.

We know that there is no quicksand more unsafely in the world than we avoid this quicksand by Standard Quality.
